N. A. NELSON DIES SUDDENLY

PIONEER CITIZEN OF ST.
HILAIRE DIES SUDDENLY
MONDAY MORNING.

The people of this community were astounded Monday to learn that N. A. Nelson, one of the most prominent citizens of the village, had died suddenly last morning.

Mr. Nelson had arranged to accompany Ed Anhol that morning to the John O. Swenson farm where they, as officers of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Company, were to audit books of the company in preparation for the annual meeting next week. Unable to get his car started, Mr. Nelson set out on foot with the intention of meeting Mr. Anhol at the former place.

Mr. Nelson was born at Watasego, Wis., on May 7, 1862, and was 62 years, 7 months and 20 days of age. He came to this country in 1884 and located in Wisconsin. He was married to Mrs. Mary Nelson at Ashland, Wis., in 1884 and came to this community in 1889.

For many years Mr. Nelson was actively engaged in farming at the farm south of here which he still retains. About twenty years ago he established himself in the machinery and implement business here, and later as he had family took up residence in town. He continued his implement business until 1918 when he bought the former Pilgral general store which he has operated up to this time.

During the thirty years he resided here, Mr. Nelson has been prominently identified with the progress of this community. He always took a keen interest in civic affairs and held many public offices. He was always ready with counsel and material assistance to back any movement that tended for the betterment of this community.

Mrs. Evelyn Just Of Crookston Dies

Mrs. Evelyn Just of Crookston, died recently at Los Angeles, Calif., where she had gone to spend the winter. The remains were shipped back here and funeral services were held at Crookston last Saturday. Interment was made beside the remains of her husband, the late Dr. A. Just.

In years past Dr. and Mrs. Just often visited here at home of the place, Mrs. N. Beebe. Mrs. Just was prominently identified with the Rebekah order, and visited the local lodge a number of times, and was well known to many St. Hilaire people.

Olaf Nelson, who is employed at Des Moines, Iowa, arrived yesterday morning to be present at funeral services for his father, N. A. Nelson.

community, or any other worthy cause. Mr. Nelson is credited, to a large extent, with organization of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Company, The St. Hilaire Co-operative Creditors Association, the Farmers Elevator Company as well as the lesser organizations. At the time of his death, he was treasurer of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Company, a member of the board of the secretary association, a trustee of the Swedish Lutheran church, as well as a member of the local board of education. Due to the numerous civic matters which he fostered and backed, this community suffers a great loss by the death of Mr. Nelson.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. A. P. Nelson from the residence at 1:30 and from the Swedish Lutheran church at 2:00 today. Interment will be at the Swedish cemetery east of town.

Heartfelt sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mrs. Nelson and family in their loss of her husband and father.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nelson and children arrived Tuesday morning over the Soo from their home at Minneapolis, having called by death of Mr. Nelson's father, the late N. A. Nelson.

Graveling work on the road between here and Lake Falls is now completed, and the Rubber Company has moved its fleet of trucks to another job they have in vicinity of Warren.

The funeral store at Duluth, which also contained the postoffice, was burned to the ground last week. Lack of fire fighting facilities made impossible to save anything but part of the mail in the postoffice.

Last Friday evening, Miss Alice Pickler entertained the senior class of '25, of which she was a member, at her home here. The party was in form of a "rafty-pull", and the members of the class all report having a fine time.

Dellgott's Christmas tree program was given to the local Norwegian Lutheran, Scandinavian, and Swedish Lutheran churches last Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. All events were favored with good attendance despite cold weather prevailing at that time.

Alumni Team Wins; Final Score 8 to 5

Last Friday night in the local Gym was witnessed a very fast, snappy basketball played between the high school team and an alumni team of the local high school. From the beginning of the game until the final whistle blew, the game proved very interesting to the fair crowd of spectators. Though the high school aggregation worked hard throughout the contest, the alumni team proved victorious for them and the latter won by a score of 8 to 5.

The following is the high school lineup:

Clarence Beaton, f	1
Lewis Hackett, c	0
Wendell Beale, g	3
Edward Hays, g	0
George Wiley, Lloyd Johnson, f	1
Harold Anderson, substitute.

The following played alternately on the alumni team:

Heartfelt sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family of the deceased.

Funeral Held Monday

Funeral services for the late Mrs. P. A. Ekstrom, who passed away at the Alvar Swenson home Wednesday last week, were held Monday from the local gymnasium Friday evening this week. Both teams are breaking even for the event which promises to be full of action from start to finish. The admission is nominal, 10 and 20 cents, or a large crowd is expected to witness the game.

Basketball Friday

The 1924-25 season of the local high school has arranged for a game with the 1925 team which will be played at the local gymnasium Friday evening this week. Both teams are breaking even for the event which promises to be full of action from start to finish. The admission is nominal, 10 and 20 cents, or a large crowd is expected to witness the game.

Wm. Novak returned home Monday from Charles City, Iowa, and Gosh, Wisconsin where he visited with relatives and friends. At the latter place he visited at the home of his aged mother. He reports weather as very cold while he was at Charles City, the temperature registering 15 below zero. -Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Carl Johnson DIED TODAY

Carl Johnson, age 70, a resident of this village for thirty five years, died at his family home this morning at 7 o'clock.

Mr. Johnson had felt unwell the past two days, but his condition was not thought to be serious until last night, when complications developed that resulted in death this morning.

His many friends in St. Hilaire and vicinity will be shocked to learn of his death as most people were not even aware that he was ill. Owing to the late hour, it is impossible to secure a more extended account, but it will be published next issue. No funeral arrangements have been made up to this time.

Suffering From Exposure

Ole Peterson, aged resident of Mayfield, is at a hospital at Thief River Falls suffering from exposure as result of a "harrowing" experience last week. He and another party were hunting and the latter decided to hunt the holidays elsewhere. For several days Mr. Peterson was unable to attend to the usual chores about the place. Becoming ill, he was unable to keep up his feet and exposed himself to the cold. This condition existed for two days when he was discovered by neighbors. He is somewhat weakened by exposure, and one leg was frostbitten, but otherwise he will suffer no ill effects. With proper care and nourishment at the hospital, Mr. Peterson is expecting his usual health.

Old Subscriber Again Renews For Spectator

Among other subscription renewals listed herein this week is that of Wab Adams, prominent Thief River Falls farmer. Mr. Adams first subscribed for the Spectator when it started in 1887, and he has not it ever since. He always attends to renewals personally, and this is his forty third consecutive year to the Spectator office for that purpose. Mr. Adams has been a resident here some years before the railroad came in, and he has rightfully earned to be one of the first, if not the first, active actor in this territory.

A fire at Warren on Monday is reported in and has destroyed the Selgel store, another store building, and the plant and building of the Warren Flourer.

The Message of the Violets

By CECILIA FARWELL

(St. Hilaire, Page 4 Oct.)

WE WERE wrapped too early in soft clouds and laid in a bed of white hoar. It was damp and dark and cool in the box, like the night-time when we nestled down under our big green leaves and went to sleep under the stars.

When the box was opened I heard a soft voice exclaim, "Oh, Violets!"
and we were again in the sun, so gently that not a petal was crushed, and pressed against a girl's face.

Something, I felt, fell on one of my petals—there—though I heard a soft, happy laugh. This laid me down ever so carefully and picked up a little square of stiff paper, giving a quick little gasp, "Oh!" There was a new note in it. She sat down by the table and was very still for a long time, only her hand touching us lightly, lovingly.
My tiny brethren trembled at her caress, though I did not understand.

Then, slowly, hesitatingly, she reached toward the telephone that stood on the table behind our box, but when it rang she turned away. I wondered, though I did not understand.

Then, slowly, hesitatingly, she reached toward the telephone that stood on the table behind our box, but when it rang she turned away. I wondered, though I did not understand.

"Mr. Graham!" The soft voice did not tremble now.
"Hello! Hello!—it is Elizabeth!" There was amusement and joy in the tones.

"To thank me—Elizabeth—I don't understand."
"You came—delighted to not, and that, that was it."

"I wanted to—to thank you for the violets."

Win Contest Prizes

The Northern States Power Company announces this week the district winners in the Home Lighting Contest which was held under auspices of that company in October. The contest was international in scope, and was held in all parts of the United States as well as in Canada. The purpose of the contest was to teach school children the proper use of light, and how to connect the same with safety. It is a well known fact that improper lighting in the home is the cause of a great deal of the eye trouble being experienced in the present age. The contest was an educational one, and it is estimated that over a million school children were enrolled in it. To Miss John G. of Portland, Oregon, went the honor of winning the $15,000 electrical home which was offered as first prize. Winners of ten scholarships including universities and colleges are still to be announced.

In this district, which includes St. Hilaire, Red Lake Falls and a number of other towns east and south of Grand Forks, the Red River Power Company offered nine additional cash prizes, five of which were won by local scholars as follows: 1st prize $25 in cash, Condit Nelson, 2nd prize $15 in cash, Arlene McClellan, 3rd prize $10 in cash, Hilding Berg, 4th prize $5 in cash, Jolia Malmgren. Out of the next five prizes of $5.00 each, one was won by Agnes Grimwood. Three of the two dollar prizes went to contestants at Red Lake Falls, and one to Hilderson, N. D. The local scholars are to be congratulated on making practically a clean sweep of the entire district prize field.

The first-as-service men in this locality to receive their adjusted compensation certificates are Carl Nelson and Philip Anderson. The former received $1500 and the latter $1000. These certificates are payable in full at the end of twenty years. In case of death of the veteran, they become payable at once.

Senator C. L. Henn, accompanied by J. S. Arason of Thief River Falls, passed through here Sunday morning enroute to St. Paul where they will be present at the opening of the legislature this week.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

A number of friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Adams gathered at their farm home Tuesday evening to help them celebrate an occasion that falls to the lot of but few married couples, that of observing their golden wedding, or 50th anniversary of their marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. were married in Kandiyohi County on January 6, 1875 and have resided here continuously since October 1879 on the farm which Mrs. Adams homesteaded in June of that year. They can rightfully make claim to being the earliest settlers in this community.

At the gathering Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Adams were the principal guests and were celebrated in a most wedding ceremony in which G. W. Hooper acted as officiating man. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson, who located here about the same time as did Mr. and Mrs. Adams. The ceremony caused not a little merriment, and was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The evening was spent in talking over old times of which Mr. and Mrs. Adams have excellent recollection. At close of the festivities, Mr. and Mrs. Adams were presented with suitable remembrances of the happy occasion, and the evening was closed.

The people of this community join in extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Adams, and in expressing a hope that they will be among us for many years to come.

Carl Johnson

Carl Johnson was born at Wagon, Wisconsin, March 12th, 1886 and passed away at his home in this village January 1st, 1925 at the age of 38 years, 9 months and 20 days.

His parents moved in 1888 to what is now Waseca, Minnesota, and settled on a homestead there. Shortly thereafter the Civil War broke out and Mr. Johnson's father volunteered for service. This left the mother and little Carl to brave the hardships of pioneer life alone. Mr. Johnson grew to manhood in northern Minnesota and on March 11, 1881 was married there to Carrie Gust. They engaged in farming until 1888 when they moved to Wells.

In 1891 Mr. Johnson and family moved to the village which has since been the family home. To mourn his unexpected departure he leaves his devoted wife and three daughters, Eva, Nora and Lilly all of whom were at home when he passed away. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. Erickson at Thief River Falls, and Mrs. Thompson of Canby, Minn.

During his years of residence here, Mr. Johnson engaged for a time in business with other vocations, but he always had a liking for veterinary work so in later years he gave up other lines and backed himself with that alone. His services were so constantly in demand, and he was well known by practically every resident in this section. He was a great lover of animals of all kinds, and was never without some animal about him. His kindly, cheerful disposition was his friends everywhere. Among young and old alike he was always known by his first name, Carl, which seemed to place him especially if used by little tots of whom he was very fond.

Mr. Johnson was a kind and considerate husband and father, a good neighbor and friend, and he will be greatly missed among his old associates.

At the funeral services which were conducted by Rev. C. M. Grimwood from the Norwegian Lutheran church Sunday forenoon, the casket was draped with flowers; loving tributes from many friends near and far, most of whom were present to pay their last respects. Interment was at the Swedish Lutheran cemetery west of town.

Heartfelt sympathy of this community is extended to the bereaved family in their time of trial and sorrow.

Sig Eng left last Friday in charge of a gravel truck bound from Warren to Minneapolis. Sig intended to look around for employment when he got to the city.

Clark needed good naturally and picked up a magazine. "Ever read this article on being positive?"

Townsend got a curt "No" and hurried out.

"Being positive! It was remarkable how a simple thing will accomplish what which mental debate will and Marriage versus celibacy. In less than two minutes his admiration for Gloria Ganes had kindled and he was now quite positive that he did not want to marry her or anyone else.

She would take her to dinner but would not entertain her. He had often heard others talk of the torture of distillation. "Townsend felt that at last he knew the reality of it."

He was sad and distant when Gloria entered the drawing room in her shimmering gown of aquamarine and diamonds. He had been on with her evening coat without the usual tremble that made his hands awkward. He suggested the restaurant they did at instead of waiting for her suggestion. He pointed out to the headwaiter the table that he wanted. Instead of waiting timidly to be shown to the worst table in the room. When he asked Gloria what she wanted to eat and she said "I'm order," he did and ordered everything he wanted. At last they were back in Gloria's drawing room and it was time to say goodnight. But Gloria went to the piano and started to play. Something dreary and soothing. He listened a cigarette, then got it out and felt for his pipe.

He Overheard the Conversation

By JESSIE H. ERNST

STANLEY TOWNSEND, a well-to-do man, had many symptoms that he was not well. A great importance he wanted to cling to anything he admired. There was always joy in being with her and loneliness in not being with her.

That night he had an engagement to take a dinner. It was Sunday, it had proved a dull day. He had a very important call and then went to his club. It was almost six o'clock when he was just getting into his overcoat to go home to dress when the unexpected Harry Clark, a fellow member and a casual friend, was also about to leave.

"I'll walk a way with you, Townsend, if you wait a few moments. I've promised to telephone a girl about a party she is arranging. But it won't take me a moment." Clark held a telephone number to the switchboard operator. It was Gloria Ganes' name.

Townsend, surprised, checked and waited. The telephone booth was right next to him. Clark's voice from inside came through the glass door. "Hello, Gloria. I'm at the switchboard. 'Hello, papa!' Let me say. 'Oh, you beautiful girl!' Let me kiss you. The house is all set for tomorrow night with bells on, and you'd better put a court plaster on that mole."

Clark put down the receiver and with a radiant smile of satisfaction opened the door of the booth. Townsend heard a few head words. "Too good an engagement. I've got to hurry."

Clark needed good naturally and picked up a magazine. "Ever read this article on being positive?" Townsend got a curt "No" and hurried out.

"Being positive! It was remarkable how a simple thing will accomplish what which mental debate will and Marriage versus celibacy. In less than two minutes his admiration for Gloria Ganes had kindled and he was now quite positive that he did not want to marry her or anyone else.

But Gloria went to the piano and started to play. Something dreary and soothing. He listened a cigarette, then got it out and felt for his pipe.

Mrs. Emil Just Is Dead

Mrs. Emil Just of this village passed away early last Friday morning at the hospital at Fergus Falls where she had been a patient for over a year. Mrs. Just has been a resident of this community for 37 years, and she was well known both in town and southeast of her where the family formerly resided.

To mourn her departure she leaves her husband, four daughters and one son. The daughters are: Mrs. Mary Strela of Boston, Colo.; Mrs. Oscar Carlson of River, Mich.; Mrs. Lily Payne of St. Paul, and Mrs. Nora Stenlund of Moose Lake, Minn. Mr. Just and son, Harry, make their home here. Mrs. Strela and Mrs. Stenlund were here for the funeral which was conducted by Rev. C. M. Three Meet Death
In Fire Near Wylie

Albert, William and August Lapla, three brothers aged between 35 and 40 years, were burned to death in a fire which completely destroyed their farm home 2 miles north of Dorothy and five miles west of Wylie either late last Sunday night or early Monday morning.

The lands place is off the main travelled road, and one of the neighbors noticed the blaze. It is impossible to determine the either the cause, or time of the fire as the smoking ruins were not discovered until a neighbor passed that way Monday morning.

The charred remains of the three victims were buried yesterday morning after services at the Catholic church at Dorothy.

The three brothers, who were all single, are survived by four brothers, Louis, James, Ed, and Frank, and three sisters, Mrs. El. Bostain, Mrs. Albert Bostain and another married sister all residing in vicinity of Dorothy.

Eclipse Saturday

A total eclipse of the sun will occur Saturday morning this week. It will be visible from a point east of Duluth and westward to the Red Lake in this state. This phenomenon being in straight line, it is possible the total eclipse may be viewed here for a few seconds. Partial eclipse will be clearly visible here for several minutes immediately after sunrise if atmospheric conditions are right. Get your smoked glasses and witness this phenomena which will not occur again for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Stevens, 1836 E. 38th St., Minneapolis, entertained the following friends and present St. Hilaire folks at their home Wednesday evening of last week: Mrs. Simonson, Frances Hovel and Hazel Wallen and Messrs. Ed Dahl, Sig Eng, Melvin Stearns and Hiram Wallen.

Club Dance Saturday

The usual dance to be given by the local club will be next Saturday evening after the show at the Imperial Hall. The local orchestra will furnish music.

Butterfat Price Drops

A substantial cut in prices of butterfat has been made lately which is anything but good news to this section which is engaged heavily to dairying. Many dairymen have rearranged their budgets that nearest prospect comes at this time of the year when prices are generally best. This, together with last summer's storage under over-crowding on the market, has caused overproduction. A drop in butterfat price is discouraging to dairymen, and especially now when feed is high, and cost of production is greater than at any other season.

Here From Canada

Theodore Jost, whose home is near Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, arrived here Tuesday for a visit at home of his brother, Emil Jost. Mr. Jost formerly lived in the Black River district southwest of here over thirty years ago, and tells his first visit back during that time. It is also the first time the brothers have seen each other during that same period.

Cravelling on the state road east of town is now finished from the Burghland place to east end of the Indian farm. A heavy coat will be applied west to the Burghland place, and a light coat there on to the bridge.

Dr. L. R. Iwete, licensed veterinarian, is back at Thief River Falls after having spent most of the past season assisting with testing work in southern part of the state. Dr. Tuleke has worked up considerable practice in vicinity of Thief River, and plans to make regular trips down here for accommodation of this territory. He is a graduate veterinarian and is qualified to handle anything in that line of work.

No License Reduction

Up to the present time, only a small proportion of Minnesota's auto owners have applied for their 1925 license tags. Most of them are undoubtedly anticipating some action by the legislature in regard to a drop in the license fee. Secretary of State, Mike Holm has issued a statement that regardless of what the legislature may do, or contemplate, in this respect, there will be no reduction this year. Further more, it is not likely any extension of time for payment will be made. All license fees must be paid before February 15th, in order to avoid penalty.

Dedicate Creamery

The fine, new creamery building recently completed by the Thief River Falls Creamery Association, was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies last week. The new building is a model for convenience, and is large enough to handle all business expected by the association for many years to come.

Paying Proposition

During 1924 this county paid motor taxes the sum of $25,558.74, according to a compilation received from Secretary of State, Mike Holm, during the same period, the highway department expended approximately the same amount on roads within this county. Under the state plan of distribution of state aid road money, this county received considerably more than it paid in. This latter fund was expended on roads other than those in the truck system. Farmington County has no complaint to make regarding distribution of state road funds as it regularly receives more than it pays in.

The Thief River Falls Legion basketball team won two games from local rivals "All Stars" on Thief River floor last week. Many local fans will need both games, and are unremorseful in declaring them to be some of the best ever played in this section.

A chimney fire at the Nelson auto building yesterday noon caused not little excitement while it burned. Quick work with skill and care completely stopped the blaze before any damage was done. The fire started during the heavy wind yesterday noon, and was a serious upset before it was checked.

Do not fail to attend the Farmers' Institute and sugar beet meeting at 2:00 today.

Bachcock Would Speed
Good Roads Program

Rocking a state administration and legislature pledged to economy in all divisions of state expenditures. Highway Commissioner Bachcock has presented his annual message and recommendation to the legislature now in session. Mr. Bachcock would have some taxes remain as they are without change of any kind. In addition he recommends a gas tax of 2 cents per gallon, proceeds to be used for road purposes. In order to speed up the good roads program in this state, he advocates a two million dollar bond issue proceeds of which will be used for better surfacing some of the most heavily travelled routes, and part for putting into other urgently needed improvements on the trunk system.

St. HilaireThe Plot That Didn't Fail

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright)

KATE GREGORY and Titus Smith had eaten grapes and oatmeal and weak, warm coffee beside each table for four or five months, yet they were still Miss Gregory and Mr. Smith to each other. Sometimes they discussed the weather—just enough to find that Miss Gregory preferred anything to weather while Mr. Smith didn't mind the cold so long as it was dry cold."Anybody here going to try for the thousand-dollar prize for the most amateur short story?" asked Mrs. Jarvis from her place behind the coffee percolator at the head of the table.
"The Evening Planet is offering it.
With all the talent we have here it seems as if someone ought to try."
"I've often thought I'd like to try to write," said Miss Gregory.
"I wouldn't be surprised if most of us had the material for a good short story if we only knew how to present it," said Mrs. Jarvis.Thus were sown the seeds of tender romance.
That night at dinner Mr. Smith asked Miss Gregory if she had begun her story and she looked surprised and said she really had not intention of competing and Mr. Smith said:
"I wouldn't mind if I had someone to help me." Then somehow it was agreed between them that they would try to write a story together it seemed preposterous to do it."Let's have the hero just medium size with grayish eyes," said Kate Gregory when they had next to discuss the characters and plot. "I think people are getting tired of six-foot heroes with steel blue eyes and all." Titus Smith was of medium size with gray eyes."Let's have the heroine a little smaller. Misses here have her freckled.
I'd like to see her. You know, if I really was a character some more human if she had freckles. It might have added that Kate Gregory was a little freckled and that she was a little plump."After several nights the plot was agreed upon, or at least each plot at the story possessed. The hero and heroine were to be a city boy and a city girl. That would give Titus a chance for his minute realism that he seemed to enjoy so well. The editor must occasionally live in the country
—wood and fields and all. Titus Smith was of medium size with gray eyes."One thing that will be difficult to manage," said Titus Smith, "if we intend to make this strictly realistic, is the love-making and proposing. People seem to make love and propose the way they do in books, you know. Love-making isn't at all like that. And the reason why so few writers ever get the right about on it is all because most people aren't quite responsible when they are making love. No man ever honestly remembered just what words he used in proposing to the girl he really loved.
What they really say might sound in appropriate, childish, insane. The realistic writer would get the thing the way it really happens."Kate Gregory had listened with keen interest."Do you suppose you'll be able to get 'at' the love-making, as you say, in the right manner?" she asked.
"If we can't do it right we'll better omit the entire love-making," he said; but Kate felt that the story would be very flat indeed without some love passages.So the story progressed, painlessly, methodically. Thus the business-like atmosphere of the little vacated room on the top floor seemed to change. Sometimes Titus sat for a half hour at a time just staring at the manuscript pages he was trying to revise and Kate at her portable typewriter sat forgetting of the descriptive passages she was trying to put down in black and white."We've got to get a little more pep in this," said Kate. "We need a real climax—a denouement or something like that—something gripping."Kate blushed and then blushed again from embarrassment at having blushed."Maybe we ought to do a love scene," she said, trying to keep the story in mind."Maybe so," sighed Titus. A person and another girl. "Ting it all. You know, Kate.""We really ought to get this story finished—soon!""How can we write—? And that is as far as more words carried them.
Titus' strong, broad paw felt its way over the rather plump fingers of Kate Gregory. They grew bolder and bolder until they were in a firm embrace. Kate looked at Titus and then, unable to look longer, dropped her eyes. Encouraged by new-found strength, Titus, to his own great surprise, kissed Kate's cheek—once, twice, three times. A little more of each passionate and firm from Titus."It will be easier now that we're

HERRIN LEADERS;
2 OTHERS KILLED

50 Shots Are Fired in Battle Waged in Main Street
Barber Shop.

Herrin, Ill.—With millions again petting the streets of Herrin, or the growing fear of the latest outbreak of Klan and anti-Klan warfare in which four men were killed, including S. Glen Young, Klan major rabble, and O. Thomas, deputy sheriff, recognize outstanding leaders of the two factions.

The two others killed in the revolver battle in a Main street cigar shop were Ed Porter and Homer Warner, both reputed Klansmen and companions to Young.

Young died from a bullet wound through the heart, although he was shot in the right breast. These shots, according to reports, came from the two revolvers handled by Thomas.

When citizens of the cigar shop a few minutes after an exchange of 40 to 50 shots they found Young dead and Warner unconscious. Thomas died on the way to the city hospital. The fight was the climax of years of battling in bloody Williamson county. Young and Thomas, both determined men and both handy with their revolvers, had repeatedly threatened to settle their differences in their own way.

Creamery Meeting

The annual meeting and election of officers of the St. Hilaire Co-operative Creamery Association was held at the village hall Monday afternoon. Due to inclement weather, a good many were unable to reach town to attend the meeting, but attendance was good nevertheless.

According to the annual report of Secretary Fred Edmundo, total receipts for the creamery during the past year were over a million pounds. During the same period patrons of the local institution were paid nearly $120,000.00 or an average of $10,000.00 a month. Considering that 1924 was not an ideal year from a dairymen's standpoint, and that the above figures represent activity all bona fide production without receipt from outside the home territory, this showing for the past year is, indeed, a remarkable one, and one that will compare favorably with any other creamery in this section of the state.

That the business of the creamery is being conducted to entire satisfaction of the rank and file of patrons is evidenced by result of the election of officers. J. B. Maskrod, president of the past year, expressed a desire to be re-elected, and Joe Patton was elected to succeed him. Felix Granthole was elected vice president. Emil Larson, a director, Fred Erickson as secretary, and W. F. Wilson as treasurer were all re-elected without opposition. The matter of grading cream was given thorough discussion, and it was decided to do grading later on in the spring. Owing to how busy they are in a majority of the creameries in this state and is giving satisfaction wherever it is in operation.

City Team Beats Plummer

The local city basketball team met the Plummer city team at the local gym Tuesday evening and romped home with the long end of a 25 to 18 score. The game was replete with thrills from start to finish with St. Hilaire maintaining a lead from the beginning. At one stage the game became so exciting that a bench on which a number of spectators were standing, collapsed which added to the general uproar. The local lineup was: C. E. Nelson, J. R. Larson, C. L. Fellman, J. E. Johnson, C. A. Swanson, Geo. Brattengroder, C. A. Swanson. The Plummer lineup was: C. E. Nelson, J. R. Larson, C. L. Fellman, J. E. Johnson, C. A. Swanson, Geo. Brattengroder, C. A. Surprise Party

Mrs. Gundild Nelson was the honored guest when a group of her school-graduates pleasantly surprised her at her home last Friday evening being the occasion of her birthday. Ground Hog Day

Have Rousing Meeting

At meeting of the local L. O. O. F. last Thursday evening, an innovation was inaugurated that promises to result in a series of lively meetings of that lodge. Items were chosen, not being in doubt the fellow and the other the while, to engage in a what contest, the losers to serve as a refreshment committee, by preparing and serving lunch. The yellow team lost, however in order to regain their prestige they proposed to start a campaign for new members, the same forfeit to keep as for the card session. Henceforth the team turning in the smallest number of applications each week will be required to serve lunch to the others. The yellow team—a mile home if there ever was one—has determined to act in capacity of guests next meeting, and is going after new members with "hammer and tongs." Both sides are putting up a valiant scrap to avoid being awarded the loser's hammer which consists of a solid dishcloth.

All of the available stall space in the cattle barn has been assigned to exhibitors much earlier than usual. Visitors to the show will see some of the best stock produced in the northwest. Those who come for their first visit will be surprised at the influence this show is having for better stock on Red River Valley farms.

Spring Is Here

Last Monday was Groundhog Day, the day appointed in each year when the prairieing is supposed to come out of his winter hibernation to see what prospects there are for an early spring. In this immediate vicinity it was cloudy all day which means we will have early spring. Further evidence of the correctness of this prophecy is attested by thawing weather both Tuesday and yesterday. Down at Crookston it is reported it is sun show part of the day, so they will have six weeks more of winter there, while this section where "alfalfa is a weed" will enjoy balmy weather.

The high school basketball journeyed from their home at Thief River, and dropped a team to the fast aggregation there. This defeat was due in a measure to that St. Hilaire has all first year members on their team, this means, while the Middle River players have all senior service from three to six years.

CONGRESS GETS
NEW FARM BILLGovernment Export Corporation Proposed in Substitute for McNary-Haugen Bill.

Washington—Farm help by means of a $50,000,000 government export corporation to purchase surplus agricultural commodities in time of depression was proposed in a bill introduced by Senator C. L. McNary (rep., Ore.).

Under the McNary bill purchases would be started when it had been determined that the domestic price was so far below the world price "to render unprofitable in whole or in part the export of that commodity."

Sale by the corporation of the stocks acquired during each operation period would be made either at home or abroad, as it seemed expedient.
Under the administration farm legislation raised by the President's agricultural commission (congressed

Financial Obligation Is Mentioned in Ceremony at White House.

and Marie Dressler, the new French ambassador, took occasion at their first meeting to exchange assurances that "national must be expected to pay their debts."
During his professional life at a formal White House ceremony, the ambassador recalled that in the course of his history (friendly relations, America and France rendered one another mutual satisfaction, "thus paying to each other their debt of gratitude just as they are of soldiers, when once soldier, of paying their material debt."

In response Mr. Coolidge made reference to French aid to the American cause in the Revolution, and to American participation in the World

Department of Agriculture Report
Urges Unchanged Program.

Washington—"The general outlook for American agriculture this year," is "fairly encouraging," compared with recent years, the department of agri-report made public, but it added that there "may be a slackening in domestic demand for farm products next winter."

Producers of the major farm crops,

Makes Excellent Record

The Minnesota Co-operative Creameries Association which is composed of 446 creameries in all parts of the state, made a splendid record the past year. Records show it shipped 3200 carloads of butter, a total of 32 million pounds of which 18 millions went to new markets created by the association. In connection with its other business, the association did a million dollar business in its supply department whereby member creameries benefited to extent of over a hundred thousand dollars.

In 1922 only about 25 percent of butter marketed by co-operative creameries in Minnesota was scored as extra. Since formation of the co-operative association, and a subsequent campaign to improve butter quality, 74 percent now scores as extra and better. Land O' Lakes, which is the name under which the association markets its extra butter, is now being sold all over the country, a carload being sold in Washington, D. C., alone every week.

Drop Two Games

The city basketball team motored Thursday evening to Holt and took on the team there in a swift game, losing by score of 16 to 25. Tuesday evening they motored over to Plummer for a return game with the aggregation there. From beginning to end, the result was in doubt, but Plummer managed to get an extra basket in last quarter which gave them the game by score of 24 to 22. The local boys are well pleased with results in both games, and are enthusiastic over the good time shown both at Holt and Plummer.

Crows Are Here

The timely crow, long regarded as a sure harbinger of spring, has arrived in this vicinity. A number of residents from east of town report having seen them singly and in pairs the last few days. With less than an inch of snow on the level at present, all indications point to an early spring this season.

The state game and fish commission in this state is contemplating taking steps to stock this part of the state with wild turkeys. The birds were formerly native here.

The legislature has under consideration, a bill which would prohibit using profane language on the highway of the state. enactment of such a law would, indeed, be a hardship for Ford owners who have occasion to renege their feelings at times.

Tuesday morning with loss of approximately $50,000.00 This is the second loss sustained by the company in a short time, a fire last fall destroyed practically the entire lumber yard but doing no damage to the mills. According to a statement issued by Secretary of State Miles Hahn, auto owners in this state stand to lose a huge sum in penalties by failure to apply for their auto licenses by time specified by law. Only a small percentage of registered owners have made applications thus far, and next Saturday is the final day when applications can be made without penalty. Working day applications can be made with penalty as they come in so far. Those who have delayed making application, may not get their tags until April 1 or even later, it is stated. Cornelia Makes a Selection

By H. IRVING KING

CORNELIA BLIVEN was a spoiled child. Her father had handed to much money that he could not tell exactly how rich he was. His only daughter was a spoiled, corrupt woman, who believed that "there was no boy but she." Being only child, her father's money was all hers. Cornelia might have been married twenty times over if she had wanted to. But she didn't want to.
Then suddenly she took it into her head that she did want to. "Mother," said she one day, "I am going to be married."

"Well, well, corn," said the first mother. "I suppose you are old enough to be married. Who are you going to marry?"

"I have not decided yet," replied Cornelia.

"Got any special one in mind?"
asked her mother.

"No, no one in particular—yet. I have two dozens, two dozens and a score, and I will select some before Saturday," said Cornelia.

"Have you spoken to your father about this?" asked Mrs. Bliven.

"Not yet," replied Cornelia, "but I shall. Father works object. He never has objected to me doing what I pleased, and I'm pretty late in the game for him to begin now."

And Cornelia, who, when she had taken a resolution, was not in the habit of letting the grass grow under her feet, ordered out her own particular motor and went down to her father's office to tell him what she might expect.
She regarded it as a mere matter of form—but Cornelia was not an ordinary girl.

"Mother," said Cornelia, when she was alone with her parent in his private office, "I am going to be married."

"What? You? Married? Who to?"
asked Mrs. Bliven.

"Oh, I haven't decided yet. I shall this week," she replied.

fox-trot

"The Prince of Wails"

HERE'S a new fox-trot full of snappy syncopation with all the breezy blues his Highness loves. It is the Cotton Pickers' first new record in six months.
You'll like this record, too. Played by the Cotton Pickers on Brunswick Records, it is unmistakable, tantalizing—the kind of tune that makes them thrive away their croonings at the Old Soldiers' Home! On the reverse side is the "Jimtown Blues," another fox-trot. Hear this, and other new records at our store today—any time. Remember, "there's always something new on Brunswick Records."

Golden Rule in Daily Life

The knowledge that helps us to be wise and kindly and helpful is simple and easy to find. It can be found in books which almost all households possess, which can be bought very cheaply. They contain wisdom which many learned people never have and never will possess. It is the most intellectual cooperation we need as much as mutual understanding and generosity. The effort to look at everything from the other fellow's point of view—Landon Daily Herald.

Issue Fine Booklet

The State Board of Immigration has recently issued a neat booklet advertising the resources of the ten counties in northeastern corner of Minnesota which comprise the rich Red River Valley section of the state. The book is a splendid advertisement for this section and will be of great help in securing what is most needed here—more farmers. Anyone having friends and acquaintances elsewhere who might be interested in investigating the resources of the Red River Valley, may have a copy of the booklet mailed to each such person by simply sending in the list of names to the Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul.

Will Erect Large Barn

George Hingt has been busy lately hauling out lumber for a commodious new stock barn to be erected on the fine farm the coming spring. It is reported the new barn will be 36 X 90 feet which will make it one of the largest in this vicinity. Mr. Hingt intends to have the new gable style roof, and the barn will also be equipped up to modern standards in every respect. Real Basketball Battle

The local high school basketball team played in hard luck last evening when they met the Middle River school team on the local floor. The visitors have all had more experience at the game than any of the local boys, but the latter went in with building determination to hold up their end. The game was as near even as possible up to last part of the fourth period when the visitors scored a field goal which put them two ahead. St. Hilaire, fighting every inch of the way, completed with only tally by free throw, but were unable to put over the winning shot until they had several tries at it. The score at final whistle was 16 to 14 in favor of Middle River.

Word was received here by a friend last Friday of the death of Mrs. S. Fairbanks at the family home a short distance south of Chicago. A letter received previously stated Mrs. Fairbanks was actually ill and very little hope was entertained for his recovery. They still retain a large number of friends in St. Hilaire who join in extending deep sympathy to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Ben Leroy and little son left Thursday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thompson at Jephson Junction, Iowa.

Two Weeks Extension

The legislature passed a bill last week extending the time for payment of auto licenses from Feb. 14th to March 1st. The power to give extension of time was granted the secretary of state the first two years after passage of the present license law, but after that time he has no such power. Thousands of auto owners, thinking a reduction in license rates would be made by the legislature now session, have collectively delayed making applications this year. In order to save car owners from paying a big sum in penalties the legislature granted extension of time as stated. Next year there will be no possibility of such extension as power to make them lies with the legislature which will not then be in session.

Much Building In Sight

From present indications this section will witness more new buildings going up this year than it has in five years past. Several buildings have already been arranged for, and many are in contemplation which will likely materialize. Such improvements, coming at end of a prolonged period of general depression, shows people are beginning to take a more optimistic view of what the future has in store.

SMALL TOWN HUMOR AND PHILOSOPHY

By BUCK CAMPBELL

Good luck seems to slumber right onto the hustler.

Flattery often wins out where truth wouldn't get a lookin'.

When the bubble bursts the flatterer looks like a common fool.

It begins to look as if the only one that can make both ends meet is the falling worm.

If you want to see a woman all up and take notice, let the other women begin to say nice things about her husband.

There is always an opportunity to go good, but it is of no fall to grasp it. Kindness may be appreciated and go unrewarded.

From the Talmud

Let us rejoice that there are cheat-ers beggars. For we should all daily behave as we do not give enough to the poor.

Lucille, Love

and Linda

By MARTHA WILLIAMS

"No! I won't! No! I shan't!" Lucille cried, her face reddened to the amendment of Carl Ginger, who held both her hands and laughed softly, murmuring: "Let me see! Two negatives make an affirmative, don't they?" "Yes, yes," she said, "but I don't want to!"
"Thanks for these kind words, honey!"
"How-will not set the day, and have done with it!"

"I hate you!" Lucille shrieked, trying to free her hands. Carl did not arm about her, then released them, saying: "Poor little girl! I'm also so afraid of you! I don't play angry!"
"Both!" Lucille gasped. "Afraid you'll break my wife's nose because you are—yourself—the very moral of premiere valkyrie!"

"How come?" from Carl said, "Can I help seeing how much you love me when you do in a passion if I am so much as civil to the stranger within the gates?"
"No such thing! I only hope she takes you home with her for keeps," said Lucille.

"That would be nice," said Carl.
"I am going to next thing to Heaven.
Unless, that is, it has changed since I played there with Linda. You know we made miles together!"
"I didn't know. I can't believe it!" Lucille murmured, her eyes rallying her forces. "She is here to reclaim her property—and it comes at her whistle!"

"Who wonder?" Carl's eyes were wide. "Such a darling she is. Only thing wrong with her is that pest, Jimmy Granger. He's going to marry her, isn't he?"
"Any objection?"
Carl shook his head. "That's the worst part of it. He's not good enough of course, just as near as anyone could hope to."

"How noble of you!"
"Not a bit! I said a stupid Carl.
"What is to be will be, whether or no I happens. That's all. Suppose we return to our own affairs!"
"Please, what if they're asked a question, since dropping Lucille. If she had only known—Carl ought to have told her—instead he had proposed stumpily, and gone up to asking a wedding date, taking comfort for granted."
"My hope is he'll be good," he said, "and if he isn't, I'll be good to ask about it, drilling her in spite of her wrath. I think you. Now Jimmy Granger is my fore-ordained best man. Linda's to marry a month. Want you please, please, marry, ask her to play maid of honor, and get the disturbance over before she goes!"

"How can I—when I've been nasty about her?" Lucille pouted.
"Don't worry about her gently. I shan't be a descendant, being herself an engaged person," he said. "Now, Mary, say yes—say it right—I mean with a kiss."
Lucille accepted reluctantly. Lucille related—she had not quite forgiven Carl her abrupt surrender. Subtly, with her softest eyes, her softest mosturing tones, she took possession of Jimmy, thereby forcing Carl to keep Linda company. Time brought them to the era of rehearsal almost before they knew it.

It went off with a bang, having everything but the flowers, the music and the bride veil—betrothal lace was not to be lightly risked. Lucille was latter-perfect, but Carl, despite his sanctuary, mumbled and bungled terribly the first time he mouthed that by Linda's suggestion Jimmy took his place in the second attempt. "Which was successful," he remembered. Looking greatly up to him, Lucille white-faced. "Thank you. But I'm almost sorry you showed me the difference."
At that he started the least bit whispered away, repeated again, low and said huskily: "You are also different." Very low of course—but Lucille sensed rather than heard the words. She did not turn pale, nor seem, nor blush—rather she looked more gay than before.

"How about a pull out, darling?"
Seems to me you'd have a case," Judge Trevor, Lucille's guardian concurred. Linda put on a redemptive look, laid her fingers over her lips, and was silent ten seconds. Then she smiled at the judge, saying: "My

Palm-Finstad

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the C. O. Olson home in Rockabury occurred the marriage of Miss Jody Palm to Mr. Carl E. Finstad, both well known young folks. Miss Louise Nettland played the wedding music and also rendered an appropriate solo. The impressive wedding service was read by Rev. C. M. Gundersen of the village.

The Misses Marie and Clara Olson acted as bridesmaids, while the groom was attended by the brides, Martin Finstad, and Clifford Herfoss. After the ceremony a delicious four course wedding dinner was served to the twenty five guests present, most of whom were close relatives and hostess friends of the bride couple.

The bride is a daughter of Rev. S. T. Palm who some years ago served the pastorate at St. Hilaire. The groom is a son of Mr. Finstad well known plowman farmer.

The newlyweds left Saturday for a trip to Minneapolis and other Minnesota points after which they will be at home at the Finstad farm. Many friends join in extending congratulations and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Finstad.

M. R. H. S. WINS AGAIN

For the third time this season, the St. Hilaire high school basketball team was defeated by the basket shooting unit from the M. R. S. The game was played last evening at St. Hilaire and ended with a score of 5 to 0. The stage was all set for the St. Hilaire victory but unfortunately the long run with the above stated result. Invaluable statistics registered scores for the locals, mentioning three field baskets. The floor was not only too short and narrow but the ceiling was no less so. Absolutely prohibited all long and medium range shooting which was a great help to the team. The game was handled by St. Hilaire referee(?) but the scores of the two former games had the explanation: At Middle River, St. H. M. 2-7; at Thief H. Falls, M. R. 22-St. H. 0, netted—Middle River Record.

Papers Consolidate

A deal of no small importance took place at St. Hilaire, last week. The St. Hilaire Edition, of which W. T. Noman is editor, bought the Northern News, published across the river at Spooner, from Geo. Erickson, and the consolidated will take effect April 1st. That will give these two towns one good paper and one that can support creditably. It also indicates that the two towns have signed an armistice and that it may mean that these two municipalities will become as one, Kosmos Region.

Knitting for Nerves

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

(Overland)

YOU have simply got to take up knitting," said the great overland specialist. "You must knit a pair of needles and go down to Atlantic City and on the board walk and knit."

"No knit! I certainly would not take a single step out of my door."

"And the ladies stopping to rest at the hotel."

"David pulled his six feet of strong wool impatiently out of the chair.

The specialist just sat calmly looking at him.

"You prefer, then, my young fellow, to end your days in a home for neurotics, battling forever about spring blossoms or trying to find a place any place to jump off the roof?"

The doctor became more serious.

"Don't be a coward about life. You can't live a short snappy life of knitting, just simply giving your hands something to do, will not set

you on your feet."

David laughed. His nerves were not quite gone, yet, after all, life had been so hard. He would be a sport and obey the doctor's orders. Anyway he would knit, and then he was. Only yesterday he had shrunk from crossing the street alone and nothing could induce him to go into the kitchen where the nurse was preparing to that mangled state of neurotic.

So David packed his case, told his attorney all about it and she gave him advice as well as knitting needles and wool.

But the headquarters that was the most brilliant of her career was her suggestion that David put on Aunt

Effie's clothes when she came from his suburban.

"The doctor, with the strings to tie it on and her great kind and simple style—why David you could sit on the sofa and knit your jumpers and no one would even cast a glance at you."

"You're the prize brick, sis," laughed David. "I'll put Aunt Effie's clothes on and knit till I haven't a nerve left."

Consequently, the old lady sat

daily on the sofa, and attracted little or no attention. David gradually learned to knit mechanically.

It was David's dog that first appeared to him. The dog came from the spot where he sat, and then he saw the dog, and then he saw the dog, and then he saw the dog.

After a final desperate plunge the small dog was captured.

David's heart beat fast. The girl was approaching him to offer an

The Bureau urges its members and all friends of co-operative marketing in the state, to write their legislators at once urging defeat of all efforts being made to weaken the act or repeal it. The Bureau also warns farmers not to place too much confidence in the publicity by Twin Cities papers directed against the Rural Credit system.

Pope and his five loved-ones indicated where the shanty where the men were selling their goods was carrying a red tin can.

"Hey, comrades," he shouted, holding up the can. "I want you to buy this. It's a handy way to get a little extra money. Look at this tin of powder! I picked this morning. I guess I'll blow my nose with it myself and so will you. It's a good one."

"You're a lot of talk and clear out," ordered the foreman.

But the man addressed paid no attention. He took out one glass and poured the shanty then waited deliberately for the others to do the same. He then turned the glass down and the can inside.

A shrill whistle blew the door and a woman and a young girl followed him. They were empty.

Minutes later, when the rumormongers returned, they found the can resting peacefully on the fire. The foreman and his five loved-ones and their dogs snarled at one another. The

Centennial To Be Celebrated

1825 was a significant year for America as it marked the beginning of Norwegian immigration to this country. This is therefore the Centennial year and will be observed by a national celebration in Minnesota, June 17th, 18th, and 19th, when Norwegian-Americans will gather by the hundreds of thousands from all parts of the country to celebrate the event. Local celebration will also be conducted throughout the country.

In connection with this event the following clipping from the New York Daily Advertiser for October 1, 1825 may be of interest. It was headed:

A NOVEL SIGHT

"A vessel has arrived at this port with emigrants from Norway. The vessel is very small, containing, as we understand, only about 300 Norwegian late, or forty five American tons, and brought fifty-three passengers, male and female, all bound for Orleans county, where an agent who came over some time since, purchased a tract of land.

"The vessel is built on the model common to fishing boats on that coast, with a single top-sail, slop-decked. She arrived with the addition of one passenger born on the way."

The name of the vessel was "Kestrel." It left Stavanger, Norway, July 4, 1825, and arrived at New York October 9th, the same year. Keweenaw one of the passengers landed in good health and spirits. A child was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lars Larson on the voyage. She was given the name of Margaret Allen in honor of Mrs. Allen in London, who had befriended Mr. Larson.

These Norse pilgrims "fathers and mothers" who came over in this "Mayflower of the North" settled in Orleans County, New York, and the hundreds and thousands of their countrymen who followed them during the century have settled and developed large parts of Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas and beyond to the Pacific Ocean and way up in Canada. They were hard workers, frugal and industrious and blazed the way in developing the American wilderness into the most prosperous and progressive regions of the world. They came well prepared to do their part for America. They came from a free country to a free country, from an educated country to an educated country. They represented a civilization and culture of a thousand years' development. They were better Americans before they left Norway than some of those who have been trying.

Paid $1.50 A Ton Bonus

Reforms received by sugar beet growers in this county show they received a bonus of $1.50 a ton for the 1924 crop. The net price received was about two dollars less per ton than was received in 1923 which is due to fluctuation in price of sugar.

Election Quiet

The village election held Tuesday was a very quiet affair which was due no doubt to the unpleasant weather prevailing at that time. F. E. Berg was re-elected president of the council. M. H. Jackson was returned as councilman for three years. M. Fickler and R. O. Harkness were re-elected recorder and treasurer, respectively. Jas. A. Dahl was returned as assessor from a two year term. Only about a fifth of the total vote in the village were cast.

High School Notes

Herpetology Of The Week

By The School

By the Seniors

Mrs. John Hansen and Miss Selma Hoff, members of the School Board, visited school on Wednesday.

Koute Osgaard, Francis Soderberg, and Leo King were visitors at school on Friday.

Mr. J. J. McCann, Mr. and Mrs. Hoff, and Miss Nye, accompanied Professor N. Chapman here on Thursday afternoon, when the latter spoke to the student body.

A very interesting debate was given in the English 111 class in connection with their Public Speaking Course. The subject debated was the Child Labor Amendment, and the class had studied a great deal of material on the subject. The affirmative side was represented by Marie Grimmer, Hazel Pricker, and Oscar Naplin; and the speakers on the negative side were Leif Hilten, Arlene McCauley, and Hilding Berg. Pearl Simonson, Blanche Catholeno, and Agnes Grimmer acted as judges, and the decision was given unanimously for the affirmative side. The speakers on both sides brought out many good points, and the debaters are all to be commended for the work they have done on this question, as for their fine presentation of the debate.

The results of the last English Minnesota Requirement Test showed a marked improvement in the marks obtained by many of the High School students, although the median score was not very much higher. The Seniors, as a class, attained the highest average, as well as the greatest number of the scores. St. Hilaire is up to this time still in the upper fifth of the one hundred or more schools which are competing. This school is not, however, eligible for prize, as one of the requirements is that 15% of the high school shall be in the Freshman class.

The High School and Seventh and Eighth Grades and the pleasure of hearing Professor N. Chapman on Thursday in the High School Assembly. His subject was on raising and marketing poultry and eggs. Because of the many interesting and valuable points brought out in his talk, and also because of the numerous jokes which he told to illustrate his points, "Uncle Norton's" talk will long be remembered by the students and those who heard it.

Mr. J. J. McCann, Country Club Leader, attended the regular meeting of the Sewing Club last Thursday evening.

A meeting was held by the High School last Wednesday afternoon preceding the basketball game with Holt. Miss Tanderberg presided at the meeting, and the following program was given:
Song—One, Boys Will Shine Tonight—by the School
Speech—by Leif Hilten, captain of the team.
Song—Book, Books—by four girls.
Pep speech—by Julia Mingsall.
After the short program the cheer leader, Hazel Pricker, took the floor, and the students "raised the roof" practicing yells which were given at the game that evening.

Last Wednesday evening the student body and a great number of towns residents turned out to see the basketball game between the local high school team and that of Holt. The game was in favor of the St. Hilaire boys from the beginning, and ended in victory for the locals by a score of 31 to 7. The routine, which was suggested by the rivalry between the two teams, added greatly to the spirit of the game. This was the last high school game of the season, and the team is to be commended for the good work which has been done.

A proposal to license all Turkish poets has been made to government authorities by the Poets' League of Turkey. All true poets should be able to discern thoroughly the mechanism of poetry before attempting to write any for publication, the league contends.

Dad—Oupid told me, my dear.

It Would Be Easier

A business woman of Indianapolis, needing more air in her tires, drove into a filling station. The attendant being busy, she proceeded to inflate the tires. She removed the dust cap and applied the air; there was a rush of air and a great hissing sound, but the tire did not seem to get any firmer. The process was repeated several times but with no greater success. Finally a truck driver standing nearby, who had been an interested spectator, volunteered the much-needed information:

"Lady, if you want to pump up your tire you had better remove the cap."

C. Ed. Whaley Is Called

Word was received here this week of the death of an old pioneer of St. Hilaire, that of Charles Edward Whaley which occurred at his home at Bemidji on Tuesday, March, 24th at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. Whaley, who was 71 years and 8 months of age at time of death, suffered a paralysis stroke about five years ago and has been in uncomfortable suffering from that cause since, but the immediate cause of death was pneumonia coupled with a weak heart.

Mr. Whaley was born at Waukon, Iowa, July 25th, 1853 and grew to maturity there. Later he moved to Hawley, Minn., and on Jan. 14th, 1884 was united in marriage to Theresa Mary King at Moorhead, Minn., they coming soon thereafter to this village to make their home.

To their union three children were born, namely Kate, Archie J., and Ed M. The former, now Mrs. D. D. Hickey, as well as the two sons, now make their home at Bemidji, to which city the family moved in 1905.

During his twenty five years of residence here Mr. Whaley followed his trade as carpenter. He was held in high esteem by all who knew him, and his passing will be noted with sincere regret by many old friends in this community as well as by many former residents who live elsewhere.

Decased is survived by his widow, and the three children beforementioned, as well as three sisters and four brothers. Ten grandchildren, Evelyn, Harold, Delores, Phyllis and Richard Raskop, Mildred, Everett, Richard, and Arthur Whaley, also survive him.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon last from the Congregational church at Bemidji. Rev. Curran officiating. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery in that city.

Science Has Learned Something About Ate
The ant that lives on wood doesn't have to digest it, according to studies conducted by L. R. Cleveland at Johns Hopkins University. In the ant's abdomen is a great herd of primitive animals belonging to the order of protozoa. These take into themselves the wood particles swallowed by the insect and digest them. Mr. Cleveland killed the protozoa by placing the ants in a temperature of 97 degrees Fahrenheit—7 degrees below the death point by heat of the ant. The ants themselves were not injured by this heating, but nevertheless they died within two or three weeks, even when surrounded with plenty of wood. Heated ants that were fed on hymenoptera, wood rotted or digested by fungi, thrived like normal ants. Their return to good wood digestion went hand in hand with the return of the parasite microbe to the food track.

Evening Things Up
"It's a surprising thing," remarked a traveling salesman, "but I never heard of a politician putting a hotel who had been hit on the head by a cigarette stub dropped from an upper window. Hundreds of guests in every large hotel told their half-finished cigarettes out of open windows every day of the year, but the passerby is always missed. I can't explain why it is, unless Providence, considering the unerring aim of the material, figures to sort of even things up."

And It Was Rubinstein!

Henry T. Pluck in his book entitled "Mystical Laughter" speaks of a lady living in a German hotel, who was greatly amused by people, especially in the room adjoining hers. Finally she wrote a note to say that she could not stand the racket and begged the pianist to stop. The maid who delivered the note came back with another, telling the following: "Very sorry to have annoyed you. Your request is granted."

They were weak, really, and they, and finally, only they couldn't stand it, because their women wouldn't submit to their rule."—From "Three Nights and a Tragedy" by Mary Bonner.

Club Play A Success

The baseball club play "Doris Goes To Town" was greeted by crowded houses when presented at the local theatre last Thursday and Friday evenings.

Samuel Brewster (M. H. Jackson) is perved over some advertising placed by his book keeper Willis Larkin (A. F. Hall) wherein he is inadvertently referred to as the "head cheese," and goes on a trip to "smash the cheese." His trip is made by his friend, Elmer, Bob Brewster (E. O. Ruyter) an attorney with office next door to the cheese company, attempts to assist Larkin back into good graces of his employer. In meantime Larkin has pretended to be an out-of-town friend, Doris Rascort (Agnes Tanderberg) that he is really the controlling head of the Brewster Cheese Company. She arrives in town to visit Larkin and also to see the huge plant which he claims is his, and the plotless find themselves at their wits end to carry out the deception.

Verna Callaway (Lida Bennett), Bertie Browner, (Mildred Fellman), Blaise Bloume (Robby Seng), the cheese company's telephone operator, and Ted Sprat (Knute) Osgaard a telegraph messenger, all play important parts, and all found themselves in rather ludicrous positions, but all turns out well when Samuel Brewster returns and reveals himself as the real "head cheese."

Members of the cast all acted their parts exceedingly well and are deserving of much praise for the fine success of the play.

The local orchestra of seven pieces, rendered a number of pleasing selections between acts, and also furnished music for a dance given after the play.

Cars Collide

A strange car southbound on the highway collided with Fred Lesch's Ford at intersection of the highway and Second street Tuesday afternoon resulting in some damage to both cars but without mishap to occupants. Mr. Lesch was coming from west onto the highway southbound. The woman driver of the strange car evidently feared a collision and turned to the left meeting the car's broadside. Mashed fenders was all the damage sustained by either car.

It is understood the remains will be shipped back to Mrs. Ducharme's old home at Red Lake Falls to be interred beside those of her husband who died fifteen months ago. This unhappy ending of an otherwise pleasant trip, is indeed sad, and heartfelt sympathy of all local friends is extended to the Ducharme family in their time of trial and sorrow.

Crossing Petition Denied

The State Railroad and Warehouse Commission, in a lengthy communication to the village council, has denied the petition of the village for a railroad crossing on Pine street south of the action house. The only reason of any account given in that view of the trouble at that point is obstructed by trees.

Being as the only trees there is a small bunch of poplars on the right of way, that objection carries no weight. The Commission recommends use of the second street crossing where the Great Northern has a crossing so narrow that two vehicles can hardly pass on it, and where view from the east side is obstructed both ways by the grain elevators and coal sheds.

Advertising Aids Both

Duck eggs are as edible as the eggs of the chicken and are much larger, but there is no market for duck eggs. The explanation for this is given by a chicken man is that every time a chicken lays an egg she cackles all over the barnyard, proclaiming her product to the world, but the duck lays her egg in seclusion and makes no noise about it.

Disasters in like the egg. Some persons advertise their goods and sell them. Other merchants do no advertising and, consequently, little business. The wise merchant, when he receives a shipment of goods which he knows the public wants, does not whisper the event down a bottomless well. He comes boldly forth in the newspaper pages and heralds his wares. When the general stores filled every mercantile need in the embryo communities there may not have been much need for advertising. Only the more necessities were obtainable and the consumer had only the general store at which to obtain them. All that has been changed. There has been specialization in business just as there has been in labor, the profession and industry and specialization has brought competition and expansion.

The inevitable outcome of the evolution or revolution of business has been the realization by both merchant and customer that advertising is necessary to modern business as service. In fact, the constant advertising of its goods in the newspaper is part of the service of every modern store which aims to serve the public. — Wisconsin State Journal.

In Furnished Rooms

By EDITH H. OLIVER

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

AT FIFTEEN Adolphus Dodson became a member in the National bank. He was promoted slowly, but steadily, until he had a good position, and in the process he met Lucy Mears and fell in love with her. He was an earnest young man, honest, methodical, reliable and thrifty, so thrifty, indeed, that he resolved to tell Lucy of his love until he had another promotion; but when this occurred Lucy had gone away. He had lost her and his heart ached.

Adolphus had always lived in furnished rooms; he had dreamed of a home with Lucy, but now that was dead, lost forever. He landed at the Eureka restaurant. There was a story that the engineer in the factory at the rear blew the noon whistle without looking at his watch while he saw Adolphus hang up his coat and hat on his own particular peg in the corner. Adolphus came in one day prepared to go through his lavatorial routine. He took off his overcoat and hung it on his arm; he took off his hat; he drew the folding nickel-plated coat hanger in to the black case out of his pocket; he pulled it out; he smoothed his hair—

There was a soft flurry of perfume about him, a delicate breath of perfume floated through the air, and he found himself staring at a small figure in gray that hung a gray coat with a big gray collar—his own exclusive peg. His own exclusive chair tilted against the table advised the world of his presence; but the gray figure tilted it only in the floor, sat in it and reached complacently for a newspaper.

Adolphus stood there holding his coat and hat and the folding nickel-plated coat hanger in the next black case, while the gray figure turned in her slip and in an instant the lovely years crept out in one word—

"Lucy!" He dropped his luminous lace garments upon the floor and stumbled forth on an untraveled floor of love and longing.

It was indeed Lucy. "You are an excellent meat together," she greeted him and met another next day.

They met every day after that in the Eureka, progressing by timid, primitive conventional steps through the call of first names, the almost unending delight of surreptitious handshakes, until one day Adolphus spoke the words that had been on his lips for so long, and he thought it just exactly what it should be when she said she was answering him in a week.

"It will be a year," she said, "but I will be a wonderful woman. We will go out to dinner and—take a taxi drive up Riverside drive afterward."

Lucy murmured something he could not hear.

"I can't hear you—daring—and how fortunate I remembered that you never told me where you live."

Lucy murmured something else that he did not hear—she was so adorable. "I can't hear you, dear; write it on my cuff." He thrust at her soft fingers touched his hand and his own bowed over them and the happy cliff.

Only one week and he could hold them as often as he wished.

For the first time in his life Adolphus Dodson could not go to sleep that night. He had found Lucy again; they were engaged; they were going to be married. He was planning with thinking of all the wonderful years ahead together, say so long, that the gray dawn peered in at him before he went to sleep. The sun had been peering at him for some time before he awoke, and he had to hurry off to the bank, without any breakfast, and feeling horribly disheveled. He was disturbed all through his work, too, by the remembrance that it was the treasurer's day, and he had not left the things for him. "Then, it looks as all right, though, for his laundry had given them and made out the list in duplicate, just as he—"

Suddenly the world turned to a black chaos of despair as he remembered that the address was on the cuff of the shirt that had gone and he had not read it! He rushed to the laundry; but it had gone to the wash depot at the home. He suffered hours of torments in overhanging unemptied hampers of other people's shirts.

The next day he went early to the Eureka and established a costly and far-reaching system of espionage for ascertaining the latest of Lucy's operations, but all to no avail. Lucy meant to keep away in her adorable modesty until the week was up, and then she would wait and he would not come, and what could she think except that he had deserted her.

On the day that was to have been the happiest of his life he went mechanically through his work, and with long in his heart sat long after he knew it was hopeless in the Eureka. Somehow the hours dragged themselves along—the clock—the hour when he was to have called for her. He went to his room and sat there, staring out into the falling dusk. It was all over; he would never see her again! With no definite idea beyond escape from himself and his misery he seized his hat and ran downstairs. Someone was fumbling outside the door with a latch key, he tore the door impatiently open—and Lucy walked in all sweet confusion when she saw him.

"I'm so sorry to be late," she said, "but I won't be a minute. If you don't mind I'll just run up and change my hat."

Adolphus stared at her. "Don't go," he said.

"Yes," said Lucy, "my room is on the top floor."

Safe Bet That Anwar Didn't Win the Prize

The kindly old snail was giving a little treat to the village school children. After tea he stepped onto the platform and announced with a hearty smile:

"Now, I am going to perform certain feats, and you must guess what powers they represent. The boy or girl who guesses first will receive a shilling."

He did it. Instantly every eye was fixed on him. First of all, the old gentleman lay down on the platform. Then he came forward and reared to left hand. Two others followed him, and between them they raised the snail, who was rather portly.

The actions were meant to represent the motto, "Unus in strength." When they had finished the snail stepped forward and asked if any child could guess what it was and what it stood for.

After a grubby hand set up and an eager voice replied: "That sleeping dog lies!" - Farmers Weekly.

Action of the Poles

While the north magnetic pole attracts the north end of the needle and repels the south end, the south pole repels the north end and attracts the south part. This is true, no matter in what part of the earth the needle is placed, and there is no reversal of the needle when the magnetic equator is crossed.

Ton of Gold

Allowing 2,000 pounds to the ton, and 10 ounces to the pound, a ton of gold would be worth about $600,000. For its assay weight is 800,000 grains, that would make the average person weighing 100 pounds worth about $1,000, if they were given their weight in gold.

Safe Prediction

"Who is that?" asked the visitor in Plunkville.

"Uncle Toby Whitson, our weather prophet," explained the native who was doing the honors. "He, Uncle Toby! What's the weather gonna be tomorrow?"

"Uncle Toby declared a series of grunts which the native interpreted: 'It's a very big gonna rain or snow or something.'"

"I believe him," declared the visitor. - Minneapolis Tribune

There are after made by one of the public spirited citizens of this village, the latter now has opportunity to secure a block of lots fronting the Jefferson Highway next, to the school grounds, for park purposes. INCREASE OF CREAM RECEIPTS

A heavy increase in cream receipts is being notes at the creamery this month. Should pasturage come on early this will undoubtedly prove to be the banner year of the creamery in point of receipts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Huff and son motored here last week-end from their home at Coon Lake for a visit at the home of his son, C. R. Huff. They returned home Monday.

Mrs. Elmer Johnson, who was taken to a hospital at Grand Forks a short time ago to undergo an operation, is progressing nicely with every prospect of ultimate recovery.

Big Fire At Thief River

A fire which originated in rear of the Buckstaff grocery at Thief River, completely destroyed that building as well as the Williams hardware store, and the Laird book and stationery store together with contents only Sunday morning. The fire was not discovered until it had gained such headway that attempts to save any of the three buildings were hopeless, and the fire department confined it self to preventing a spread of flames to other nearby buildings. It is estimated the loss of the three places will be nearly $40,000.

Bill Munch Improving

Bill Munch of Crookston, game warden for this district, has been critically ill lately and last week a report was in circulation that he had passed away. At present he is convalescing at a Minneapolis hospital, and last report gave him chances for recovery are good.

Henry Peterson drove down last evening from Warren and spent a few hours here. He was accompanied here by his mother, Mrs. John Peterson, who was visited at his home at Warren.

Mr. Chas. Bengstrom and family motored yesterday to the Avonlea farm west of town where they will reside during the summer.

25 Years Ago

T. J. Turkelson bought the Dr. French's residence and was to have possession in May.

Sam Demard was down from Thief River arranging to move to that city.

Jack Chariette returned from the woods to take his former position as foreman at the mill.

Messieurs Cunningham and Adams, who were seriously injured the previous week, were to be removed to their homes here.

Five were running in stock shape below the dam, one several barrels of suckers were taken out by dipnet that day.

Wheat was 54 cents, Oats 36. Barley 26 and Flax $1.64 a bushel to local market. Eggs were 8 cents a dozen and butter 12 cents a pound.

Household Necessity

The modern woman needs a FORD and the modern way of buying—a little down and a little cash each month—makes it possible for you to supply her with one as easy and pay for it in installments that are spread over so many months that none of them are big to meet.

Make it easy for her to take the kiddie to school, keep her social engagements, attend to her duties as a housewife.

Even if there's a family car in your garage, you may have a FORD to keep her from being stranded when you are using the big car yourself and you're waiting the cost of a FORD in extra upkeep if you use a big car for the little journeys that make up a woman's day.

The Broadcast Smile

By ANNE K. COLE

(By Mrs. Weston Weaver, Boston, Mass.)

IT WOULD take more than the arm of a giant to hold the smiling face of a woman who has been smiling for so long. It is a smile that is not only a smile, but a smile that is a smile.

"What you hear, Mollie O'Dane?" "Sure! Preserving my grins, I am, as my husband would say, 'cane' her pet name."

"So you married the Scotch lady after all?" "When I lost track of Mollie there had been newspaper talk of the romantic wedding of the pretty model by a Scotch gentleman who had fallen in love with her photograph."

"What was I doing? Well, I wasn't doing anything but keeping my eyes on Mollie in line of encouragement and he took yards of tape. I didn't see one dinner home for five or six months."

"There? Well, you remember how we used to fight? We always will, I guess, but somehow I'd rather a blue eye from Jim than black beads from the doctor."

"What was I doing? Well, I wasn't doing anything but keeping my eyes on Mollie in line of encouragement and he took yards of tape. I didn't see one dinner home for five or six months."

"Death Rockets" Latest Instrument of Death

A new weapon of offensive and defensive warfare has been developed in the form of a "death rocket" designed to throw out a flaming shower of molten metal miles above the earth's surface.

The inventor is Mr. Ernst Weib, an Englishman, and his experiments with medium-sized rockets are said to have proved that such showers burning high in the air, can cover an area of 100 square yards, and can ignite any object within that region. The experimental rockets, it is claimed, can climb to a height of five miles.

The rocket contains a destructive charge of 700 pellets, a regulating charge, a detonator, and a propelling charge. When it is to be sent aloft, it rests in a diagonal launching cradle, somewhat similar to those used for ordinary sky-rockets. When the fuse is ignited, the propelling charge sends the rocket soaring out of its cradle. Thereafter, at regular intervals, it is given fresh impulse by the bursting of additional charges.

For use as defense against raiding aircraft, the inventor says that batteries of the rockets could be shot upward in the form of a barrage. The pellets from themselves out quickly, so that the rockets could be used over a city.

World Have Preserved For Predatory Animals

A wild life preserve, not for deer and elk, but for predatory animals such as mountain lions and wolves, has been proposed by Prof. Charles C. Adams of the Roosevelt wild life forest experiment station, at Syracuse, N. Y. Professor Adams points out that at present all the protection goes to the game animals and live stock, and that the beasts of prey, which are in their own way very interesting animals, are in danger of being wiped out. He suggests that a reserve isolated spot far from cattle ranges and game preserves be left to them and to the animals on which they prey, as a sample of absolutely primordial wilderness as it was before man arrived on the scene. Such a thing is not possible, he pointed out, in the national forests, which are organized and run for economic purposes. Neither is it possible in the national parks, which are made primarily for the recreation of great numbers of people whose presence necessarily disturbs natural conditions. (Such a reservation, he concluded, would have to be in an entirely new category, though it might well be administered by either the forest service or the national park service.

Began Life Work Early

Two men who have been considered the most famous clown stars of the world are a very odd pair. Joseph Grimaldi, the great fun maker of England, made his first bow to an audience as the Little Clown at the age of one year and eleven months. By the time he was three years old he was a regular member of the company at Sadler's Wells Theatre, being cast in the serious part of "The Little monster."

Creation of States

Congress in 1781, in order to prepare the state having claims on territories west of the Alleghenies or elsewhere, not included within their confines, to relinquish such claims, promised that it would not hold land intended to it as subject territory, but would erect it into states of moderate size and rapidly so population should warrant. This promise has been kept 82 times by the government. It was made from Maine, Vermont and Florida, all the states in addition to the original thirteen have been born in accordance with it.

Prisoner's Fate Left To Trial by Jury

As recently as the beginning of the nineteenth century the populace of Iowa, more than two centuries ago, in the case of a man reputed to be a sorcerer, upon, on peremptory ruling to the jury, was pronounced guilty and hanged to death.

Griffin mentions many instances of water ordeal in Brittany, Saxony, and other countries, and it was in use in Scotland from a very early period. In the primitive jurisprudence of Illinois, ordeal by boiling water was included in cases of minor importance, to the nineteenth century we find burning from ordeal, "ordeal by water" at stake amounted to more than half of the ordeal.

A curious survival of ordeal jurisprudence prevailed still quite recently in southern Russia. When a theft was committed in a household the servants were summoned together and a sorcerer was sent for. Should no confession be made by the guilty party, the sorcerer rolled up as many little balls as there were suspected persons present. She then took one of these balls and, addressing the accused servant, said: "If you are guilty you will feel the ball will sink to the bottom of the vase, but if you are innocent it will float on the water."

The accused of this trial, however, was seldom tested. The guilty person usually confessed before his turn arrived for the ordeal.

Indian Had Effective Method of Fire Making

The most widespread method of making fire practiced by the American aborigines at the time of the discovery of America by Columbus was by rubbing sticks of wood on wood and lighting the ground-off particles through heat generated by friction. It was the most primitive and most effective method known to the aborigines. The apparatus in its simplest form, consisted of a slender stick of wood, about the size of a pencil, or drill and a lower piece or hearth, upon the border of which the stick was worked by twisting between the palms, creating a spark. From the socket of the drill a small hole in the edge of the hearth, the function of which is to collect the powdered wood ground off by the friction of the drill, as with the hand made the first kind of the ignition point. This is the simplest and most widely diffused type of fire-making apparatus known to an civilized man. Some of the tribes also used and perfect the primitive method of flint and steel, which is supposed to have been introduced into America through Scandinavian contacts or from Europe or Asia.

Cost of "Lifting" Oil

The bureau of mines says that from 10 to 30 per cent of the total cost of producing petroleum may be charged to lifting the oil. Although the lifting cost ranges from less than three cents a barrel at flowing wells, producing several hundred barrels a day, to $5 a barrel, at wells producing less than a fifth of a barrel a day, the lifting cost per well may range from more than $1,000 at large flowing wells to less than $100 at small ones in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and California. In some fields as many as 100 barrels of oil were pumped only a few hours a week, in most of the oil fields of New York and Pennsylvania, where the average daily production per well per day is less than one-fourth of a barrel.

Authority on Cards

The expression "according to Hoyle" refers to Edmond Hoyle, a writer on games, who was born in England in 1733. Little is known about Hoyle's life. Tradition says he was educated for the bar. At any rate, he went to London, where he spent much of his time writing on games and giving lessons in card playing, especially whist. He published a book in which he gave a game on which he was considered an authority on games. Playing a game "according to Hoyle" came to mean playing it fair and according to the recognized rules. Hoyle died in London in 1793.—Kansas City Star.

A Piece of Arico-Brac

By MARGUERITE R. ALLAN

(By 1215, Western Newspaper Union.)

SHE settled herself back in the chair as the train pulled out of the station, and she had a little glimpse of her husband waving his hand. That good-bye, Edward had continued to her going to New York last night, even if it were only for three weeks. She felt that she could not have tolerated the burden of a long absence from that suburban village any longer. Some women couldn't stand matrimony. And marriage was something strange that once she had thought a bane and burden, she now found it the most desirable thing in the world, and now that Edward was gone, she looked down at her wedding ring and saw, very clearly, removed it from her finger and slipped it into her handbag. She was going to forget that she was Mrs. Edward Williamson, and use her old name—Amy Carter—again.

In New York she found a room at a second-rate hotel where her girlhood seemed to her the height of luxury. She liked the hotel and noise, the plush-covered chairs, the gilt carving in the dining room. When she went to bed at last she left the electric light burning for a long time, taking a little pleasure in what the hotel would have considered wastefulness. The following evening there was a knock at her door and a red-haired woman burst in. She was wearing a beautiful, rich, dark dress, and from flows of pearls swung from her face. "I say," she said, "you look like me!"

"I'm . . . I've afraid I've smudged my eyes," said Amy protesting to be sure for the first time.

"No, no! Come on into my room—I've plenty. My name is Flo Wright. Have this room next to yours."

She led the way, throwing a question to Amy over her shoulder: "You in the profession too, dear?"

"No, no, understanding, murmured that she was doing nothing at present. "Same here," said Miss Wright. She settled herself in a chair and lit a cigarette. Her room was in great disorder—dresses spread over the bed, and dirty naps slipped down across the floor. On the dressing table was a formidable array of jars of rouge and powder, their tops missing. "I hope I couldn't make a bit to the left."

An actress then! Amy looked at the woman with the flaming bobbed hair and crimson lips. She seemed a fascinating creature. How Amy envied her. She longed to question about her life, but just then the telephone bell rang and Miss Wright slipped off the bed to answer it.

She matched up a cloak. "Come in and breakfast with me tomorrow," she said. "I'll be glad to see you."

"You're married, aren't you?" asked Amy. "All right," said Miss Wright. "I'll be glad to see you."

Span of Worth-While Life Has Increased

In the time of Caesar the average Roman lived only eighty years. Most of the great heroes and villains of the French revolution had made their mark and gone to the guillotine before they were thirty-five. In medieval times the average age of the best known public figures was thirty-two years. Today the average age of our nation is seventy-two years.

Apparently this is not, as some say, the work of the young men. It is the work of the most part by older statesmen, elder corporation presidents, elder professors. There is comfort in that, too, for those of us who are not infrequently charged with the hope that there is plenty of time ahead in which to do our best.

The span of life, increasing century by century, gives splendid proof that science is worth while, what the race has taken to help the marrow, that fatalism is a barren philosophy and that man can indeed lift himself by his mental bootstraps.

The element pottering with test tubes, the biologist losing himself in the jungle, the engineer digging, the surgeon polishing the knife, the physicist weighing dust and moisture, these are the life-layers, building toward the future. And there is more to know and much to do. And thereby the future would have been made to live, and minds and bodies that would have worn out at forty are hale and strong, doing their work and getting their lives from the hand of God—Collier's Magazine.

Hope to Find Skeleton of Hiss England

The caves of Tisbury, near Newton Abbot, in England, are being searched by the geologists for the skeleton remains of a biped. In the middle of last century a Tisbury hunter named Wedger found most of his leisure time for twenty years searching some of the natural caves and found the remains of bears, wolves, foxes and hyenas. His most startling find was that of the tooth and part of the forebrain of a biped. Experts have signed for years after the latter discovery, and a systematic search of the caves is being made in the hope that the rest of the bones of the river monster will be found. It is common knowledge in scientific circles that, in the different areas of the Great Britain peat bogs, wolves, foxes and other wild animals ranged the country, but, in regard to the situation of the caves, it is contended that there would be little water to wash away the bones. Beneath the natural floor of one of the caves signs of human habitation have been discovered.

Had reason to think so. He was being questioned by the court by a lawyer who considered him a great cross-examiner.

It Can Be Done But The Farmers Must Say So

That is, to make 80 per cent of the Cooperative Creamery butter in Minnesota. "LAND O' LAKES" butter.

LAND O' LAKES is the new name selected a year ago for the highest quality cooperative creamery butter. It must be made from strictly Sweet Cream and cream of only the finest flavor.

For butter to carry the LAND O' LAKES trade-mark, it must meet 90, or above, by Government inspection.

Five years ago not 20 per cent of the butter made in this State scored 88. Thus the cooperative creameries working together in their State Association they have gotten the quality of their butter up to as high as 94 per cent LAND O' LAKES.

The demand is so increased for LAND O' LAKES, Sweet Cream Creamery butter that 80 per cent of the output is now needed for that brand.

That of 111. Up to a year ago, not a sound of Minnesota cooperative creamery butter was sold under its own name. Now, a good sized train load is sold every week under the brand LAND O' LAKES.

But to get enough LAND O' LAKES butter and to keep the quality up to that high standard, requires not only the cooperation of the creameries, but that of the public. The farmers must take a hand in the work and say that this high quality butter can be produced in every cooperative creamery in the State.

LAND O' LAKES must start back on the farm with the milking, and separating and cooling the cream, and washing the separator and milk utensils. Bad flattery, due to lack of thorough cleanliness, knows no rest at the LAND O' LAKES case every time.

Remember, that LAND O' LAKES is the first trade-mark the farmers of Minnesota have ever owned. It would not be sold for a million dollars by the Creameries' Association today. It is worth working for.

Separate the cream with a clean separator. Cook it in old water. Let creamery after separating. Get the cream to the creamery 4 times a week. Use water wash by hauling with the separator. Wash with the brush. Let us have LAND O' LAKES dairy farms.

Make LAND O' LAKES the greatest trademark of any food product in the world. It can be done.

Mrs. Helen Chelin Passes Away

After an illness of about two weeks, Mrs. Helen Chelin passed away Saturday morning at her home in this village, death being caused by pneumonia. She had not been in heat of health the past year which weakened her otherwise robust constitution and left her in no condition to withstand the ravages of the disease.

Mrs. Chelin was born in Sweden, August 17th, 1854 and was 70 years, 8 months and 8 days of age at death. Mrs. Chelin and husband came to this village in the nineties and conducted a restaurant for some years, later moving to Thief River Falls where they operated a hotel for about twenty years. Mr. Chelin died in that city a few years ago after which Mrs. Chelin sold her interests and moved back here to spend her declining years. She was a plain spoken woman, ever ready to stand for what she believed was right, but she was generous to a fault. It is said by those who are in position to know, that none were ever turned away hungry from her door whether they were able to pay or not.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. O. Soderling who resides in Duluth, and by two sisters in Sweden. Mr. and Mrs. Soderling's children were here for the funeral which was conducted by Rev. A. F. Nelson from the Swedish Lutheran church Tuesday afternoon. Interest was made at the Swedish cemetery east of town. Sympathy of numerous friends in this village and vicinity is extended to the bereaved relatives.

Jas. A. Dahl, Harold Holmoe, Paul Borgie, Gust Vaglin and Eliza Peterson were at Thief River last Thursday to attend a meeting of assessors for the State Tax Commission was present and addressed the meeting explaining points and methods of doing the work correct.

Application has been made to the State and Game Commission for a shipment of wildfowl pla fry to be planted in the river at this point. If the supply holds out, the fry will be here first part of May.

Wendell Conbeit has moved his hardware outfit into the Ducharme shop and will continue to ply his trade there instead of maintaining a separate establishment of his own.

Regular hand practice was held at the depot last evening.

Soybeans A Valuable Crop

If flaked meal is worth $50 per ton, ground soybeans are worth $48 as a protein feed for dairy cows, according to R. S. Dushane of the Northwest Experiment Station. An acre yield of 10 bushels, including all split beans, is worth $21 for such feed.

For hog-raising purposes, station experiments have shown that soybeans and corn produced 7 cents more profit per acre than corn and tankage and $6.27 more than corn alone. As a hay, soybeans contain as much digestible protein as alfalfa, more than red clover, and almost four times as much as timothy. Flaked corn from 2 to 3 tons per acre. Where little or no legume hay is fed, soybeans make a valuable supplement to corn for all-ens. Yields vary from 4 to 8 tons, green weight, per acre when planted two feet apart.

Soybeans are an annual legume obtaining part of their nitrogen from the air via the alfalfa and clover. They are planted about the same time as corn with either drill or corn planter in rows to be cultivated.

Varieties recommended for the Valley are Wisconsin Blackie for general purpose and Cheesnut and Manchu for hay or silage.

Seed may be obtained for $3.50 per bushel this year. Rows two feet apart require one-half bushel per acre; planted with corn planter, a little over a bushel is sufficient.

A chapter of the Inack Walton Club has been organized among sportsmen at Thief River Falls. Among other things contemplated by the club will be an effort to have Thief Lake flooded again and made into a hunting preserve.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Soderling, who are visiting friends at Thief River, motored down yesterday to look after matters in connection with property of her mother, the late Mrs. Chelin. They have today for their home at Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. Knute Koteled motored Sunday morning from their place on Water street to Mr. Koteled's residence across the river. They expect to remodel the place and build an addition to it this summer.

Merlin Shown, who is employed by a large commercial printing concern in Minneapolis, writes that he will be home for a visit in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Solis of Olmsted are visiting here with Mr. and Mrs. Hane Nyland. Mrs. Nyland and Mrs. Solis are sisters.

Alfred Hallett's new barn is taking shape, a number of other barns and smaller buildings are going up throughout the district while many more are contemplated for this summer all of which indicates that confidence in the part of Minnesota is on the upgrade instead of on the wane.

Crops Look Good

Crop conditions throughout the north-west which includes Minnesota, North and South Dakota, were nevertheless that they are at present, according to statements from hundreds of crop communities in that district. Most grain was in the ground from two to three weeks earlier than usual, which, together with favorable season, should insure the Northwest another good crop year.

Knute Koteled has bought the former King residence and lot adjoining his place across the river. He has started to demolish the house and will use part of the material for building an addition to his own. With the additional ground, and improvements contemplated, Knute will eventually have a fine place of property.

Starting Friday this week a good deal of personal property becomes valueless in this state, that being the date when the assessor begins his annual task.

During the past week much bad weather prevailed here, snow fell west, north, and east which no doubt accounts for the trend of weather handled out here.

Train Grabs Radio Stuff From Air For Its Individual Passengers

No. 4, Pioneer, on the Great Northern Radio train car. No. 2, Grandma Hester is on the Oriental Limited. No. 3, Kew, the kids enjoy the center. No. 4, Each passenger has a set.

St. Paul, Minn.—The Great Northern Railway's plan for radio reception on its transcontinental train, the Pioneer Limited, involves the elimination of the ubiquitous loud speaker and the dissemination of radio broadcasting only to passengers who may be interested without disturbance to those persons who may wish to read, sleep, or otherwise amuse themselves without interference. Under this plan individual head sets will be attached to each chair of the observation parlor, and supplied to each compartment.

The Great Northern is just commencing a test of radio possibilities over its system during which an experimental type of third compartment observation car was equipped with all accessories and with two types of radio equipment, one a superheterodyne with interior loop, and the other a commercial set of the type used by local broadcasting stations to pick up SSB signals right under the "nose" of their own high power stations. This set is equipped with outside antenna.

The first of the radio sets is for the purpose of determining the most effective receiving set under conditions existing on the Great Northern Railway.

During the trip, the car from St. Paul to the Coast and return practically every station of any size from Buffalo to Los Angeles was received clearly, and while the car was in the state of Washington, it caught through a special program from the Seattle Times broadcasting from the Olympic Hotel which it picked up through the wire and broadcast to its acknowledgment of telegrams were put on the air. During the day's stay at Cut Bank on Easter Sunday, Easter services were received with clearness from Denver, Colorado.

Even if there's a family car in your garage, you need a FORD to keep her from being stranded when you are using the big car yourself and you're saving the cost of a FORD in extra upkeep if you use a big car for the little journeys that make up a woman's day.

Gas Tax Now In Force

Starting last Friday, motorists in this state began paying an extra two cents per gallon for their "juice" in form of gas tax. All states that make any pretensions of having good roads have a gas tax of from one to five cents per gallon. When consideration is given the fact that additional revenues raised by the state by this method, is used only for good roads purposes, it is evident the motorist is not losing anything. In South Dakota where a gasoline war is in progress, gas is selling at 23 cents per gallon inclusive of tax. It is likely the state also as the season advances in which case those who stock up on fuel may try to avoid the tax, may lose more than they made.

$350,000 Suit Filed

The receiver of the closed Merchants National Bank at Crookston has filed suit against former officers of the bank for $350,000 alleging recovery on part of those officers in lending money without proper security, also favoring other banks in which they were influenced by lending. Among the officers named are such well known men as A. D. Stephens, W. E. McKinnis, Marcus Stephens and V. L. McGivney.

Five Tragedies

A mag struck a match to see if the gas in the tank in his automobile was good. It wasn't.
A man patting a straggly bull dog on the head to see if the critter was affectionate. He wasn't.
A man stepped up to see if he could beat the train to the crossing. His coat's.
A man touched a trolley wire to see if it was charged. It was.
A man cut out his airtailing to see if he could save money. He didn't.

The U. S. Laffey Office at Crookston wound up its affairs May 1, and shipped its records to the office at Cape Lake. A number of land offices through the Northwest closed the same day in accordance with an action by Congress early in the spring.

Community Club Meets

Final spring meeting of the Community Club held at the school building last Friday evening was marked by the best attendance of any meeting in the season. The St. Hilaire Orchestra rendered a very fine musical program which met with enthusiastic approval of all present. Supt. H. F. Anderson gave a short talk on school matters which was well received. After the program proper, those attending were given opportunity to view the school exhibit which consisted of different kinds of work done by pupils in the different rooms. The home class, manual training, spelling class, sewing, drawing and penmanship classes all had excellent exhibits of their work all of which was a fine recommendation of the work being done at the school. Lunch was served by the Senior class.

Senior Class Play

The senior class of the local high school will present their class play "Climbing Through", a three act comedy-drama, at the Imperial Hall on Thursday and Friday evening, May 14 and 15. The class is putting in some hard work on their play, and all will want to see it. The play is something good. The St. Hilaire Orchestra will furnish music during the evening.

Household Necessity

The modern woman needs a FORD and the modern way of buying—a little down and a little each month—makes it possible for you to supply her with one as easy and pay for it as installments that are spread over so many months that none of them are hard to meet.

Make it easy for her to take the kiddie to school, keep her social engagements, attend to her duties as a housewife.

Even if there's a family car in your garage, you see her a FORD to keep her from being stranded when you are taking the big car yourself and you're seeing the cost of a FORD in extra upkeep if you use a big car for the little journeys that make up a woman's day.

The play fairly brims with humorous incidents, and no one should miss the pleasure of seeing it.

Seniors Are Guests

The graduating class at the local high school were guests of the Junior class at an elaborate banquet given at the school auditorium last evening. Visit Warren Lodge Monday

A party consisting of four auto loads of members of the St. Hilaire Lodge I. O. O. F. No. 247 motored Monday evening to Warren to spend a social evening with the lodge of that city. In connection with the visit, the members from here went as a delegation to present Henry W. Peterson, a member of St. Hilaire Lodge, just now residing at Warren, a 25 year veteran jewel in recognition of his having been a member of this lodge for 25 years.

On March 9th, nine years, W. A. Arthur, now residing at Rose Lake, Idaho, was presented with a similar jewel jointly by Cataldo Lodge, No. 110 of Rose Lake and St. Hilaire Lodge, presentation being made by the former lodge which Mr. Arthur now attends altho he still retains the membership here.

To have been a member of the I. O. O. F. for a quarter of a century is no small honor, one that but a small percentage of the membership attain. While the instance value of the jewel is not great, the association connected with receiving one is beyond price. The local lodge feels proud, indeed, of having these members on its rolls who are entitled to have and wear the 25 year veterans' jewels.

Would Close Station

A hearing was held recently before a representative of the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission, at Hazel, to take evidence before acting on a petition by the Soo to close the railroad station at that point. No action will be taken until all evidence both for and against is on file and considered by that body.

Electricity As Farm Power Stands Tests

More than $14,000 worth of electrical and farm equipment has been loaned by 59 different companies for practical efficiency tests on the eight farms making up the rural electric project out of Red Wing. Sixty-one meters have been installed on the eight farms to measure the current used in the various operations. The project is under the supervision of E. A. Stewart of the agricultural engineering division, University of Minnesota.

Several comparative tests of the cost of gasoline and electricity for threshing grain, pumping water, banking and shoring corn and sawing wood have been made on the farms. In every case, says Mr. Stewart, the cost of electricity at three cents per kilowatt-hour has been less than the cost of gasoline and oil used in doing the same work.

It was found, too, that when there is a ready market for wood and an opportunity for the farmer to utilize his time to good advantage in doing things besides cutting wood, it is economy to use electricity for cooking rather than use wood. One of the farm families weighed the amount of wood used for cooking purposes after paying 6 cents to have, split and pile it. The actual cost of the wood as delivered in the woodbox last December was slightly greater than the cost of electricity used during the family cooking in January.

The End of the Road

By DUFOUR JENNE

(St. Hilaire Spectator Special)

SEWARD stared at the figures on the paper before him, and a dark, deeper than the dark of the night—west city outside settled upon him—the black darkness of despair.

"That means good-bye to my business—good-bye to my dreams of a home with Avery," he muttered, and he and his dreams would be sad—sad!

Martin! The name stung! If he only knew what Martin would do on that special contract—the only man in a position to take the contract from him!

Then—Avery! She was Martin's special stenographer. She could get the figures of Martin's bid; and he, Seward, could bid just a point under—and he and his dreams would be sad—sad!

Just to get those precious figures—that was all a little thing to do. Martin was unscrupulous; why not play his game against him!

The perplexing bribe out on Seward's forehead; the office air seemed clear. Then he thought of Avery, blue-eyed, pretty, waiting five long years for him to get his business going—and now!

Seward jumped to his feet and snatched his desk cover down. The end of the road, pitching down before him into a dark pit of despair, of lost hope, and ashes of dreams. No! Nothing but that—anything but that!

His mind repeated.

He hurried to Avery's boarding house.

She listened with widening eyes to be not reasoning as he explained the situation.

As he finished, she came to him and spoke gently. "Dear, you are half-crazy. You don't want me to do this. I know he does dishonest things in our way of looking."

"Avery, it's that or nothing! If you won't help, why—I simply give up! If you fear to do this, I'll do it myself!"

He felt her white-faced and trembling, but she assented.

Her good-night kiss was as warm and tender as of old, but her small hand lingered long in his, and even through his stormy mind for an instant flashed a feeling that it was the hand-clasp of farewell, but the feeling passed.

He slept that night the deep sleep of exhaustion that follows hours of anxiety—the peace of a crisis passed, a decision made right or wrong.

In the morning a messenger brought her note—and the precious figures were his.

Swiftly he made out his papers and mailed them; then back to his office he went—his future and his business secure, the travail of the long years at end.

He took Avery's picture from the little folder in his desk and looked long at the serene, gentle face that meant so much to him. He dreamt a bit of the days to be with her.

"If I can only be worthy of her be thought—and with the word 'worthy' something broke within him. The distorted vision of his over-wrought mind cleared, cold white seemed to blow upon, chilling the fever with it, in him, and he saw no longer Avery.

He sat dumb, stricken. "And I using her love for me, drove her into this! I must have been insane!"

There was just one thing to do. He grabbed his hat, passed at the door of the office and looked back. "The end of the road for me and my hopes, but it isn't going to end in dishonor!"

Fifteen minutes later he was snatched into Martin's private office. The harsh face of the older man turned to him questioningly.

Quietly, frankly, Seward told him the whole story, not sparing himself in any way—how he had driven Avery into her act; and he said in closing: "Of course, I shall not undertake the contract even if I get it."

Martin toyed with a pencil. "A shady matter that seemed to win. Young man, I show no mercy in this game—I get none in my youth."

Seward's heart sank as he watched the impassive face. If Martin bid as he could do, it meant disaster for Avery and himself—public shame for Avery! His lips went dry.

"Follower," Martin went on, "Miss Hudson came to me and told me what you wanted. I gave her the figures."

Stunned as it by a blow, Seward stared at him, then leaped to his feet with a strangled cry. Avery had told him!

Martin rose himself. "I hate to lose her, but this waiting game is ridiculous. Marry her—she will play the game with you, and you'll both be all right. And besides, it may interest you that I am not going to bid for that contract—it is yours!"

You have hung on gamely, and I estimate trouble, lad. I'll send her in."

A few moments, and the door opened. Avery came in, her clear eyes finding his, the low light tender and glad within them. As he gathered her slight form into his heavy arms and clasped upon him with warm and comforting meaning that what seemed like the end of the road is really the beginning—that any road traveled with faith, hope, courage, and love, as we comrades know no ending except its beginning.

Class Play A Success

The Senior class play "Climbing Through" was given before crowded houses at the Imperial hall last Thursday and Friday evenings, and was a big success from every viewpoint.

The cast had their parts down to perfection, and each portrayed the character which he or she represented, true to life. The rounds of applause following each act showed well-merited approval of the audience both evenings.

The fine annual numbers between acts were enjoyed repeatedly. Those in charge of the production as well as all members of the play cast are elated over the splendid success attained. "Climbing Through" won the hearty approval of all who saw it, and the Class of 1925 is to be congratulated.

Leave On Auto Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Abbot, accompanied by Mrs. Anton Abbot and Mrs. B. E. Borker left yesterday morning on an extensive auto tour, the objective of which is to visit at their former homes at or near Valders, Wisconsin. Enroute they will visit at Big Lake, where they will go to Minneapolis and visit briefly with his sister. In Wisconsin they will visit at Manitowish, and with relatives at Valders. They expect to leave Wisconsin in time to arrive in Minneapolis for the Norse Centennial in June after which they will visit again at Big Lake before returning home about the 20th of June. Mr. Abbot has not visited at his former home since 36 years ago, and anticipates making a great many changes in that section.

Sunday School Social

A Sunday School Social will be given at the local Mission church next Saturday evening the 22nd. A good program will be given. Rev. W. Peterson of Warren will speak. Lunch will be served after the program. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Giese motored over Sunday from Grand Forks for a visit at the Jackson home. Mr. Giese returned home the same day, but Mrs. Giese and children joined her parents and brother on their motor trip to Bagley where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hauge. Mrs. Giese and children returned to Grand Forks Tuesday.

H. A. Olsen, local Ford agent, sold a new coupe car to Sheriff Ole this at Thiel River Falls last week.

Clean Cemetery Lots

About a dozen public-spirited women and men were at the Swedish Lutheran cemetery yesterday afternoon cleaning up a number of neglected lots belonging to people who have long since moved from the community.

There are a number of lots, however, that belong to people who now reside here, that need attention and it is to be hoped they will do their part to make "the city of dead" more presentable. A great many municipalities point with pride to their burial grounds, and there appears to be no valid reason why St. Hilaire should not do likewise.

The volunteer workers who spent their time yesterday have decided to go again Tuesday, May 26th, and would like the help of all who can possibly lay aside their duties for that afternoon, to come and assist. In case of rain, come the following day at the same hour, 1:30. Brush, scythes and grub hoes will be useful if you have one.

Let it deter none because they have no loved ones sleeping in the cemetery; the time may soon come to pass when they will. Come and join with others in this "labor of love" for which there is no recompense other than the satisfaction of a civic duty well done.

Play Seven Inning Game

The ball team motored Sunday to Middle River to meet the village team there for the first game. St. Hilaire has played this season. For some reason the team was not called until four o'clock. A few minutes before six, with the locals ready to bat, and the score standing 5 to 4 in favor of Middle River a deputy sheriff stepped on the ground and stated that no playing would be allowed after six o'clock. A return game will be played here next Sunday at which time the local team expects to have their regular lineup some of whom were missing at the game last Sunday.

The hand gave a concert on the street Tuesday evening prior to regular band practice. The open-air numbers were well received and shows the band is making headway fast. It is a good many years since St. Hilaire had an open air concert by its own band, and the boys were not lacking an audience Tuesday night.

John Norman, who has been ill most of the winter, was in town Tuesday greeting old friends. He looks as well as usual, and appears to be good for many more years.

Mrs. S. J. Larson has materially improved the appearance of her old residence property by giving it a coat of fresh paint last week.

The Bazaar held by the Ladies Aid of the New England church, closed last Saturday evening, drew a very large crowd. Many beautiful and serviceable articles were auctioned and the highest bids were made. Lunch was served after the sale.

Hazel Wants Agent

Citizens in and near Hazel have started a movement the object of which is to secure services of a permanent agent for the Soo station in that village. At a hearing held a short time ago, the committee was able to show conclusively that hotel men originating at that station was enough to warrant granting the petition for an agent.

With a creamery, grain elevator, livestock shipping association, three stores, and a large territory to draw from, there is undoubtedly enough freight handled at Hazel to more than cover the amount needed to secure the convenience of a regular agent at that station.

In further support of their contention, the committee states the Soo has offered an agent for four months of the year during high season, but this proposition does not meet with general approval as a year-round agent is wanted.

A report in a Twin Cities paper that the Soo contemplated closing the Hazel station in connection with its recently secured a station with a similar name in the southern part of the state.

Auction Sale

An auction sale of personal property belonging to the estate of the late Mrs. Helen Chellin will take place at residence of the deceased on Water street in St. Hilaire on Friday afternoon, May 29th, starting at 1:00.

The property to be sold consists of a complete set of household furniture, utensils, dishes, stoves, ornaments, garden tools and other articles such as are usually found in a well-appointed home. See bills for particulars.

Dance Here Friday

The Big local orchestra will give a waltz dance, at the Imperial Hall Friday evening, May 22nd.

Dr. Chapin, for the past forty years resident physician at Bagley, dropped dead a few days ago while visiting a patient. Dr. Chapin was one of the early settlers in the Bagley district and was very well known through that section.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Moe, accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Gustaf left last week for a visit with relatives and friends at the former places of residence near Cumings, N. D.

John Norman bought a new sedan car from St. A. Olsen, local agent, last week.

Plant Pike Fry

August Berglund and O. Gustaf motored over to Hazel last Tuesday evening to receive four eight gallon cans of walleye pike fry slotted by the Minnesota Game and Fish Commission for planting in the Red Lake River in response to an application placed with the commission this spring.

This shipment of fry come from the state hatchery at Glenwood and came through without mishap or accident. One of the cans was planted in the bend of the river above the Hauge place, another put in the old spring gully south of the north bridge, the third was placed below the race, and the fourth was planted past dam and part below the other dam. If it is fry live and thrive, it will mean plenty of good pike fishing here in a few years.

All persons interested in future fishing should make it a point to see that the minnows are not sold for bait purposes, or molested in any way.

Baseball Game Sunday

Next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 the Middle River baseball team will be here for their return game with the local team. This will be the first game on local grounds this season and a good turnout is desired. The home boys are well fixed for this game, so ball fans can be assured a real contest.

25 Years Ago

Los Adams started work at the Panno shop learning the barber trade.

Pike fishing was very good that week below the two dams here.

Due to low water in the river, which prevented driving of logs, the mill at Crookston was shut down.

Will Lemay, ex-registrar of Deeds, bought a 160 acre tract south of the village and was preparing it for a home.

A fire of unknown origin, destroyed a quantity of clothing, and did other damage in the summer kitchen at the H. O. Jackson place.

Under new leadership, the local band was going strong and showed prospects of becoming a real classy organization.

Fine Rain Friday

A working rain which started falling Friday evening and continued most of the night was worth a big run to this section of the state. Growing grain which is now well above ground, needed moisture for promotion of rapid growth. Farmers, which have been backward this spring due to cold weather, will be benefited greatly. There is sufficient moisture in the ground to carry crops along for several weeks. Never has crop conditions looked better at this time of the year than they do at present.

MIDDLE RIVER TROUNCED BY 12-2 SCORE

St. Hilaire Team Defeats Fine
Form. Large Crowd Witnesses
Opening Game Of Season.

In a return game played on the local grounds last Sunday afternoon, the St. Hilaire baseball team defeated the Middle River aggregation in a somewhat one-sided game, by a score of 12 to 2.

Sig. Bogh officiated on the mound for the locals, while Jorgvald Gustickson did the twirling for Middle River. The first innings of the game were very interesting as both teams put a good exhibition of airtight ball. St. Hilaire managed to cross the base first and ran their score up to 4 before Middle River scored a safe fly hit.

St. Hilaire's offense was well coordinated and right field which settled them two scores. From that point on, the local side swatted Gustickson's offerings readily and made the circuit safe, while holding their opponents to their original two scores.

Middle River has a good lineup and should make good showing as the season advances.

The local band was on deck and helped out the occasion by rendering a number of their poppy wms. Extra Melvin of Middle River and Norman Peterson of this village officiated as umpires, giving satisfaction to both sides.

A business meeting of the local W. C. T. U. will be held Monday evening at the Theo. Skatved home. Among other business transacted was the election of Madeline C. M. Grimwood and T. Skatved as delegates to attend the district meeting at Crookston, June 1st and 2nd.

Mr. Harry Conn accompanied by his son-in-law, Mr. A. C. Keweenaw and daughter, motored down from Middle River, Sunday afternoon. Mr. Conn drove on to Crookston and returned in the early evening, during which time the Keweenaw family visited friends in this village.

A good sized crowd attended the ball game between Middle River and St. Hilaire on local ground last Sunday. Quite a number of cars came down from Middle River, and Thief River had a good representation present.

HUGE THROG TO ATTEND CENTENNIAL

Giant Airships Will Fly To Twin Cities. Coolidge To Deliver Address.

As an indication of the huge throng of people that will attend the Norwegian American Centennial, at the Twin Cities, June 7-9, all sections of the grand stand and two main bleachers at the state fair grounds, Tuesday were placed in the reserve section, increasing the number of seats to 25,000, when one hour after sale of seats had opened, all tickets had been sold for the portion previously reserved. Mail orders totaling 5,000 were received Tuesday.

President Coolidge will have Washington for Minneapolis in his special train, and chiefs of the army and navy air service will make the trip by airplane. Wm. A. Moffat, chief of the naval air service, will arrive in Minneapolis aboard the giant dirigible Los Angeles, on Monday, and after its landing, there will be a public inspection of the airship. On Saturday, two of the fastest "bigger than air" machines to enter service, traveling at a rate of more than 200 miles an hour, will stage a sham battle in the sky. An airman will jump at a parachute, 5,000 feet above the ground.

On Monday President Coolidge will address the visitors. Introduction of loud speaking devices will permit the president's address to be heard distinctly by everyone throughout the bleachers.

Norway's official representative party will be led by Lars Ottefjord, who represents the Norwegian government. With him are Carl Hambo, representing the Norwegian parliament; Frederick Elving, representing the universities and colleges, and a host of other notables.

Programs of Norwegian music, played and sung by Norwegian musicians and surrounded in the mother tongue, will feature the week-end radio programs to be broadcast from W A M D, Minneapolis.

St. Hilaire Defeats Thief River in Slugfest; 21-4

The local ball team added another victory for this season when they met and defeated the newly organized team at Thief River Falls last Sunday afternoon by a score of 21 to 4.

The St. Hilaire "stickers" had no difficulty in connecting with anything offered them, and home runs, three baggers, two buggers and solo bingles were the order in every inning as the score indicated. Sigurd Engen and K. Christensen were on the mound for St. Hilaire while Ludwig Gushikson performed at the receiving end.

Pioneer Woman Called

Mrs. Charles V. Moran, well known pioneer resident of Black River township, died at the family home west of here Sunday afternoon, May 31st, at 5:30. She had not been in bed for long for some time, but her demise at the time was unexpected.

Mrs. Moran was born at Bismarck, Sweden on March 5th, 1862, and was 63 years, 2 months and 26 days of age at time of death.

She came to this country in 1884 and was united in marriage to Mr. Moran on July 16, 1888. To this union six children were born, five of whom their mother passed away today.

Since the family has grown up, have started homes on their own elsewhere, they have made mutual visits here. It happened that all with, exception of one daughter, were at home when their mother passed away Sunday.

Mrs. Moran has always taken an active part in work of her church of which she has been a member since it was organized. She and husband came to Black River 39 years ago, and they have played no small part in the upbuilding of that community.

Always ready and willing to assist wherever assistance was needed, always hospitable and generous, she was held in high esteem by all who knew her many good qualities, and her passing will leave a void not easily filled in Black River.

To mourn the loss of a kind and devoted wife and mother, she leaves her husband, Chas. Moran, three daughters, Mrs. Emil Lundsten of Alexandria, Minn., Mrs. N. H. Bergman of Webster, Wis., Mrs. C. J. Scheldorp of Minneapolis, two sons, Arthur of Webster, Wis. and Edward who resides at home. She is also survived by ten grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. J. E. Skidde of Chicago, and one brother, Ole Peterson of Lovell, Wyo.

DIPLOMAS ARE ISSUED TO 12 GRADUATES

Exercises Attended By Large Audience. Address By Rev. S. L. Tallackson.

Commencement exercises for the local high school were held last Friday evening at the school auditorium. The exercises opened with invocation by Rev. A. F. Nelson which was followed by a selection by the school Glee Club. Next was the salutatory address which was given by Pearl Simonson. The class history was next by Gushik Nelson after which the Glee Club gave another pleasing selection. The valedictory address by Agnes Grimrud was next on the program. Presentation of the class gift which consisted of a fine clock for the assembly room, was made by Eloche Castelnueve.

Supr. H. F. Anderson, in a few well chosen words, then presented the guests of the evening, Rev. S. L. Tallackson of Thief River Falls who gave a splendid address suitable for such an occasion. Rev. Tallackson's fine, forcible speaker and the school was, indeed, fortunate in securing his services for the exercises.

At conclusion of his address, presentation of diplomas was made by Rev. C. M. Gramrud, chairman of the board of education after which the audience joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

The exercises were closed after benediction was pronounced by Rev. F. Nelson.

Following is a list of the graduates of the class of 1925:

- George Wilson
- Darry Peterson
- Arthur Anderson
- Alma Berglund
- Julia Malquist
- Gushik Nelson

Veteran Conductor Is Dead

D. F. Miller, veteran Great Northern conductor, died yesterday morning at his home at Warroad from a heart attack which followed an illness of a month's duration.

Mr. Miller, better known as "Dinky" Miller, had been in employ of the Great Northern ever since it was organized, and he was also employed by the old St. M. & N. road, which later became the G. N.

He was the oldest conductor, in point of service, on this division, and is probably the oldest conductor on the entire G. N. system. He has been a familiar figure on this branch for many years, and was well known by thousands of travelers who will miss his cheery greetings for which he was famous.

The remains will be shipped today to Seok Center where funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Sells Many Coolers

The local creamery has taken the agency for a typical cream cooler that is meeting with general approval. The cooler consists of a heavily built circular tank and is equipped with cone. Keeping the cream cool and sweet is accomplished by simply pumping the tank full of cold water two or three times a day, according to weather conditions. Thus far 25 tanks have been placed with patrons, and folks that number more have been spoken for.

A Second Ruhr District

Two Cities paper have adopted a very optimistic tone in regard to present and future outlook for the Northwest. Opening of the big Ford plant at St. Paul, prospective expansion of large and stationary service on the Mississippi; with new industrial plants looking toward the Northwest as the logical place for expansion, and with crops prospects the best they have been for years, the Two Cities have reason for feeling optimistic. Location of the Ford plant as this state is considered a strong indication that other manufacturers will soon follow suit due to ideal location for trade as well as being close to the source of iron which now plays a large part in most manufacturing. It is predicted that before many years have passed, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth will become the centers of a large industrial district within the Ruhr district in Germany which contains the largest part of the manufacturing plants in that country.

Section 27 of the Minnesota Co-operative laws which prohibits third parties from handling or purchasing produce for members of any co-operative organization in this state, has been declared unconstitutional by a recent ruling of the state supreme court. While co-operative marketing associations will have the same supervision over members in sale of their produce as before, the decision means they can have no supervision whatever over other parties who may purchase grain, eggs, poultry or other produce in open market.

Beautiful in Ruin

Former Dryburgh Abbey.
A beautiful ancient church, but a few old palatial or room has a message for people of the present day. It is as if the builders challenged the modern world in this wise: "There is our ideal of beauty; it is the life of one thing and makes a play in our progress. We are proud of the past, as in such expressions of beauty."

The abbey of Dryburgh lies in Berwickshire, just across the border north of Edinburgh. It was founded by David I in 1120, of the House of Stewart. Probably built upon an earlier site, the abbey was surrounded by moats, and a double wall and crown a peninsula around which flowed the Tyne river. Two gables are still entire, and in the west wall is a beautifully radiated clerical window, called the wheel of St. Catherine. The general architecture of the abbey shows Roman, Saxon, Norman and Gothic influences. We associate the spot principally with Sir Walter Scott, but Thompson, composed his "Widder" here, and long before Sir Walter, the friend of Chaucer, occupied a cell in Dryburgh abbey. Chaucer himself stayed some time here with his friend and rival.

Then She Knew All

There Was No Know
"Is this a speedometer?" she asked, as she tapped on the glass which covered that instrument. "Yes, dear," I replied to a sweet, gentle caller. "Don't they call that little dial lighted speedometer?" she asked, frowning the little illuminated dial. "Yes, honey," my words floated out softly at her feet.

"And is this the cut-out?" she inquired. "Yes, too," as I took my foot off the accelerator. Not more than 200 feet away from the car, she stepped out, a neat moving trim. "Just what on earth is this funny-looking pedal?" she said in a moment, as she gave the accelerator a vigorous push with her left foot. "This, sweetheart, is heaven," I said with enthusiasm, as I picked up a gold ring and flew away.—The Watchman Examiner.

Days of the Guilds

The name "guild" was given to certain corporations or fraternities of traders that grew up in the free cities and towns of Europe in the Middle Ages. Free cities of this kind in England were called "boroughs." These corporations were most powerful in the towns of Flanders and South Germany. Each guild exercised a monopoly in its own particular craft, in return for which privileging the members rendered military service. In defending the towns from attack. The right to exercise a trade independently depended upon membership in a guild, which was a trade in itself with the rights of citizenship. The guild was expected to supervise the work of its members and to see that it was of reasonable quality. Henry VIII of England gave a final death blow to the guilds by conducting their property, on the ground that it was used for surreptitious purposes.—Chicago City Star.

Other Fish to Fry

The owner of an estate on which there was a lake was annoyed to see a stranger fishing there. He approached the trespasser and began to abuse him. "This lake," he said, "is primarily owned and I stocked it myself. You must get over it at once." "Just a minute, sir," said the fisherman calmly. "What did you stock the lake with?" "Trout," was the answer. "And I won't have—" "That's all right, sir," said the stranger peaceably. "I'm fishing for pike."—Bismarck Sunday Herald.

Tony Reamer Freed

Tony Reamer, held as a suspect in connection with the murder of Mrs. Eliza W. Reamer at the Northwest Angle country last winter, was freed last week when a jury at St. Cloud acquitted the evidence against him insufficient to warrant bringing him to trial.

It will be recalled that Mrs. W. Reamer, a bride of but a few weeks, was found stabbed to death in a lonely cabin in the "frozen north of Minnesota's last frontier" northwest of Warroad last winter. After considerable and hasty work was performed in bringing out the body to prepare it for burial, the coroner discovered evidence which led him to believe she had been murdered. She was found at Reamer and he was arrested at home of his father near St. Cloud. The suspected man has since been confined in jail awaiting ship hearing. Several people in the border country have at different times expressed themselves as shocked Reamer had nothing to do with the killing, and recall of the hearing has not this contention. County Attorney of Lake of the Woods County announced the matter will be further investigated, and the guilty party has to justice, it is his position to do so.

ST. HILAIRE WINS CONVICK GAME

Puts Over Winning Play In Ninth Inning. Local Team
In Good Form

The local baseball team brought home the home in shape of another victory when they met and defeated the fast Convick aggregation by a score of 7 to 6 at Convick last night after a game of nine innings. The teams were quite evenly matched and neither had much advantage over the other in securing at any point of the game. In the first half of the ninth frame, and with score standing 6 to 5 in favor of Convick, the outlook for victory was anything but promising. With two men down, Al Brick came to bat and was given a pass on balls. Big English next up, drove a short fly over second base. While the Convick fielder was tumbling to find the ball lost in the grass, Brick crossed the plate which tied the score. In meantime English landed on the third base sack.

anxious to bring in the winning score, English took a long lead and was caught off third. In the "dog chase" which followed, the Convick catcher mislocated a throw and struck English on side of the head which deflected the ball out of line and gave him opportunity to escape. Convick was unable to tie the score in their turn at the bat, and the game ended 7 to 6 in favor of St. Hilaire.

Weather permitting, the Convick club will be here next Sunday afternoon for their return game with the local team.

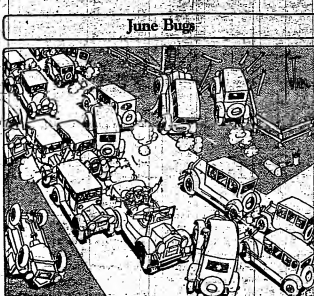

Convick has a fast team capable of putting up a game worth going miles to see, and they are coming determined to wipe out the sting of defeat received in last Sunday's game. They are a fine, clean bunch of real sportsmen, as all who can, should see them in action. It'll likely be the best game played on local ground this season, and so you should see it.

Cases in Britain Well Worth Tourist's Visit

Little as some might suspect it, there are some famous caves in Great Britain, and still more that deserve to be famous. The country is rich not only in the number, but also in the variety of type of the caverns which it contains. Best known among these caves are the Peck caves at Castleton, in Derbyshire and the Cheddar caves, in Somerset. The Peck caves has been known since the earliest times. No one could help feeling it, for it reveals holes and black in the cliffside side of that hill on whose dizzy crags Perceval of the Rock had his castle, says the World Magazine.

An ice-cold stream issues from its limestone recesses and underpasses across a stretch for into the hillside. This vast cavern has been explored for 2,500 feet.

The Cheddar caves do not advertise in so spectacular a fashion, although the Cheddar gorges is one of the most striking places of scenery in Great Britain. The first series of caves was accidentally discovered in 1838, through a man at work in the garden filling into the hillside. The second series remained unknown until 1908. Three limestone caves form a series of beautiful and lofty halls, hung with stalactites from the roof, and with heartily colored stalagmites rising from the floor to meet them.

Cancer in Lower Animals

Scientists seeking a cure for cancer have been attempting to find a solution for their problem and to learn more of the nature of the growth by producing it in animal specimens. Experimenting with rats and mice have shown that a certain kind of tar will cause cancerous formations after months after it is applied to the living tissue of the animals and it was believed that cancers were produced in the stomach of the specimens after they had eaten cornstarch, mixed with a certain kind of tar. While the cornstarch was not the cause of the cancer, it was believed that the tar was produced in the stomach of the specimens after they had eaten cornstarch, mixed with a certain kind of tar.

Painting Deceived Birds

Zenobia, a famous Greek painter, who flourished in the latter half of the fifth century B. C., is said to have painted grapes so naturally that the birds pecked at them. Zenobia was a young girl of Zenobia and in a competition between them the young artist was allowed by Zenobia to surpass him. It was on this occasion that Zenobia, perhaps the greatest of all the Greek painters, painted a bunch of grapes which were so natural that the birds pecked at them. Zenobia says tradition.

First Patent

The first inventor to take advantage of the first national patent act, which congress passed in 1790, was Samuel Hopkins of Vermont. His patent was for an improved method of "making pot and pearl ashes." In those days the potato industry was important and the by-product of "making pot and pearl ashes" was produced by leaching wood ashes and boiling down the lye. To make a ton of potato, which was worth about $20, the loss on an acre of ground had to be cut down to a bare minimum, the sales looked and the by-product in great loss—Kenyon's Companion.

Larson-Erickson

"A pretty good wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church when Miss Lillian Larson, daughter of Mr. John Larson, became the bride of Rev. G. H. Erickson, Minister of the Gospel, of Thief River Falls.

Miss Larson and her groom, Erickson, are both graduates of the University of Minnesota. Mr. Larson is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, and Mr. Erickson is a graduate of the University of Minnesota.

The bride is well known in this community having graduated from the local high school after which she attended Minnesota Academy. Upon her graduation she has held a position in Minneapolis.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Erickson of St. Hilaire, Minn., and is a graduate of Minnesota Academy after which he attended the University of Minnesota. They will live at Ashtabula, Kansas where Mr. Erickson has accepted a charge as pastor of the Methodist church.

The above excerpt from the Albert City Appeal at Albert City, Iowa, will be of interest to many people in this community where Rev. Erickson was reared and grew to manhood. He was a large circle of friends among the young people in this vicinity who join in wishing him and his bride a long and happily married life.

Returns From Tour

Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Nelson and daughter, "Gladys," returned last Thursday evening after a motor trip to Cambridge. While away, they enjoyed the pleasure of attending a reunion of seven pastors who were gathered at the same time as was their own. Mr. Nelson also visited his former pastor, Rev. Sten and delivered a sermon there on occasion of the 50th anniversary of the founding of that church.

Rev. and Mrs. Nelson spent about ten days at both of their summer homes. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will be in St. Hilaire for a few days before leaving for their home in Cambridge.

Dance Friday Night

A dance will be given at the St. Hilaire hall on Friday night, July 3rd. The dance will be given by the St. Hilaire hall and will be a very successful one.

St. Hilaire Winners

Opening of summer vacation early, the Goodrich baseball team played Sunday morning cancelling their return game with the local team which same was to have been played Sunday afternoon. Being so, the game had been widely advertised and a large crowd was expected. Manager Doehner prevailed upon the Midge River team to fill the date.

On such short notice, the latter did not have time to muster all the regular players but they collected a few and came down. First line innings both sides played straight ball, then St. Hilaire hit their batting stride and rolled the score up to 14 to 0 at end of the last frame. One of the largest crowds seen on the grounds here in later years, witnessed the game.

The home team is appreciative of Midge River's courtesy in coming as they say none there would have been no game.

T. B. Testing To Start

Testing of livestock for tuberculosis will start next in Minnesota at opening of the fiscal year, July 1st, at which time to state appropriation for purpose is available. Tuber tests at Red Lake continue are already on the state record list and Meeker County work will be completed soon.

If the Federal appropriation for this work matches that of the state, as it is expected it will, there will be close to a million dollars available for tuberculosis testing in Minnesota. To become eligible as "accredited" county must have less than one out of one percent of its cattle untested.

Livestock from accredited counties brings a higher price in the market than those from untested herds in other communities.

Quake In California

Severe earth tremors wrecked scores of buildings and did damage to extent of millions of dollars at Northridge, Calif., recent city in California Sunday the week. Sixty five persons reported to have lost their lives while hundreds are injured. Many lives coming thru from the coast country were hours late due to debris on the tracks occupied by slides in the mountains.

Previous shocks, of the same violence, were felt Saturday and Sunday in parts of Montana extending from Miles City west to the Idaho line.

Pleased With Country

Mr. H. C. Juhl and family left Friday morning to their home at Dunsmuir, Iowa after being here to look after matters in connection with a 240 acre tract of land owned by him near the Rothman farm east of town. Mr. Juhl stated, while paying a much appreciated visit to this office, that he and family had travelled thru goodly portions of Iowa, northern Minnesota and parts of North Dakota on the trip up here, and he had observed crops were fully on hand, and in some instances more advanced here than in the territory thru which they travelled. It was greatly estimated over the fine stands of alfalfa in this section, and made arrangements to have a good share of the land seeded into that popular crop. He stated that in Iowa as well as other older sections, it required considerable preparation in order to secure a good stand of alfalfa, whereas in this territory it appeared to grow without difficulty.

Mr. Juhl differed enthusiastically over the future prospects of this section for dairyland. He was impressed with good nights and long days of sunlight which is so different from his home state, and is looking forward to when conditions and time are right for himself and family to move here and make their home.

Starts Volume 45

Commencing with this issue, The Spectator starts publication of Volume 45, or in other words the 45th year of its existence in St. Hilaire. Started in early boom days, even before the railroad built through from Crookston, its existence has chronicled a good many interesting happenings and events in this village and surrounding territory during the past forty-four years.

A few old pioneers such as Wash Adams, K. O. Gignat and J. C. Dahl, who entered their first subscription with start of Volume 1, are still on the books as subscribers today. Many others have had it continuously for forty years or better.

The Spectator enters Volume 45 with the hope that the next ten years will witness more changes for the better in this territory, than has occurred in the past twenty years.

Louis, Rene and Harvey de Cathelineau will motor up part of this week from Winnipeg for a visit with their mother, Mrs. Louis de Cathelineau. The Cathelineau boys are all employed on state road construction work in vicinity of Winnipeg.

System Among Birds

Western Kingbirds, chickadees, nuthatches and creepers while working through the branches in quest of their insect prey, keep up an incessant humming so that they need apply their sharp eyes only to the problem of catching game. Their ears tell them just where their nearest neighbor is located. In this way much confusion is avoided. A bird does not crowd upon its neighbor; he picks fresh territory to hunt and all the while he can keep in touch with his fellows.

Mascot Flour

Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

One of those rare occasions that fall in the lot of but few married couples, a golden wedding anniversary, was fittingly observed by Mr. and Mrs. Anders O. Rolstad at their farm home east of here last Sunday afternoon. At the gathering were all the children of the returned old couple as well as seven grandchildren and a large number of neighbors and old friends.

Many interesting incidents of early pioneer life were recalled and many pleasant reminiscences were exchanged as the old friends gathered and talked over the days when the country was new and they started out to grow with it.

Rev. C. M. Grunwald, was present and gave an address suitable for such a happy occasion, after which, on behalf of those present, he presented the honored couple with a new silver mirror. Individually, the groom was presented a gold-plated cane, and the bride, a golden berry cane, as tokens of remembrance of having reached the fiftieth milestone in their wedded life.

At close of the prearranged ceremony a bountiful lunch was served and enjoyed by all. Despite their advanced age, Mr. and Mrs. Rolstad are both hale and well, and are able to do things that would be a credit to people twenty five years younger than they are.

Anders O. Rolstad was born August 12th, 1840 at Ness, Romerike, Norway, and Mrs. Inga Gurten, now Iver son, was born at the same place March 11th, 1844. They were married fifty years ago, July 5th, 1875 at Perry, Dixon County, Iowa and settled on dense heavily wooded land in Adams County in that state. In 1893 they moved to Walsh County, N. D. and settled on a homestead there. They came to their present place of about 1890 which has been the family home since, those having resided here 35 years.

All children of Mr. and Mrs. Rolstad were present at the golden wedding observance, they being: Ivar and Alfred Rolstad who reside in and here, Mrs. Josephine Halvorson of Melrose County, Minn., Clara Zilva, now of Duluth, and Miss Iva Rolstad.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stearns and family, accompanied by Maues Laursen and family, arrived Saturday morning from Minneapolis to spend the Fourth with relatives. They all returned home Sunday except Mrs. Stearns who will spend some time visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Simonson.

Plan Motor Trip

A representative from the North-west School of Agriculture at Crookston was here Monday interviewing interested people interested in making a trip to the school. Wednesday, July 22nd, was found to be the best available date for such a trip and that date was chosen. Farmers' Clubs, growers' associations and other organizations from towns in the Valley, make annual trips to the Crookston school. It is a very good school representative will go from here as the visits are productive of much good and are valuable from an educational standpoint.

Anyone interested in joining the tour will kindly see either Mr. Ired at the creamery, or A. F. Hall at the Farmers State Bank.

District Spud Meetings

The executive board of the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange has called three district meetings to be attended by county boards and trustees. They will be held on Monday, July 6, at Brainerd, July 9, at Cambridge, July 10th.

At the meetings, board members, trustees and the state executive board will govern the Exchange's operations and plan and consider plans for the coming season to decide upon a definite plan to present at the annual meeting to be held in St. Paul, July 21st.

Big Celebration

This village was nearly deserted the Fourth when the big celebration took place at Red Lake Falls. The band and baseball team were scheduled for one game there and, as both have a large following, their going drew a lot of the young people that way. Red Lake Falls is having a good program of sports, contests and amusements of various sorts, including a good display of fireworks. Everybody that went down from here expressed their desire to see it with pleasure, with the hospitality shown them at the lower Falls.

Supt. Cash Carter of the Red River Power Company plant at Red Lake Falls was here Tuesday installing some meters and making repairs on the line. Mr. Carter stated the company would have a crew here shortly after the Fourth at which time all street lighting units would be replaced with modern equipment.

Andrew Hauge left Wednesday for his home at Ralstad after spending about two months here with relatives.

St. Hilaire 12, T. R. F. O

One of the features of the big Fourth of July celebration at Red Lake Falls last Saturday was the hot game between the St. Hilaire Bears and the Thief River Fajla team. Interest in the game was intense, and not a little betting was done on the outcome. "Spiders" Tost occupied the mound for Thief River while Kellenbalm pitched the home for St. Hilaire. During fore part of the game it looked as though the contest would be close as both pitchers did some efficient work. The Bears, however, soon connected with Tost's offerings, Elgh and Durharme each clearing the pill for a home run. From that point on, the local team staged a hitting "feet" with singles and doubles coming along in quick succession. In order to stem the tide, Thief River put Robinson in instead of Tost, but the change had little effect. Kellenbalm pitched a masterly game, allowing but few hits. In first half of the last frame, Thief River managed to get two on with none down, and it looked as though they might be able to knock the "rim off the 'gones egg" but Kellenbalm had slight support, so the side was retired without having opportunity to polish the home slab. The game, which ended 12 to 0 in favor of the St. Hilaire Bears, was witnessed by one of the largest crowds ever seen at a game on the Red Lake Falls grounds.

Nest Sunday the Bears will cross bats with the Iron Rock Indians from the Red Lake Indian Agency. This game will take place as a feature of a big picnic at Dorob.

Old Pioneer Called By Death

Ola Stockstad, well known and highly respected pioneer settler in this community, passed away last Friday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. I. Rod, at Goodridge, from infirmities incident to old age. He suffered a stroke about two years ago and since then had been confined to bed most of the time unable to help himself, no death came as a blessed relief after prolonged suffering.

Deceased was born at Vaage, Gulbrandsen, Norway on Nov. 25, 1838 and therefore was 86 years, 7 months and 6 days of age when death called him.

Mr. Stockstad came to this country in 1879 and during the following year homesteaded near this village. After leaving the farm, the family resided in town where Mrs. Stockstad died six years ago.

During the past few years, Mr. Stockstad made his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hans I. Rod at Viking end, blessed with an abundance of good nature. He could always see the bright and happy things in life in preference to the opposite, and his association with others was always of a friendly nature.

Deceased was a sturdy man, blessed with an abundance of good nature. He could always see the bright and happy things in life in preference to the opposite, and his association with others was always of a friendly nature.

To mourn his departure, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. H. I. Rod at Goodridge, and a host of old friends in this community.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon by Rev. C. M. Grunwald, pastor of the local Norwegian Lutheran church, and interment was made in the cemetery east of town where Mrs. Stockstad also rests.

Sympathy of many friends in this village and vicinity is extended to be heaved relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Adams and son, former residents of this village, motored up Friday from St. Paul for a visit at the home of Mrs. Adams' brother, Neil Peterson. Their daughter accompanied them as far as Park Rapids where she stopped to visit with friends. They leave Friday this week for St. Paul where Mr. Adams has a very fine position with the Twin City Rapid Transit Company.

CAR OF MONTANA WHEAT SETS NEW WORLD'S RECORD FOR ITS PROTEIN CONTENT

Mother Nature Speaking Out of the Soil of Montana, Answers Widely Circulated Garret's "Pain in the Northwest" Article by Producing the Greatest Concentrated Protein Grain Kernel Ever Harvested.

Dutton, Mont.—A car of wheat which is believed to have carried the world's record for protein content, harvested near here, was shipped over the Great Northern Railway to Minneapolis and there in the world's greatest wheat market, created new interest in commercial circles than any single shipment of any kind that ever entered that city. It is all wheat seed of hard spring wheat in the United States carried the highest protein content of any wheat that is in this state, and the bakeries of the country could not wait for the arrival of the wheat until it was in the hands of the millers. The daily output of flour would not be lowered in the least. The wheat in this car graded No. 1, Dark Northern Spring, tested 16.5 percent protein, a protein content of 18 percent and brought a premium of 6 cents a bushel over that pay premium for high protein wheat. A considerable portion of this high protein wheat is produced by the Dutton millers who mix it with low protein hard winter wheat from the Northwest to improve the quality of flour they make from the hard winter wheat. Montana is the second state in production of hard spring wheat and produces a larger percentage of No. 1 wheat than any other state.

Dutton, Mont., is in the triangle made famous by Garret's "Pain in the Northwest" article entitled "Pain in the Northwest" written last year and dedicated to show that the Nation's bread basket had gone to the low north. It is obvious that the writer did not see very carefully through this district of Montana according to the United States Census Bureau. (The next station to Dutton who has farmed there also years and averaged more than 15 bushels in the last five years. It is only one season of the five years did he land the acre. Full take the sample of his farming so far as it is possible by carefully sowing following a portion of his land each season.)

All reports indicate that the wheat from the Red River Valley westward served by the Great Northern Railway, the Red River Valley westward to the Rocky Mountains probably the most promising there has been in any year. declared E. C. Leedy, General Agricultural Supervisor of the Great Northern Railway, in a statement today.

Use New Motive Power

The first gas-electric locomotive to be used for long distance work in this state, made a trip from Minneapolis to Thief River and return over the Soo line last week.

This same type of car has been used successfully for a number of years on the line from Thief River to Goodridge as well as on short lines in the state, but this is the first instance where long distance was attempted.

The Great Northern Railway Company is experimenting with similar cars, and should they prove to be the success expected of them, they will be used on all roads as a sort of railway bus. Less men will be required to operate a train of this type, and they also have the advantage of not being compelled to carry a heavy drag of coal and water which is the case of the steam locomotive. It will also be possible to make more frequent trips over any given run which is an important point, as success of motor buses in competition with railroads now is caused to a large extent by infrequent service on part of the railroads.

Chas. Julin Visits Here

Charles Julin, who with his family has spent the past two weeks at the home of Mrs. Julia's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Peterson, east of here, was in town Saturday for a visit with old friends. Charles, who is now foreman at the big sawmill at Fort Francis, was with the St. Hilaire Lumber Company when the mill was here 10 years ago. He was well known among the mill boys and well remembered by all the old gang who were here during those exciting days.

Get Rich Quick

Urgent unfavorable publicity given the plan, may cool local owners who have lately received circulars offering for sale, various "Bunkers Shares" of the Ford Motor Company of Canada. The plan, which is reported to have been rejected by the Ford Motor Company, consists of selling one share of stock into one hundred parts of "bunkers shares." These have value of one percent of a share and are sold at $10.00 each. These units are not readily available as is the case with regular shares, and the cost is more than twice what Ford Motor Company of Canada stock is selling for in open market.

A social dance will be given at the Farmers Club Hall at 8:00 on Friday evening this week. The St. Hilaire Orchestra will furnish the music.

Wins Picnic Game Sunday

The St. Hilaire band and baseball team motored to Dorothy last Sunday to fill a date at the big community picnic held that afternoon. The Red Lads Indians, who were to have met the local team made a change in plans last week which made it impossible for them to attend so the Crookston Hovers were substituted in their stead. The latter proved to be no match for the Indians who ran up a large score while holding their opponents to two runs. A big crowd attended the picnic from Dorothy and vicinity, and a good sized delegation followed the band and ball team down from here.

The band did some very creditable work which drew out a little favorable comment from the big crowd present.

Burn Klan Symbol

A burning cross, symbol of the Ku Klux Klan, was noted to western part of Thief River last Sunday evening.

This is the second occurrence of that kind to happen in Thief River within a few days, a similar being noted in west part of the town a few days before.

Ernest Nettel received a message last week stating his brother, William, had passed away at the old home at Chipewake Falls, Wis. Owing to short time remaining after receiving the message, Mr. Nettel was unable to go down for the funeral.

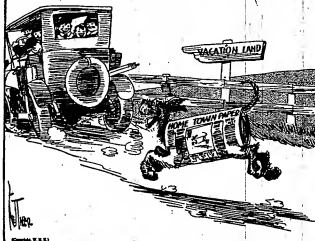

Miss Benoit left this week for a trip out to his former place of residence near Hazelton, Saskatchewan, Canada. Mr. Benoit owns a half section of land near that place, and it is to look after matters in connection with this, that he made the trip.

Mr. R. W. White, representing the department of re-education operating under the state board of control, was here last Friday looking after matters in which his department is interested.

The Ladies' Aid of the St. Paul church will be at home at the home of Mrs. Ole Olgund at Hazel on Friday this week.

People of St. Hilaire and vicinity plan a trip to the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston the 29th. School authorities have arranged an interesting day for the occasion. Such a visit will be of especial interest to farmers, and it is to be hoped as large number from here will go. For further information see A. F. Hill at the Farmers' State bank, and also Hilaire's Orchestra will furnish the music.

All men may pay to be able to work, but all men will not pay that they may work.

You can always tell a grass when it is full of weeds, for the flowers the weeds on her hat.

There is no use for the old ground in heaven—he would be surprised with the way the streets are paved.

Men who attract things that they know nothing about are disgusting a decided weakness in the upper story.

The women talk about dress and the fashion, and their neighbors—men talk about women. Animals wear men, men wear animals and their own business; men do not.

So the modern wife has something to be thankful for!

Care Needed to Keep Plants in Good Health

Gentlemen are occasionally asked to improve unhealthily window plants and to advise concerning their treatment. Very often it is found that the ill health of the plant is due to mistaken kindness on the part of the owner. For instance, it is damaged with water day after day, with the result that the soil turns sour and the plant becomes moribund.

Another not infrequent cause of trouble may be traced to erratic watering; that is, daily attention for a time and then a period of forgetfulness, during which the unhelpful plant receives no moisture, says Garbino. A third cause is not sun exposure, but the fact that the plant is placed directly in the sun and only by partial attention and close observation that the cultivator learns the exact requirements—the likes and dislikes—of individual varieties. Careful watering, occasional weak doses of stimulation and, in the case of aspidestras and other fine-foliated plants, occasional syringings of the leaves, will go for toward success in the care of pot plants.

Brides on Head

The African crowned crane derives its name from the curious fan-shaped straw-colored crest of very bristles that adorn the back of the head, and the crest of the bird is, in fact, a fan of bristles. The crest, with the long neck, bare face and bushy black feathers of the top of the head, give the bird a striking appearance.

Submarines

There are a number of things which make a submarine stay at varying depths in the water. First, this depends upon the size and weight of the boat; second, the density and condition of the water, and third, the mechanism of the boat. Some are built to be deeper than others. The most submarines are constructed so as to stay at a certain depth. The most submarines are constructed so as to remain at a depth of from 200 to 300 feet.

That the sign had been placed on No. 8 and marked "Roads to Winnipeg Impassable" it would have been somewhat correct. The truck road No. 32 and others connecting with it on the way to Winnipeg, has been passable all spring. A group of St. Paul tourists passing this way recently when the offending sign was up, and they paid the trip both up and back without experiencing any trouble. Tourists come thru here every day from Winnipeg and we have still to hear a word of complaint about the road not being passable.

PETER JOHNSON CALLED BY DEATH

Prominent River Falls Man Died Yesterday After A Short Illness

Peter Johnson, widely known and highly respected resident of River Falls township, passed away at his farm home southeast of here early yesterday morning after a short illness. He was taken ill about two weeks ago, and his condition was such that he hoped was held for recovery so death was not unexpected.

Mr. Johnson was born at Niskay, Denmark on October 5th, 1845 and therefore lacked only a little more than two months of being eighty years of age when death called him. He came to this country, settling at Maunabo, Wis. in 1873. Two years later he moved to Varnum, S. D., where he stayed six years before going to Berlad, S. D. In 1883 he was married to Hestera Hanson, who preceded her husband in death September 30th last year. The Johnson family home is at Berlad until they came to this community in 1904. Mr. Johnson farmed on a large scale until his retirement from active work a few years ago. Since then, his farm which is one of the largest, as well as one of the finest in this part of Washington County, has been operated by members of his family. Mr. Johnson was highly regarded as a good, substantial citizen, valued as a friend and neighbor, and was beloved by all with whom he came in contact.

To mourn his death, Mr. Johnson leaves a family of nine grown children who are: Axel, Mrs. Clara Hanson, Otto, Dag, Berna, Mrs. Ella Nyberg and Hestera Johnson all residing here, and Mrs. Emma Hauge and Frank Johnson at Bemidji, a brother, R. L. Johnson at Redwin, Wis., a twin sister, Mrs. Jea Jensen at Berlad, and a sister, Mrs. Hilda Hanson residing in Denmark.

Funeral services will be held from the family home at 1:30 Friday afternoon and at the local Norwegian Lutheran church at about 2:30 with Rev. C. M. Grimstad officiating. Interment will be in the cemetery of the late Mrs. Johnson in the family plot at the cemetery east of town.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family and other relatives.

The Espeland residence on North Broadway is receiving a great deal of business this week. Harry Gustafson and Elmer Johnson are doing the brush work.

Picnic At Maple Lake

A party of over sixty five local people motored to Maple Lake last Sunday and enjoyed a picnic on the grounds surrounding the Patterson Cottage. Weather conditions were ideal, and many of the party went swimming and boating in the lake which is at its best at this time of the year. A Woodmen of the World picnic was held in an adjoining park so those from here had opportunity to hear the Gorkin band which was there for the occasion, and also to hear the orchestra which furnished music for a dance at the pavilion in the evening. All from here had a fine time, and are looking forward to another outing at the lake before the season closes.

Apples Important Food
Apples are one of the best sources of iron for the diet. Hailstones have been advertised for their iron content. It is true that both fresh grapes and raisins as well as plums and prunes furnish this element, but the apple is the heaviest iron-carrying fruit that we can eat, having 50-100 per cent of iron in its weight.

Man-made World

"If I believed in fate I should shake a world where women would live upon shelves, above without legs. One would take them down when one wanted them; they would be delighted to be taken down, clasping their little hands, smiling like babies, and yet understand one's deeper thoughts. One would also take them down in the morning to do the house work; at other times one would take them down and have them with one as a stern and brave, until one came to need again the woman who would be akin to those very expensive dolls who give a spring. When one got tired of their repertory one would send them to the shop to have a different repertory put in."—W. L. George in "The Triumph of Chivalry."

ALUMNI ASS'N MAKES MERRY AT REUNION

Graduates of Local High School Meet in Festivity at The Imperial Hall.

Friday evening of last week, the Imperial Hall here was the scene of an event of singular interest. It was the annual reunion of the alumni of the St. Hilaire High School, the largest and most successful affair of its kind ever held here. The alumni, which has grown to a large number in the last years, was further augmented by the presence of numerous guests.

To get into the proper spirit of the occasion, old high school yells were given, which seemed at once to roll back the years, few though they are, and served to make the individual alumni feel "the old school spirit" returning again.

When everyone had arrived, a business session was in order, presided over by Paul Erickson, of the class of '24. The following officers were elected:

President, Alice Bricker, class of '23.
Vice President, Melvin Sherris, class of '22.
Secretary, Francis Soderberg, class of '23.
Milton Palmgren, class of '21, was appointed to head the executive committee.

The stage of the hall had been beautifully decorated in appropriate color designs. Upon the stage was seated the local eight piece orchestra, which, after the business of the evening had been dispensed with, played dance music. At about eleven o'clock a grand march was in order, and immediately thereafter all present, regaled by the Imperial Hall, to partake of a well appointed lunch, returning again to the hall after thoroughly doing justice to the victuals.

At about one thirty o'clock the orchestra played "Honor, Sweet Honor," signifying "It is over," and all alumni and guests departed for their homes.

It must be said the affair was a successful one, and it is hoped that the Alumni Association will continue to function, and that St. Hilaire will be the annual host to its sons and daughters.

Francis Soderberg and Melvin Sherris returned Thursday last week from Bemidji, where they have attended the state Teachers College.

They also saw the livestock, and visited the different buildings on the campus. All who went expressed themselves as being more than repaid for their trip, and all report having had a very fine visit.

MONTANA FARMERS HELP BUILD RAILWAY TO OPEN NEW EMPIRE TWICE SIZE OF RHODE ISLAND

Strip of Canadian Townships Lying Along the Border Also to Be Brought in Touch with the World by the Construction of 50 Miles of Railroad.

Bozeman, Mont., July—Eight hundred farmers have shipped in $125,000 worth of the Great Northern Ry. to build 50 miles of railway extension and a new empire about twice the size of the state of Rhode Island is being opened in Montana. This line which will be extended west from Bozeman, Mont., paralleling the Canadian boundary is to cost about $1,250,000. The farmers and a few business men present $125,000 of Great Northern railway stock at par and the Hill line will furnish the balance of the money needed to build the line.

This is the first time in the history of the Northwest that farmers have assisted in financing an extension line. These farmers have been having their grain to the coast by wagon and motor trucks, some of them being obliged to travel 50 miles to sell their products. Five new towns will be established in this region and each of these towns will draw grain, live stock and other farm products from about 10 townships, representing areas that equal the size of the average Montana township.

Twenty miles of this new railway will be completed this fall and the line will be built eastward. By next year when the road is completed, it is estimated no additional million and a half bushels of wheat will be marketed from this section. Most of the grain that is raised in this upper region of Montana is largely bought by Eastern buyers and it is sold on the market at a premium of 15 cents or more per bushel above ordinary wheat.

The new empire which the extension of this line will open is one of the most dependable wheat regions on the North American continent and for the summer fallow period of agriculture. There are about 1,500,000 acres here which will be cultivated to support this new railway extension. The farmers are to be paid in advance in September and plans are under way to build the most modern towns and cities in the Northwest. The new section of about 10 townships is to be built on the new line and the new section of about 10 townships is to be built on the new line.

For years the farmers of Dakota and Valley countries lying next to the Canadian boundary have sought a branch line of the Great Northern Railway, but the war came on and the building of extension was of course out of the question. Then when the railways finally were turned back to private control, the Great Northern Railway found itself with the rest of the lines of the United States, occupied entirely with rebuilding its main line system. But these Montana farmers had to go on having their products marketed by wagon and motor trucks. But these lines of the rail kept persistently at it, maintaining a regular railway committee and supporting the Great Northern officials to build them a line. Finally the Great Northern announced that if the farmers of the two communities Montana counties would absorb $125,000 worth of stock the line would be built. The farmers loaned their money at once and they are impatient because the line is going through what they regard as the best water wheat belt in America.

By October it will be built to the mining town of Pondera, where that time will be partly erected and there on the frontier waiting for the railway to be built up to it. Next year the remaining 50 miles of rail will be laid to the terminal town of Libby, which also will become a really big town. The new railway catches up with the old one.

J. V. Bennett, of Bozeman, diligent director of the frontier farmers' petition for a railway, declares the most unusual feature of this stock sale is that these farmers in the line that they readily acquiesced to the regulations which made it possible for the Great Northern Railway to build this line. The fact that Great Northern stock could have been bought by them on Wall Street for $100 a share at the time was only a passing incident to them for their countrymen showed that this new stock had as much value as the old stock. Farmers in other sections of Montana already are considering how they can help in building branch lines tapping rich frontier sections of the state.

SMALL TOWN HUMOR AND PHILOSOPHY

By BUCK CAMPBELL

It is easier to full off a ladder than it is to climb up.

The man who is looking for cheap advice can always get it.

Some men are all right to punch, but get lazy when they tire.

The man with a broad vision may have it obscured by a narrow mind.

Every person who springs a new invention is regarded as a nut until the other nuts see the wisdom of it.

Chewing tobacco is a handy habit, but not as disagreeable as chewing the rag.

The man with a long tongue, retorted with modesty or shame at the fellow who had few friends in this life and less in the one to come. When Christ was on earth He taught about preaching and doing good, you never hear of Him abusing and cutting bad names to those who were not of His belief. There was no politics in Christ's day.

Music Score.

The word score has several meanings in music. First score has all the parts of a composition. Instruments used for instruments only. Short score, generally applied to a vocal score with a piano or organ accompaniment. Vocal score, where each voice has a line to itself. Piano score, where the orchestral or vocal parts are compressed into a piano part.

For Sale.

"It was afraid by sermon last Sunday would annoy some of my people, but it didn't, neither did it annoy me. I was just a poor subject," said his friend.

"The Duplicity of the Average Man," I spoke pretty clearly."

"You couldn't read in any sense that way. Every man could have read above the average."

Some Observations on Man, and His Helpmate

"There is only one test of a man's character—his attitude to women. It is not whether a woman is respectable or because it renders them both conspicuous, but because it issues his chance of being so."

"We find out whether a man is worthy of a woman's consideration from you, watch his attitude to women who are older and poorer than himself, and see him in a moment of unexpected success. Even then you can't be quite sure, for whereas women sometimes pose before other people's eyes all the time, and particularly to themselves."

"It is highly inconceivable of any wife to be unwilling to spring at the posture her husband wishes her to adopt. To be hitherto when he wishes to lay, nothing when he desires to soar, whenever when he elects to serve, and waiting when he requires to converse with an equal. It is just like a woman to have moods of her own at such a time. From 'The Man,' by Homer Bright.

Every Woman

Loves a woman with qualities she hasn't had till she loved. Every woman, even the dearest, considers her husband atrociously at moments. And the worst of it is that I'm sure every woman's got jelly good reason for doing so. From "After the Verdict," by Robert Hichens.

Official Paper of the Village.

Entered as Second class matter July 31, 1922, at the postoffice at St. Hilaire Minn., under the act of July 16th, 1879.

Published every Thursday at St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

lisher of any change of address and postal money order or express order bearing return address to St. Hilaire, Minn.

There are not many towns in Minn-ota the size of St. Hilaire that can boast of a band, such as the one we have. In the few months of its existence, it has grown in membership, and improved greatly in ability, so that now it is a large and well-trained organization. A good band means much to a town. It tells outside people that the town is progressive and its citizens public-spirited. It advertises.

We are proud of our band.

More than 2700 newspapers have gone to the graveyard in the past seven years, and from indications there are hundreds of others with one foot in the grave. Many communities are left without their local papers and in nearly every such case that community is going to the graveyard. As the Hutchinson Leader says: "There are mighty few newspapers that are paying their way, that is paying for themselves from subscriptions and advertising receipts. And then there are doled job printing at living prices that they must have in order to supply their communities with newspapers and their advertisers with space at reasonable prices there can be but one answer and one result.—Ru."

Obey the Law!

Life is valuable—much too valuable to be subjected to the constant dangers that confront one when one crosses a street. Yet this is a fact: Not until a serious accident has occurred will violations of laws governing the speed, turning, and parking of automobiles be halted. UNLESS STEPS ARE TAKEN NOW TO PREVENT IT.

Several local pedestrians have lately narrowly escaped serious or fatal injuries while "running across" streets.
Drivers seemingly forget that this is a highway, and not a parkway. They persist in "burning up the road" so to speak, in such a way as to endanger the life of any one who may be crossing the street at the time. A speedy driver in a fast auto is just as dangerous as a criminal totting a gun.

If the least of such motorists is to give people a demonstration of speed or a display of "flashy" cars, they surely give evidence of stupid ignorance.

One practice that is all too common in this village, is that of making a turn in the middle of the street. The positive of the driver in doing this is evidently to save time. But it is obvious that one will arrive at his destination in practically the same time if one observes the laws and goes to the end of the block to make a turn.
Action should be taken at once to curb this needless display of speed and disregard of motor laws on our village streets.

Conquest of the Desert

"The tinkling of the camel's bell" on the desert has been succeeded by the whirr of the gasoline motor. The wild plains of the two greatest countries are still inhospitable to life and seem to unaccommodated intruders. But the advent of the automobile has made the conquest of the desert less its invincibility. As against the new vehicles of the western wastes, the traditional hoard of burles is a feeble foe.
It has been beaten at its game as the ox has been obliterated by the railroad and the motor truck.

Sartar Needed

A very handsome woman was "burning" downtown one day, holding her skirts from the grime and dirt of the lower third side, when a little crowd came up in front of her, holding a large green, antique apple. He had not several front teeth and the process of getting the dirt like into it proved too much for him. He looked the lady over carefully and then thrust the apple toward her and said: "Alma, would you please start this for me?"
—New York Times.

"Father Violet"

The slogan "Father Violet" was bestowed upon Napoleon Bonaparte during his exile in St. Helena in 1815-16.
He was, unfortunately, whiskered throughout France at that time that a certain Frenchman had said: "Violet would return in the spring with the violets, and that flower bears in consequence the badge of the adulterers and was symbolic of them." It is still the slogan of the French imperialists.

Bonanza

"Bonanza" is a Spanish word meaning "fair weather" or a "favoring wind." The miners of Comstock, Ind., a gold and silver mine in Nevada, which yielded $60 millions worth of ore in 30 years, first used the word to signify an abundance of precious metal or rich ore. The word is now also used to signify any good fortune or successful enterprise.

Shakespeare's Philosophy

"Why, what should be the fear? I have not my life in mine own hand; and,
for my soul, what can it do to that,
being a thing immortal?"—Shakespeare.

Third Advertising Representatives: THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

"I think it may destroy me, politically, but my conscience tells me that I am right, and I would prefer to be destroyed than to violate my conscience." The foregoing expression was made by Mr. McAdoo by Mr. Bryan when he finally determined to resign from the Wilson Cabinet. It's worth reading a second time—and one wonders how many men there are in public, or in private life, who have the courage to make such a stand for right!—Crocketon Weekly Times.

We read recently where the director of music in Oakland, Cal., schools said that "if you'll teach a boy to swim he won't be apt to blow safe."

He also explained the fact that the smaller towns of the country are fast drifting away from the old idea that "grass head" was a fine asset.

We feel sure Lake-land citizens will agree with him there. Nothing gives our smaller towns more good advertising in territory surrounding them than a well organized, well conducted brain band, and nothing aids more in employing the leisure time of our young men than being members of such an organization. We would be sorry to see the radio and the phonograph replace this fine old institution, for while they afford much pleasure they can never bring the thrill that comes from music rendered by "home town boys" and they can never give the town the fine reputation for progressiveness that the home town band can give.—Wakeland Standard.

Henry Ford. It is claimed, has opened a campaign to cut out dancing of the present day and to substitute the old-time polka, waltzes and quadrilles. The automobile king is giving a series of old-fashioned dances and is taking lessons himself. 'Tis may be the biggest job Henry ever undertook.—Crocketon Weekly Times.

L. T. Bergh Visits Here

L. T. Bergh, well known former resident of this village some years ago, and now located at Fair Oaks, Calif., left Tuesday for Canada after visiting with old friends here about a week. Mr. Bergh was at one time in the coal and collection business here. He and family later resided on a homestead in Mayfield town after which they moved to Canada. Some years ago they moved from Canada to California which has been the family home since. Mr. Bergh will retain some real estate interest in Canada and his trip into this section at this time is for the purpose of looking after the interests there.

In a pleasant visit at this office, Mr. Bergh informed us that he and family were all enjoying good health, and that they were now engaged in fruit raising at Fair Oaks.

New Grader Outfit

Patrolman Albert Severson has lately been supplied with a new tractor outfit to replace the horse-drawn one for use on the Truck Road No. 32. The new outfit, which is supplied by the state highway department, consists of a Ford tractor, a grader with double sets of cutting and smoothing blades. The motive power and grader are combined in such a way that the operator has full control over both from his seat on the rear of the grader.

At present Mr. Severson runs from the Red Lake County line north to Thief River Falls but expects he will save all of No. 32 in his county when routes are rearranged.

CAUTION IN CULLING URGED BY CHAPMAN

Practically every rule has its exception. "Early culling birds are poor layers," says experienced poultry man. This is true in the main, but there are exceptions.

N. E. Chapman, poultryman with the agricultural extension service, University of Minnesota, points out that many farm flocks went into a premature molt early in June because of lack of feed, but poultry losses at night, and depredations of mice. Egg production by these flocks fell off rapidly, but as sufficient feed is supplied and poultry houses properly ventilated and the molts exterminated, the flocks are gradually increasing production.

"When culling such flocks, each hen should be carefully studied for evidence that the molt is about to terminate," says Mr. Chapman. "The best hens will come back, and they should be kept, but the poorer ones will, of course, continue to molt and should be discarded."

Low Fares To Fair

As will be noted by their advertisement elsewhere in this issue, the Great Northern Railway Company announces fares of approximately one cent a mile for round trip tickets to those going to the Minnesota State Fair this year. In other words it will cost less to go to the Fair and return than it is ordinarily charged for a one way ticket to Minneapolis.

Considering that there will be a congestion of traffic on roads near the Clifton during Fair week which will greatly add to chances of meeting with an accident, that parking space for cars will be hard to find, it will be much more satisfactory to go by train under the low rates than to drive down with one's own car.

Special accommodations have been arranged for passengers after they arrive in Minneapolis so they can reach the fair grounds without difficulty.

Tour To State Fair

Last year the Red River Valley received a lot of valuable advertising by staging of a tour to the State Fair. The parade at the fair grounds passed before at least three hundred thousand people and the name "Red River Valley" appeared on the front pages of the Twin City papers for four or five days.

In view of the success last year, the committee is charge has decided to follow the same plan this year. The Red River Valley tour will leave all parts of the Valley Sunday morning September 6, and will mobilize at St. Cloud Sunday night. Early Monday morning the parade will be formed and the trip made to the fair grounds via Minneapolis and St. Paul. Anyone wishing to go, kindly write Miss Olga Braten, Sec'y, Crookston, Minn., stating how many will be in the party.

Gas Drops 2 Cents Here

In common with other parts of this state served by the Standard Oil Company of Illinois, gas filling stations have dropped the price of that product 2 cents a gallon last week. A gasoline war in states further west where gas is selling for around 15 cents a gallon, has lately been felt too far north where motorists have been paying 20 cents, including tax, all season.

Mr. D. Heimberg was taken ill a few days ago and little hopes are now entertained for her recovery. She is partially paralyzed and is unable to take nourishment.

Can You Beat It?

Theodore Anderson shipped recently to market at St. Paul, a hog that was a little over a year old and weighed 500 lbs. The porker netted around $60.00 which would indicate it pays to raise hogs when one has the right type and breed.

Axel Johnson threshed out 359 bushels of fine oats from a three acre tract a few days ago at his place near this village. Even at current prices which is low, gross returns from the little field would be about $30.00 an acre.

Otto Johnson threshed out 75 bushels of extra fine wheat from a two acre tract near his buildings. A yield of 37½ bushels to the acre is exceptional.

Farm Price Meeting

The American Council of Agriculture has arranged for two township meetings to be held, one at the Black River school house, district No. 159, two of Park Center on Saturday, September 5 and the other meeting at the Swanston school house, district No. 180, in the town of Bly.

Several speakers will be present including Attorney G. Halvorson of Thief River Falls, and C. G. Selvig of Crookston.

The whole matter of price stabilization will be gone into and the necessity for maintaining an organization until the government shall have provided the proper legislation.

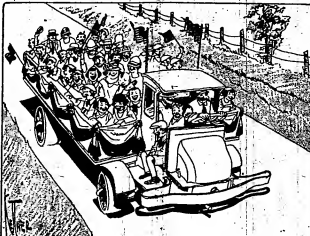

This meeting is non-political, and should interest every farmer. The ladies are cordially invited to be there.

Additional guards have lately been placed along the Canadian border between North Dakota and this state in an effort to curtail liquor smuggling as well as to keep check on farm products brought over the line. It is estimated the cost of the extra patrol will be more than offset by increase in customs taxes on farm products brought across the line where it is deemed a higher price than in the Dominion.

Nels Johnson's truck car sustained a dent from east and other damages as a result of a collision with another car on the turn this side of Thief River Falls last Monday. None of the occupants of either car were injured.

Misses Selma and Elanthe High Lily Johnson and Dorothy Martin returned Friday after a motor trip to Detroit, Grand Island, Itasca Park and other points of interest in the lake region. They report having had a pleasant trip.

Mr. D. Patterson, Margaret and Donald Patterson, of Maple Lake, and Mrs. Leslie Ball of Fargo are expected here today to spend the week-end at home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. O. Gustaf.

A noticeable improvement has been noticed in the "washboard" humps on the trunk highways since the department got on its new machine and drag equipment. The new rig gets down the humps and smooths the road at the same time. Not only so they do better work than the old horse-drawn grinder, but their work is much cleaner (even the amount of road is given time).

Signe Solberg, formerly prominent business man at Melancton, ended his life at a farm near Otis last week by blowing off his head by a charge of dynamite, says the Otis Herald.

Deceased was once prominently known, but Otis is said to have been discontent with him and was likely a controversial figure of his death. Deceased is survived by his widow, two children and a son-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brown and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. Morris left Friday for their home at Corydon, Iowa, after a visit here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Porter.

Mrs. H. O. Chomnie Dies

Mrs. H. O. Chomnie, wife of Attorney H. O. Chomnie of Thief River Falls, died Monday last week after a short illness. News of her totally unexpected demise came as a severe shock to her many friends at Thief River Falls as well as in other parts of the county, including this village. She is survived by her husband and four children, the youngest of which is an infant only a few days old. Funeral services were held at Thief River Falls last Thursday. Heartfelt sympathy to many friends here is extended to the bereaved husband and children.

School Opens Tuesday

The local school reopens Tuesday morning after the annual summer vacation. The teaching staff is complete and the building has been renovated so everything is in readiness.

At a meeting of the board of education held last week, Elmer Johnson was awarded a contract for operating the buses on both west and north routes. He will use an auto truck, now becomes too deep to permit its use after which he will use horse drawn vehicles.

Barn Wrecked In Storm

The large stock barn belonging to Christ Kruse located six miles west of here, was badly damaged in a wild storm of almost cyclone proportions which struck that section last Friday afternoon. The storm seemed to be confined to a small area, as no damage to buildings is reported from any but the Kruse farm. Part of the roof was blown away, and the building tilted in such a way that it will have to be practically rebuilt. None of the stock in or near the barn were injured in any way. A considerable number of hay stacks and shocks of grain in that vicinity were blown down in the same storm.

It is understood Mr. Kruse carried torpedoes loaded to cover loss on the barn, but it will be some time before a lot of extra work will have at this, the busiest time of the year.

Arneson To Hibbing

James S. Arneson, publisher of the Times and Thief River Falls Press since 1921, has sold his interest in that publication to his associates, H. Sawyer, and has also resigned as mayor of that city, and leaves soon with his family to make his home at Hibbing. Mr. Arneson has published papers to different parts of the state, and is known as a strong community leader wherever he resides. He has a growing family, and gives as his reason for leaving Thief River for Hibbing, that the latter city has so much better educational facilities.

"Jim" has made many friends in Pennington County who will regret greatly to see him leave, but who wish him abundant success in his new field of endeavor.

Teachers Leaving

End of the week and first of next week will witness departure of St. Hilaire's contingent of teachers for their different schools. Miss Holback is going to Moorhead, Miss Gledys Gledits to Clearbrook, Miss Gudrun Gledits to Glyndon, Miss Blanche Huff to Minneapolis, Miss Dorothy Martin to St. Paul, Miss Grace Hall to Miles City, Miss Lily Johnson to Blackduck, Miss Lily Johnson to Minneapolis.

Delayed a day by a broken clutch in their car, Mr. and Mrs. A. Entrom left Friday morning for their home at Headfish after spending several days here at the Gledits home. They were accompanied to Headfish by Myrtle Gledits who will visit there on an indefinite period.

SEPTEMBER 5 & 124

Visitors to Minnesota's greatest of all State Fairs can travel more safely and more comfortably on the day coaches of the Great Northern Railway, on regular trains, at extremely low rates. Why suffer the expense, inconvenience, danger and trouble of driving your own car? Avoid the difficulties of heavily congested traffic, lack of parking space in the cities, garage charges, and tire work of driving in State Fair Week traffic. Great Northern rates are approximately one cent a mile for Fair visitors—go.

DR. FRANK WEBER HERE SATURDAY

Noted Community Lecturer Speaks Twice On Market Day Program.

Dr. Frank H. Weber, lecturer for the National Community Service bureau has been secured as the principal speaker for the Market Day program to be given here next Saturday afternoon and evening.

Dr. Weber has the reputation of being one of the most forceful speakers in this section of the country. He understands rural communities and rural problems, and is able to offer concrete suggestions for their betterment. He has spoken at community gatherings in all parts of the Northwest, and nothing but glowing accounts have been heard about his work.

His services have been secured at considerable cost by the business men of St. Hilaire who are sponsoring Market Day, and they wish everybody in the community will make it a point to hear Dr. Weber. There is no admission charge for the lectures, one of which will be given in the afternoon and one during the evening.

Bring the family and hear the lectures. You will go away with a better opinion of the section in which you live, and more inspiration to do the things that fall to your lot to do. This probably will be the last opportunity people have will have to hear this great lecturer as he has been appointed dealer about that will keep him occupied for considerable time, and will take him to distant parts of the country.

In a deal completed last week, Postley purchased the former McAllister residence property adjoining his own place on the north on "Water street." It is Mr. Ray's intention to sell the building off the grounds, retaining the lots which will give him 75 feet frontage instead of 50 and will add much to the value and appearance of his place.

Haymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gustaf, had the misfortune to break his right arm Friday while cranking a car. The spark lever connection had come unhinged while cranking the engine to start.

Dr. Werner set the injured member, and the boy is now getting along in good shape.

George Fricker was down last weekend from Holt for a visit with his parents.

Gustad-Lyon

Thursday morning occurred the marriage of Miss Rose Gustad, daughter of Mrs. A. H. Gustad of Rockbury, to Ernest Lyon of St. Paul. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. L. Tallackson at the Lutheran parsonage at Thief River Falls and was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Anton Johnson, brother-in-law and sister of the bride.

After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served to a gathering of about twenty immediate relatives, of both sides of the bride's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyon left Tuesday afternoon enroute to St. Paul where the groom has a responsible position as an electrician with the Ford Motor Company, and in which city they will make their home.

Numerous friends in the village and vicinity join in extending congratulations and expressing good wishes to the newlyweds.

School Reopens

The local school re-opened Tuesday morning after the annual summer vacation. H. H. Anderson, of this place is superintendent again this year and will be assisted by Mr. S. R. Ruggard of Ulen, Minn., as principal. Miss Lillian Ekof of Cokesio, Minn., is the third member of the high school teaching staff.

Miss Hendrika Hagren, of N. Dak., the 7th and 8th grades, Miss Lena Bennett of Dickinson, the 5th and 6th grades, Miss Tony Stang of Glenwood, the 3rd and 4th grades, and Miss Cecelia Bartholot of Bird Island, Minn., has charge of the primary department.

With exception of Mr. Anderson, Miss Bennett and Miss Stang, all others of the teaching staff are new to the year.

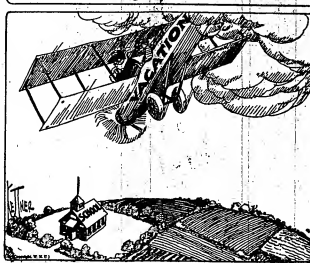

Local merchants are busily engaged in getting out numerous bargains for Market Day which will be held Saturday this week. Every store will have some good values in reasonable goods to offer and anyone that "shops around" on market day will be assured some real bargains.

Norman Patterson, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Physicians hospital at Thief River a few weeks ago, was brought home Sunday. He is recuperating as fast as can be expected and will soon be able to be around again.

There will be a coffee demonstration at the Nelson store on Market Day. The high grade Nash brand of coffee will be used, and everybody will be served free of charge.

She began to fail last winter but was able to be up and around until a short time ago when she suffered partial paralysis.

She and husband came to this country in 1882 and lived a short time in Kandiyohi County this state before moving onto the homestead in River Falls township southeast of here where an only son died in 1887. BIG MARKET DAY NEXT SATURDAY

Committee Preparing Program. Merchants Offer Many Bargains.

Next Saturday the 12th, this village will put on a Market day, the first one of its kind attempted here for several years, and which it is hoped will become a regular monthly occurrence. The date is a little earlier than was first planned for, but owing to the fact that the speaker wanted was not available later, the committee decided on Saturday.

After the lecture which takes place at 2:30, there will be a program of sports of various kinds for which liberal prizes will be offered. After the evening lecture, a dance will be given at the hall, if possible to assemble enough players during this busy season, there will be selections by the band.

All merchants have reassessed their stocks for special bargains. As will be noted by the advertising in this issue, and nothing but glowing accounts have been heard about his work.

Anybody in this territory can afford to spend the day here taking advantage of the bargains as money saved will more than pay expense of coming to town. Hundreds of big bills advertising the event, have been scattered all over the adjoining community, and it is expected, a big crowd will be attending. Take the family along and enjoy it. Hear the two free lectures and drive the sports.

Donation Sale Oct. 7

October 7 is as the date for the Red River Valley livestock tour and donation sale combined, the sale to be held at Crookston. There will be no tours Sept. 14 as previously announced as all officers and others interested favored the October date, and to have both events at one time.

More than fifty animals have already been donated by breeders in the valley, and a committee has been appointed to secure the number necessary to pay off the present indebtedness of $12,000 on the pavilion property at Crookston to permit expansion. If the Red River Valley Winter Show, details of the tour from this county will be announced later.

Oscar Nelson returned after visiting relatives and friends in Minneapolis.

Vienna—Burglars have made a rich haul in pillaging the famous Cistercian monastery at Zwettl, in lower Austria. The value of their loot is estimated at several million kronen. Chief among the articles taken by the thieves was an ancient silver monstrance, studded with 619 diamonds, 256 rubies, 175 emeralds, 12 sapphires and numerous amethysts, aquamarines, topazes and pearls.

Beautiful in Ruin Is Famous Dryburgh Abbey

A beautiful ancient church, like a fine old painting or poem, has a message for people of the present day. It is as if the builders challenged the modern world in this wise: "Here is our ideal of beauty; it breathes the life of our time and marks a step in our progress. Do you moderns surprise us in such expressions of beauty?"

The abbey of Dryburgh lies in Berwickshire, just across the border north from Aberdeen and Edinburgh. It is a ruin of the thirteenth century, and is a beautiful specimen of the work of the thirteenth century. The general architecture of the abbey shows Roman, Saxon, Norman and Gothic influences. We associate the spot principally with Sir Walter Scott, but Thompson composed his "Waverley" here, and long before that, the friend of Chaucer, occupied a cell in Dryburgh abbey. Chaucer himself stayed some time here with his friend and rival.

Child's Play Important.

Old Pioneer Dies

Mrs. Trine Hendrickson, a citizen of this village for about forty years, died Saturday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Hans Rod, at Thief River Falls, from disease incident to old age.

Mrs. Hendrickson was born at Dræman, Norway on October 16, 1835 and was 89 years, 11 months and 4 days of age at time of death. She was married to Johannes Hendrickson in 1877 and they came to this country in 1882 and lived in Ottertail County about a year before coming here. For a number of years they farmed on what is now the Harder farm southwest of town, and later moved to this village to make their home. Mrs. Hendrickson died here in 1905. They had no children.

Mrs. Hendrickson was a kind woman, held in high esteem by all with whom she came in contact, and her passing will be noted with sincere regret by many old friends.

The remains were buried here Monday afternoon and funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. M. Grimstad from the Norwegian Lutheran church of which she deceased had long been a member.

Interment was made beside the remains of her husband in the Lutheran cemetery north of town.

Jas. Dahl Writes

Jan. A. Dahl, who is at Shumner, Minn., Canada, looking after his farm interests there, writes that there is fair to good crops in that section, and that the wheat is better than half completed. He notes that there are considerable more improvements being made there every year. Amongst St. Hilaire people still in that section, he has seen Mike and Harry Melson, Carl Magnuson, Tom and August Hagg, Erik and Andrew Anderson and Anders Swenson. L. T. Hagg had just arrived from that state to visit at his former home there also.

I. D. Converse Is Dead

I. D. Converse, who operated the Spectator here for H. E. Frye, thirteen years ago and later published papers at Grygion and Goodridge, died Wednesday last week at Stranquist where he was publisher of the Press. Mr. Converse, who was a little over 60 years of age at time of death, was very well known in newspaper circles as he had been connected with more than a dozen different papers as publisher and otherwise since he came to this state from New York where he was born and grew to manhood.

Mr. Converse was at one time connected with the Times at Cass Lake. An only son died in that village in 1900, and Mrs. Converse passed away there the following year.

Remains of the deceased were shipped Friday to Cass Lake for burial beside those of his wife and son.

Mr. Converse had many friends in the community who will be grieved to learn of his death.

Hunting Season Opened

Due to heavy rain and later prairie fires, chickens are not so plentiful as in some former years, but ducks are numerous. Many hunters, however, have reported getting their daily limit of chickens.

The Odegaard boy suffered a severe gash in his forehead and one of the Christie children was badly cut by flying glass from the windshield. Both cars sustained considerable damage.

The Peterson car was coming in from Hazel and was just at the town when it met the southeast Curcio car heading.

The Odegaard boy was taken to the office of Dr. Warner who took several stitches in the gash.

What Really Happened
"My last boy, Bearcat, took a notion yesterday to ride the yelling calf backwoods," related Gus Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "He hopped on the calf gave a heave and tore up the head right toward the church. It was funny, the dog was jumping and the calf was jumping. What do you think happened?"

"Why—daddarn it!—anybody could tell that. The calf with the boy on the back and the dog grabbing at every corner hauled right into the church, ran up the aisle and scrambled up the pulpit."

"Nope! The yelling thing Bearcat got, turned around and ran home." Kansas City Star.

Something for Nothing
Daniel Willard, the railroad man, said at a dinner in New York City: "The promoter has rather won out. We didn't hear of him any more. This is a good thing, certainly. In fact, any type of promoter is concerned the type Pierpont Morgan once heeded."

"The man should provide the power if we will tolerate the job."

Turn All Stones!

IN OTHER WORDS—

Leave no stone unturned that will make your sale a successful one. . . .

MORE IMPORTANT than anything else to the man who is planning an Auction Sale this fall, is that of having it well advertised. No sale can ever be a successful one that is not properly advertised. Well printed, attractive Auction Sale Bills is what you need. A mere "Auction Sale" bill, unattractive and slovenly printed, will NOT be read. On the other hand, a bill that has been in the hands of competent printers with the added advantage of first-class equipment, is bound to draw a big crowd of buyers.

We specialize in this kind of work and are fully equipped to serve you.

DONATION SALE ON OCTOBER 22

Local Committee Named To Solicit Local Stockmen For Donations.

The Red River Valley donation drive, a sale which has been previously announced through these columns, will be held at Crookston on Thursday, October 22nd without any further change of date. This sale is being held for the purpose of raising money to take up the present indebtedness on the buildings, used for the annual Winter Show.

Drummers throughout the Valley are asked to donate to extent of their ability, and the stock donated will be sold at public auction the proceeds to be used for paying off the mortgage now due against the Winter Show buildings.

County Agent J. J. McChane has charges of the work of securing donations in this county. Miss M. Anderson, A. P. Hall, and Ed Anhol are the local committee. Anyone wishing to help the good work along may get all the information they wish, by calling on any of those named.

J. Adam Stead, Dean W. C. Coffey, and other leading men will be a feature of the evening program on the day of the sale, and it is planned to make the dinner the latest "livestock dinner" ever held in Minnesota.

Alfalfa Precautions

Experimente at University Farm have demonstrated that winter killing of alfalfa may be avoided in large degree by sowing, only certified Grimm seed, or seed of another variety equally hardy, and in addition, by leaving a growth of approximately four inches or more in the fall to help hold the snow for winter protection.

A. C. Army, in charge of University farm crops, says it is best to stop cutting about the middle of September. If pasturing is done after that, it should be light as to leave a generous growth for protection from the winter's cold.

Mr. Army further says that light pasturing in the fall is less injurious than cutting for hay late in the autumn. Farm animals do not usually graze alfalfa down so closely and evenly as the mower cut it, consequently more of a growth is left to retain the snow.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hansen came down from Thief River Falls Friday evening and spent a few hours here.

New York—Chinatowns in Cleveland and Boston are threatened with extinction by city officials as a result of the past killings which threaten to wipe the districts entirely.

His plan, on Long's signed here.

"Stinging Snake" a Myth
The biological survey says that the "stinging snake" myth apparently originated more than 200 years ago and is reported to have been first published in an old "Report to Lords Proprietors of the Carolinas." John Claydon also mentions this myth in a letter to the Royal Society of London in 1688. He says the first mention of it is a story that there lived in the Carolinas a snake whose tail was poisoned horn or spike. This account refers to the horn or stinging snake which is harmless. The horn snake is bluish-black with a few red bars across the belly. The tail of the snake tapers to a fine point having the appearance of a horn or spike but it is quite incapable of piercing or stinging anything.

THREE DROWNED AS BOAT CAPSIZES

Launch Tips With 25 People While Making Turn in Florida Bay.

San Oalle, Fla.—The pleasure boat Clara B. owned by Captain N. Arnold of Malabar, Fla., and under charter to the Malbourne Farms, capsized when attempting to turn about just inside Sebastian Inlet, 17 miles south of here. Eleven are known to have drowned. A rough sea made rescue work almost impossible while those who were saved are badly cut from being thrown against the rocks.

The Party of 25 tourists are said to have come from Wichita and surrounding territory to look over property of the Malbourne Farms Co.

Walter Johnson Wins 2nd Game.

Washington—The Big Train whined through Griffith Stadium, making no stage Pittsburgh's Pirates caught a few fleeting glimpses of the express as it roared by, but that was about all, as they went down to defeat for the second time before the marauder uncured by the iron fist arm of Walter (Big Boy) Johnson, the Big Train of baseball. The triumph for Big Boy was even more decisive than his first one, for he blinded and blacked the spinning ball before young Buzanowsky, 4 to 0, with a dazzling exhibition of shyness, while Dooze Gledhill, home hero of 1914, and Joe Harris slaked out someone's home runs in the third inning that broke the resistance of the young Pirates' school.

James B. Duke Dies.

New York—James B. Duke, millionaire tobacco manufacturer, died at his home here. The millionaire, known throughout the country for his financial genius and his philanthropic activities, had been ill for 11 weeks. Mr. Duke was 88 years old. It was largely through his direction that the enormous Duke fortune was built up around the tobacco industry. The tobacco king was also widely known for his philanthropy, notably his gift of many millions to Trinity College, on condition that that school take his own name. Duke received wide publicity at the time because of the stipulation attached to the endowment.

Captain Says Lights Failed.

Boston—The searchlight on the steamship City of Rome failed to work in the emergency when the coastal liner crashed with the United States submarine 541 off Block Island, September 25, resulting in the sinking of the submarine and the loss of 18 of her crew. This admission was made on the witness stand at an investigation hearing by Federal steamboat inspectors by Captain George Dahl, commander of the City of Rome, and his chief engineer, William 2021 of New York. Captain Dahl's voice broke as he told his own story of the sea crash.

Newark, N. J.—The coal committee of the Atlantic States shippers' advisory board reported that a steady supply of anthracite coal, in prepared form, is available for American home-borders.

KILL YOUR ADVERTISING AND KILL YOUR BUSINESS

A proposition, adv. "St. Hilaire's City" was one of the most widely advertised in the history of the country.
It was a paper devoted to the sale of a newspaper. When Charles von der Lueke, of the "St. Hilaire's City" "express" went over the balance sheet and saw the enormous advertising expenditures. This subject urged the advertising expenditures to nothing or nothing, reasoning that St. Hilaire's City was the best known it was unnecessary to spend any money any longer to advertise
it. Orders dwindled as advertising contracts ran out; business departed and returned; and it is said to specialize that "St. Hilaire's City" who reads this article remembers or ever heard of St. Hilaire's City, one of the best known papers in the continent 25 years ago.

A similar thing happened to James Perry "Perry's" a company that used a $500,000 advertising fund as far back as 1914 and was one of the best known products in the entire world. The ad fund was lopped off, the business died. It tried to reconstruct to make a comeback in 1914, and finally sold its plant for junk to a large soap manufacturer.
Killing off the ad appropriation killed it both of these businesses and, it would do the same thing to almost any great advertising concern today.—N. E. A. Bulletin.

BANKERS HELP

The banks of Linn County, Oregon, are showing more enthusiasm than ever this year in behalf of a county corn exhibit similar to that held last year at the Linn County Fair. Last year's exhibit was the result of a contest for a prize offered by a number of local banks. This was so successful that this year ten out of the eleven banks in the county will subscribe to the effort.

The Agricultural Committee of the Alabama Bankers' Association has recommended that a scholarship fund be established for the education of worthy young men and women along agricultural and home economics lines. It is estimated that if each bank in the state were to contribute 5 cents per thousand capital, five or six thousand dollars per annum would be realized.

The Agricultural Committee of the Oklahoma Bankers' Association, in its annual report, recommends that the banks see that a competent agent is appointed in each county and that he has a degree from some agricultural college. They believe that the agricultural possibilities of the state should be better advertised and that such county bankers association should be working along this line.

Sevier County Bankers' Association, Arkansas, entertained, as its guests recently some seventy-five farmers and business men. The result was the organization of the North Central Arkansas Agricultural Association. Its purpose will be to coordinate the efforts of the farmers and business men in promoting a better agriculture.
Sevier County bankers are giving 10¢ settings of purchased eggs for distribution to the boys' and girls' clubs in the county.

H. S. Mower, chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the New Jersey Bankers' Association, together with H. J. Baker, director of extension work in the College of Agriculture, made a complete tour of the state this spring, calling on the county agents and agricultural committees of the various county organizations to get a definite line-up on the work done and the plans for the coming year. Ways and means for furthering the program of the state committee were considered at these conferences.

Reason for Joyfulness

The day seems to be arrived when there is really so much to smile at that we think well of the destiny of mankind; such fair reason to rejoice in the new era of existence; so large a promise of ever-extending human knowledge and industry; such general widening of manners, spreading of intelligence and enlarging of average happiness; that it appears more becoming for man, the chief of all animals, to rejoice with the luck in the day than croaking with the rogues in the evening.—Sir Ralph Arnold.

Former Minnesotans Picnic in California

500 Minnesotans now residing in various parts of southern California, gathered Sunday, Oct. 19th, and enjoyed a picnic at Sylmar Park on the big free highway in Santa Clara county near Fresno. The real purpose of the picnic was to make further arrangements for a caravans back to Minnesota in the spring of 1926. An organization was perfect of which will have charge of making arrangements during the present winter and it is expected everything will be in readiness for the "back home" trip next spring. Among the list of names of those who were present at the picnic are several from Crookston, there being none listed from this immediate vicinity.

WEEKS RESIGNS CABINET POST

President Coolidge Names Dwight F. Davis Secretary of War

Washington, Sept. 26.—When given his resignation as secretary of war in President Coolidge's hands.

Since Secretary Weeks was stricken last March with the illness that has continued to his death today, Mr. Davis has been acting secretary and has borne the full administrative duties of the department.

Dwight F. Davis of St. Louis was named secretary of war by President Coolidge, following official announcement of the long anticipated resignation of Secretary of War John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, by the White House.

The resignation and appointment were announced simultaneously following Weeks' attendance at his final cabinet meeting.

Mr. Davis, a business man of St. Louis, with the rank of colonel in the officers' reserve corps, received the appointment because of his satisfactory administration of the war department during Weeks' absence. His defense of the President's economy program against the drive of the general and for larger appropriations gained for him the President's favor.

Mexican Police Kill Fifty

Robbers; 200 Others Exiled

Mexico City.—The government of the federal district in which Mexico City is situated has warned thieves and law breakers that strict enforcement of the law and firm punishment will be their lot in the future.

The secret police service established by General Roberto Cruz, when President Calles appointed chief of police two months ago, has discovered the hideouts of notorious law breakers and has forestalled big robbery schemes. The police lately have shot more than 50 persons engaged in robberies or hideouts.

The convicted crooks will be sent to the famous Tres Marias islands in the Pacific, which were the terror of thieves to the time of Diaz.

Stands Collapse; 62 Injured.

Washington.—Sixty-two spectators were injured, several seriously, when the east bleachers at College field collapsed during the Washington and Jefferson-Chicago football game.

Fifteen hundred spectators, enticed by the scores in the fourth quarter, were in the stands. The vibration was too much for the bleachers. With resulting crash it collapsed, precipitating men, women and children into Cato's creek, over which the stands had been erected.

Security Terms Are Settled.

Locarno, Switzerland.—Treaties were adopted at Locarno, designed to make impossible any reversion of that great power, Germany, and the allied powers approved the text of the Rhine pact of security.

This pact pledges its signatories, France, Germany and Belgium not to attack or invade one another's territory and to abstain from war. Great Britain and Italy stand as guarantors of this engagement and promise to throw their forces against any of the three parties which violates its terms.

Warrant Necessary For Search.

Washington.—Search of a private dwelling without a warrant is "unreasonable and absurd," the supreme court declared in an opinion by Justice Brandeis in a narcotic case from Brooklyn, Congress, it ruled, never authorized such a search.

"While the question has never been directly decided by this court," the opinion stated, "it has always been assumed that one's house cannot lawfully be searched without a search warrant, except as an incident to a lawful arrest therein."

Bank Robbers Get $14,000.

Brooklyn, Minn.—Four bandits robbed the Minnesota State bank at 26-centimeter of $14,000 in a spectacular daylight holding. They forced J. O. Krugman, cashier, to face a wall and held his hands high over his head and, while holding two customers at bay, scooped up all the cash and currency in the cashier's cage and robbed the vault of the treasury. The bandits rushed out the front door, jumped into a waiting touring car, and sped away down Brooklyn's main street.

Statebank Stirred by Reinforcements.

INSANE MAN RUNS AMUCK WITH AXE

Former Local Man Victim Of Attack. Narrowly Escapes Death.

Wendell Corbett, formerly in the barber business here, and now located at New Sweden, had a narrow escape from death last Saturday when he was attacked by an insane man, it seems the man had aimed his axe with an axe and had done considerable damage about the school building at New Sweden after which he came down town and entered the Corbett shop. His actions were such that Mrs. Corbett thought the man would be a good plan to get him out to where assistance was available in case he became uncontrollable. She was stepped out, the crazy man struck Mrs. Corbett with the axe, cutting two gashes in his head. He was about to strike again when his father came on the scene and disarmed him.

Corbett was taken to a surgeon who found it necessary to take several stitches to close the wounds. Last report is that the injured man is recovering.

It is reported the assailant has lately been released from a hospital for insane where he has been a patient.

Few "Open Spaces" Left
Another West is passing. The old wild West went long ago with its un-fenced, free range and its picturesque cave. But now the West that succeeded it is going, too—the West of the horsefancier. Free land has followed the free range into the limbo of fact, forgotten things.

The West that is a land of range pastures and farms owned in fee simple and subject to mortgage is fast disappearing and being replaced by automobiles and golf courses. And the horsefancier is emboldened in him and his horse.

The present farmer is like his brethren in New Hampshire and Ohio. Where will the migration-taken ranger find an open space? Will he be come another Britton, exporting youth to other continents and the islands of the sea—to such, at least, of area these as have open spaces left? What will the answer, America is weak and "pull up" so far as free land is concerned—Woods' Work.

Young Barrett, son of Ole Johnson of Hesperia, Minn., recently returned home believing as if his heart would break.

"How," he howled, "the teacher says I'm precocious?"
"Well," returned his son, "I tell you you're back there" and told the teacher
I say if you had been better than I wouldn't come over there and beat me up. You haven't beaten me of the head of James City State.

Basketball Season Opens

Basketball season for St. Hilaire will be ushered in next Monday evening, Nov. 9th, when the high school team meets an independent opponent from Red Lake Falls, at the local gym.

The high school basketball, under Coach Rotenberg, are showing up fine, and everything points to a successful season of the indoor sport.

It is not certain as yet who will be called upon to make the first start against the visitors, but it is probable that a number of reserves will also see service. Rotenberg wants the strongest combination available.

The game Monday evening will be called at 8 o'clock, and an admission fee of 20 cents will be charged.

Surprise Party

Members of the Black River, St. Hilaire and Clara Swedish Lutheran churches tendered their director, Mrs. O. S. Werner, a surprise party at her home Tuesday evening. A fine time is reported by those who were present. Before leaving, the choir presented Mrs. Werner with a purse as a token of their appreciation for her efforts in their behalf.

Wendell Corbett, who is engaged in the barber business at Mendota and Miss Lucie Allen, who teaches school near there, came down Saturday for a weekend visit at the R. B. Allen home.

There were two full moons in the month of October this year, which is an event of rare occurrence. Perhaps the unusual point of weather during October will be recalled by the fact that at this time being full, the moon was in the sky.

CONCERT MAKES POPULAR HIT

Large Program Presents Fine
Chorus. Three Churches Are Represented.

Favored by ideal weather and an enthusiasm that was contagious, the Swedish Lutheran church combined chorus played to a capacity house at the Imperial hall last Sunday evening.

The seating room of the hall was taken up long before the concert commenced, and many people thought it necessary to stand during the presentation.

The chorus consisted of twenty voices chosen from the choirs of the St. Hilaire, Black River, and Clara Swedish Lutheran churches. Under the very able direction of Mrs. O. S. Werner of Clara city, the chorus presented a concert of unusual merit, and one which would have done credit to a much older organization.

Such well known numbers as "Wonderful City of Zion," "Sleep On Thy Pillow," "Break Forth O Joy," and "Praise Ye The Father," were sung, and held the undivided attention of the large gathering. The individual voices were good, and the result of this combination of many voices, singing these favorite songs, was most pleasing.

Concert after favored the audience by singing "Langton" and "Praise Ye," both Swedish numbers. Miss Helen Peterson, of the Clara church, gave a very fine piano solo. A male chorus and a ladies' quartet sang several songs.

The St. Hilaire Orchestra played selections between several concert numbers.

The concluding number, "America," was sung by the chorus, accompanied by the orchestra. After this selection, Rev. A. F. Nelson, pastor of the three churches highly commended the chorus and the leader for the splendid manner in which the concert had been given. He also doing Rev. Nelson not only gave his own opinion of the concert, but also viewed the opinion of all present.

SHOOTING FOR BEEF FRONTIER PASTIME

Remarkable Marksmanship of Backwoodsmen

"Bogotek" barking, "driving the cat" and "shooting for beef" were among the most popular shooting pastimes among the early frontiersmen living on the border line of civilization in old "Kankaruk" and Ohio, Arthur Woodward, writer in Adventure Magazine, tells us.

In squirrel-barking the marksmen selected the bit of bark underneath the animal, as it rested on trunk or branch of a tree, and endeavoring to hit the bark at such an angle that it would fall the squirrel by the stroke of the bark and concussion, rather than a direct hit.

Driving the nail was the usual means of testing the marksmanship of a man on the border. To do this an ordinary nail was hammered into a tree for about two-thirds its length. The distance was generally set at fifty paces or 120 feet. Powder for the charge was poured into the hole, as much as would cover a ball being considered about the right amount for any distance under one hundred yards.

The barrel of the weapon was well closed and the ball, placed in a grooved line patch, not loose with vigorous strokes of the stick, being held in place. Pivoted borders generally carried two wigs in case of emergency.

A fair shot was one that struck alongside the nail, a good shot one that hit it, but the man who hit the nail plumb center was considered an excellent marksman. Not infrequently two or three calls would be needed before a dome into each had one about apiece. The winners, after the indifferent shooters had been eliminated, were tried out for high places.

In the early thirties, shooting for beef was a popular pastime. These particular shooting bees were held in late summer when the cattle were fat and the marksmen would get the most for their money.

The usual procedure was for some man who owned cattle and wished to dispose of a beef at a fair price to advertise that on such-and-such a day a beef would be shot for.

Thus the appointed day came around and all of the marksmen in the neighborhood gathered at the designated spot and a subscription paper was passed around stating that "Mr. B. and B. offers a beef worth twenty dollars to be shot for, at twenty-five cents a shot." Then each person present who desired to compete would put down the amount of shots he desired. Each man had his own target marked with a cross in the center as a bull's eye.

The winning shot won the hide and tallow which was considered the first choice. The next highest got his choice of the two hind quarters. The third took the remaining hind quarter. The fourth took first choice of the front quarters, the fifth the remaining quarter. The sixth man, not having any beef to choose from, was allowed all of the hide in the tree against which the targets had been placed. Occasionally some good shot would win nearly the entire beef.

In speaking of these best-shooting matches it might be of interest to state that there was a story current on the Ohio in the early days regarding the famous-or infamous--boatman, Mike Fish, who because of his remarkable ability with a squirrel rifle was generally feared from such places as he had crested the best shot "bang" in the country.

However, Mike didn't let the matter rest with his reputation. His price for keeping out of beef shooting was the "fifth quarter" as the hide and tallow was called. In other words the first prize, which in turn he generally disposed of to the nearest tavern keeper for a gallon of very "Monongahela" whiskey, his favorite.

Bank At Home

In this issue will be found financial statements showing condition of the local banks. A careful perusal of these statements show both banks to be in solid financial condition and in the confidence. Credit is due the personnel of both banks for their careful handling of the community funds, but the major portion of credit for their sound condition is due to the fact that the bank industry here is a thriving and diversified business. With a treasury paying out $100,000 a year, with livestock, poultry and eggs bringing in about the same more, besides other sources of income, this section is a veritable treasure chest for the banks.

The banks are custodians of these community funds, and they are handling them wisely to build up and further increase the prosperity of this community. In every instance where banks have closed in this part of the state, the reason can be attributed to either that section being a "one crop" one, or to the fact that the people there have lost faith in themselves, their community and in their banks.

When people have faith in themselves, in their handling and trading at home, and stick solidly behind their home institutions, there can be no bank or business failures in that community. St. Hilaire has been fortunate in this respect and every thing indicates the people here have not lost faith in this, the greatest financial section in Northern Minnesota without exception.

St. Hilaire 23, Red Lake 10

The local high school basketball team were victors by a 23 to 10 score in their first game this season, played here last Monday evening with an independent team from Red Lake Falls. The victors, who have gone to St. Hilaire to practice, showed the result of that trip by inability to connect with the host. They put up good snap however, and spectators were more than pleased with the scrimmage.

The local boys are showing good form under guidance of Frin. Reister, and should develop into a first class team by end of the present season.

The St. Hilaire high meets Monday night on the latter's floor Friday evening.

Thief River Bank Closed

The Purpura & Merchants State Bank of Thief River Falls, at which Roth, McGinn's is president, was closed last Thursday morning and its affairs taken over by the state banking department. Depleted reserves is given as the reason for closing. Those familiar with "the situation" say the bank is in good shape, and that it is expected the closing will be only temporary, liability to make collections on glitchee paper due this fall is said to be the cause for the depletion of the bank's cash reserve below the legal point.

Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Satterberg, highly respected old citizens of this village, fittingly observed their golden wedding anniversary last Thursday, Nov. 5th. A six o'clock dinner was served in the dining room, heartily decorated in gold streamers. A lovely wedding cake, decorated in gold and silver, formed the centerpiece on which was mounted a little bride dressed in gold with a white veil holding yellow streamers attached to six gold candles.

The evening was spent with members of their immediate family and close friends in recounting happenings of early days, at close of which a light luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Satterberg were presented several suitable reminders of the happy occasion. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Nedman of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. O. Newstead; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Burstad; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Burstad; Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Satterberg; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Fellman and daughter, Mildred.

G. N. Puts On Special For Livestock Show

The Great Northern Railway has provided, without cost, a special train and all of the transportation service to take the prize winning animals of the 1925 Junior Livestock Show for a week's tour in Minnesota and North Dakota, in order that all boys and girls may have an opportunity to see them and to hear from these boys and girls the story of how they raised their animals.

The Junior Livestock Show is held annually at South St. Paul, and is one of the largest of its kind and one of the most important, from an educational standpoint, in the state of Minnesota. It is held under the auspices of the Minnesota State University Extension Department in cooperation with the Livestock Breeders Association South St. Paul Livestock interests and the St. Paul Association of Commerce.

The first show was held in 1915, at which the champion calf of the boys and girls clubs of each county was eligible for state honors. The next year the number of calves that were eligible was doubled and calves were added for market hogs and fat lambs. It has grown annually until in 1925 there were almost one thousand and Minnesota boys and girls in attendance with their calves, pigs, lambs and poultry.

Interest is displayed locally over the fact that of the boys and girls making this tour, George Wilson of St. Hilaire is one. He will show his prize lamb, representative of the honors from this county, but is entitled to a scholarship at one of the agricultural schools.

This train left St. Paul Nov. 17, and will return there Nov. 22.

About forty years ago he moved from here to Wylie where on August 10, 1900, he was married to Mrs. Wylie. He and his wife, Mrs. Wylie, and Richard Gohar took over the business and Mr. Smidesang retired to enjoy the fruits of his labor.

During his years of residence in Wylie, Mr. Smidesang was an ardent booster for that community, and was always foremost in all activities in its behalf. He was well known throughout the entire territory and was held in high esteem by everybody.

He was much of an early riser. He had and liked nothing better than to recall the trials and tribulations he and other old pioneers endured during that time. He was a kindly old gentleman and numerous old friends throughout this community will be grieved to learn of his death.

Mr. Smidesang is survived by his widow, three sons and one daughter. The children are Thor, at Selah, Wash., Paul who resides at Wylie, Otis and Mrs. Clara Olson who resides at Holm, Ill.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed as all the children have not been heard from, but services will be held at the home and at the Norwegian Lutheran church here on Friday. Interment will be in the family plot in the Lutheran cemetery north of this village.

Sympathy of numerous friends is extended to the bereaved family.

Warren 23—St. Hilaire 20

Last Saturday evening the local H. S. girls journeyed over to Warren to play the fast traveling H. S. quint of that place. After the smoke of battle had disappeared, we found ourselves on the score end of a 23 to 20 score.

The first half started out with a crash and neither team was able to score the first five minutes. Warren drew first blood, however, when Schone scored a field goal, this was followed closely by a free throw by L. Hilden and a field goal by Hallmeck. In this manner the score snow-baled, and the first half ended 10 to 9 in Warren's favor.

In the second half Warren started off with a bang and scored eight points before our boys could get their bearings at this point E. Hovet was sent in as center for St. Hilaire and the tide changed for the time being at least, as the local quint scored eight points in short order. Then Warren brought its score to 21 and with only one minute to go, St. Hilaire was given two free throws and Hallmeck put them both through the net and brought our score to 20. With only about 30 seconds to go and no basket to decide the game, the Warren crowd went wild as an old man back woods late in Warren slipped in another basket giving them the count of 23.

The game was fast and clean thru out and was played in the best of sportsmanlike manner which is a boast to both schools.

The lineup of the game:

St. Hilaire	Warren
Hallmeck	F Schone
Bliden	P Hjalte
Hallstrom	C Benson
Nelson	G Johnson
Backett (C)	G Herrick

Summary: Fieldgoals: Warren—Schone 5, Herrick 2

St. Hilaire—Backett 2, Nelson 1, Hallmeck 4.

Free throws: St. Hilaire—Bliden 1, Nelson 1, Hallmeck 4.

Warren: Johnson 1, Lundgren 2.

Caves in Britain Will Worth Tourist's Visit

Little as some might suspect it, there are some famous caves in Great Britain, and still more that deserve to be famous. The country is rich not only in the number, but also in the variety of type of the caverns which it contains. Best known among these caves are the Peak caves, at Castleton, in Derbyshire and the Cheddar caves, in Somerset. The Peak caves have been known since the earliest ages. No one could help seeing it for it was dug and black in the cliffs side of that of which the diaphanous cave of the Peak has the castle, says the Wide World Magazine.

An ice-cream sundae from the limestone caverns and subterranean lakes takes far into the hillsides. This cave has been explored for 2,200 feet. The Cheddar caves do not attract in so spectacular a fashion as the Cheddar gorges are one of the most striking pieces of scenery in Great Britain. The first series of caves was accidentally discovered in 1897, through a man at work in his garden falling into the hillsides. These limestone caves form a series of beautiful and lofty halls hung with stalactites from the roof, and with beautifully colored stalagmites rising from the floor to meet them.

Discontinues in Government Ranks Brings Second Downfall Within a Month

Paris—Drawing discontent with Premier Daladier's financial proposals, even among the government's supporters, Daladier brought about his fall less than a month after he had reconstituted his ministry to meet the wishes of the radical groups in the chamber.

The defeat of the ministry came when the chamber refused by three votes to accept Article V of the proposals, providing for enforced consolidation of the short term debt, although a previous motion for the elimination of the article had been defeated.

The vote on the main question was 272 to 270, and on the second vote, to reject Article V, M. Daladier had only a majority of 21, with 76 Communists, abstaining.

There was a dramatic scene in the chamber as M. Daladier, after the announcement, walked from the room followed by his ministers. Amid much excitement, M. Herriot, leader of the radical coalition, moved adjournment, which was taken.

GOVERNOR URGES SUPPORT OF STATE HEALTH WORK

Governor Theodore Christman in an official proclamation urges the generous support of the Christmas Seal campaign by the people of the state. His proclamation follows:—
"The question of public health is intimately connected with all other efforts for public welfare. It is directly related to all such questions as public morals, education, good government and personal efficiency. Therefore, every person who is interested in the happiness of the people and the promotion of public welfare, should be interested in the improvement of public health."

"While we must depend upon private physicians for the treatment of the ailments of the individual, and upon the public health authorities to prevent the spread of contagious and infectious diseases, any general and permanent improvement in public health must come largely through education."

"Eighteen years of persistent, intensive effort has resulted in a 41 per cent decrease in the tuberculosis death rate. Much remains to be done, however, before this and other preventable diseases are eradicated."
"It is important, therefore, that we give whole hearted support to the State Public Health Association. This association and the affiliated county organizations are financed entirely by the sale of Christmas Seals. The purchase of these seals will be an effective help in the fight against tuberculosis and in the prevention of this and other diseases. Let us urge that the sale of seals have the generous support of all public-spirited citizens."

Ed Moren Returns

Ed Moren, accompanied by his father, Chas. Moren, who has been receiving medical treatment at Minneapolis, returned here Monday after spending several weeks with relatives at Alexandria and Webster, Wis. Like the report of Mark Twain's death, Ed states report of his marriage is "greatly exaggerated." However, he took the premature announcement with such good grace and smiling composure as to arouse the suspicions of his numerous friends and they are now speculating as to what it will take place. In a personal interview with Mr. Moren regarding that part of the subject, he informed this paper that—

Much Favorable Comment

The Livestock Special tour, recently sponsored by the Great Northern Railway Company, whereby 16 Minnesota boys and girls with their prize winning cattle, hogs and lambs were taken on a six day trip thru Minnesota and North Dakota, is winning a great amount of favorable publicity in the daily press. The tour created a good deal of enthusiasm for raising of better stock, and will result in much benefit to the livestock industry in the Red River Valley. The School Plays

Last Thursday evening at the Imperial hall, pupils of the local high school presented two one act plays "At the Movies" and "The Triumph of Pauline" to a fair sized and appreciative audience. The first play was extremely funny and created no little merriment. The second had more elaborate setting, and was well received. During intermission, Miss Mabel gave the Swedish dialect reading which were well received and an encore read "The One", in a very pleasing manner.

Indemnet weather that evening did much to discourage attendance, but the high school's athletic fund received a nice boost nevertheless.

Imitation Jewelry Is Still on Fashion List

Imitation jewelry will not down and one soon about the neck of almost every woman some of the prettiest bangles with which the shop shows these sparkling and glitter. Much of this "fake" jewelry is frankly glass, but even in the hands of emerald, sapphire, ruby or topaz color, good taste and artistic design are evident. The necklaces, chains or dog collars are now selected to match a woman's gown, and regarded that make an interesting note of color in the fashion. It is interesting to search among the hosiery for just the right shade of green stones to identify the shade in a stock, or one squander to make the color in the fabric more definite. And so with each line of color, each of which makes possible an artistic harmony—a string of amber colored beads on a golden brown fabric, carved ivory on "dark" black, emerald on sea green, jade, coral or sapphire on gray or beige.

Cabriolet Hat

The newest hat designed by the Paris millinery is known as the cabriolet hat to distinguish it from the smaller or, hat shapes. Both are small "dog bone" hats but the cabriolet is the larger. One distinctive model is of black velvet straw, lined with orange-colored percale. It is trimmed with black velvet plumes and has flowers made of orange patch plumes.

Travel Wardrobe Interests Women

Simplicity First Requisite—Comfort and Service Are Next.

Nowadays, when everybody travels, travel wardrobe is a subject of our people's interest, says a fashion writer in the New York Times. When you have more luggage, people look with them what they thought would serve their needs on wheels. They were whatever they happened to have on hand. Now traveling clothes, like sports clothes of different sorts, are standardized, and there is a convention to which one prefers to conform, if possible. At no time is anything that resembles overpacking as out of place as in traveling, whether cross-country or aboard ship.

For those who are unaccustomed to travel, everything apparently has been designed to suit every environment and to meet every contingency.

From experienced travelers one hears constantly the admonition to travel "light," to carry as few clothes as possible. Simplicity is the first requisite; comfort and service are next. All are emphasized in the latest designs. The simpler the traveling suit the smarter.

Whatever the individual type, a few general rules and specific points may be wisely followed. These are the conditions of expedient travelers and their tailors. Aboard ship the tailored suit comes into its own—a plain short skirt, coat and blouse. With the greatest fashionability of the valisette a straight overalls is best, and this is equally good with the tailored skirt front as smooth. This season, an open collar and the tie or the closed neck with an ascot or scarf treatment. This sort of suit is appropriate for most days and gives opportunity to wear a fur piece or wool scarf. It may be alternated with a masculine frock or with a two-piece consisting of skirt and overalls or

Beat Fisher 9 To 2

Coch Raterberg's fighting basketball team secured another victory last Friday evening when they met the Fisher team on local floor and defeated them by a score of 9 to 2.

The Fisher boys lived up to their reputation of being a fast bunch by real work during first half. In that period they managed to garner one field basket while holding St. Hilare scoreless. In second half Coach Niet-son scored one by free throw route which was followed shortly by a basket by Wendell Beebe. From this point on, the locals managed to keep the ball pretty well in their own territory and three more baskets were tallied, one by Beebe and two by Louis Hackett, making the score 9 to
2. The Fisher boys put up a mighty fast game, and the local lads state they are the tarest team they have met this season. Credit is due Coach Raterberg for his fine training of the team the past week which was reflected in their playing this game.
The locals were defeated to some extent by loss of their star basket shooter, Bill Hailnwood, who was out due to an injury to the foot received a week ago.

Following is the local line up for this game: Hailnwood, C. Oscar Niet-son, L. Hackett and K. Hovel, G. E.
Hilder and W. Beebe, F.

Salmagundi Mail

Annual item of mailing Salmagundi stationery to practically an entire list, was completed this week. The work entails checking hundreds of accounts, making corrections, and sending the same ready to be mailed. In such a mass of detail, it is not surprising that mistakes are made. In spite of all efforts to prevent them, if any subscriber receives a statement that he knows is wrong, we beg he will accept it in good spirit and call our attention to it, in which case it will gladly be corrected.

Return envelopes are enclosed with nearly all stationery. If you have an item of interest concerning yourself or family, we would appreciate if you would mention it when returning the envelope. Such items are always welcome, and especially so during the holiday season.

Probably few families of five members can claim a total height of 31 feet 1 1/2 inches, but the Shoppe family of Baxter, N. H., can make good at that figure. The father, Otis H. Shoppe, can boast of 4 feet 4 inches, and his two sons, Alton and Otis H., Jr., of 6 feet 9 inches each. Their 2, 4 foot 8 inch old, William H. is the shortest member of the family, being only 6 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Poor Bunny Evidently Wasn't Traveling Fast

O. G. K. relates that he went on hunting trip recently with a friend who is a fine field shot and a rigid sportsman. Mr. K., who is only a mediocre shot, was warned repeatedly by the experienced huntsman never to shoot sitting game. "If the rabbit doesn't offer to run, scare him up and make him run—don't shoot him sitting. Give him a chance," the sportsman insisted. The hunters separated. O. G. K. taking a course through a ravine out of sight of the good sport. Presently he came upon a rabbit sitting up under a log—a perfect mark. He couldn't wait, and blazed away, getting the rabbit neatly. "Did you get him?" called the sportsman from over the hill. "Yep." "Was he running?" "Sure he was running," replied Mr. K. "My friend came over the hill just in time to see me pick up the rabbit," says Mr. K. "But it slipped out of my hand and fell to the ground." His log was broken in a flash and the cause of the trouble was revealed.

Massacre Survivor Dies

Mrs. John Peterson received a message Monday afternoon her of the death of her cousin, Peter Broberg, which occurred that day at his home at New London. Mr. Broberg was 71 years of age at time of death. Both Mrs. Peterson and Mr. Broberg were sons survivors of the massacre of white settlers which occurred August 20, 1862 in the little settlement of New Sweden, following the Indian outbreak that summer, at which time 80 people lost their lives. Parents and other kin of Mrs. Peterson and Mr. Broberg were attending church in the settlement when word was brought to them of the tragedy. It was largely due to efforts of Mrs. Peterson, who was a young girl of sixteen or seventeen at that time, that Mr. Broberg owed his escape from the fate which overtook his parents.

Mr. Broberg was engaged in the mercantile business at New London until his retirement a few years ago.

Always look for this ticket for it's the best overall made

The reason that we boast Oshkosh B'Gosh Overalls so strongly is because we know that it is impossible to make a better overall. We know that it is the manufacturer's ambition to always keep Oshkosh B'Gosh at "the top of the heap."

Every tested improvement is adopted for Oshkosh B'Gosh Overalls without delay. Just recently three new features have been added.

First: Hip pockets are now lined with 8 oz. denim, giving two thicknesses of cloth where the wear comes, so that the tools don't wear holes in the pockets. These new pockets will resist the overall. The hip pockets are also sewed under the side seams, lining and all, giving added strength at the point of greatest strain—across the seat.

Second: The combination watch and pencil pocket has been bettered. It now has a double pocket for time book, etc., and the new center opening makes a safer watch pocket.

Third: Most important of all is the new material used. It is extra heavy weight, extra long wearing and the color retains a nice bright blue no matter how often the overall is washed. "Double Dyed Denim," this new material is called, because it is the only denim that is dyed with genuine Indigo by the special Ely process. Every yard of it is cut into Oshkosh B'Gosh Overalls.

Oshkosh B'Gosh for numbers 101, 201 and 301 are made of Double Dyed Denim. It fits on the name and number and you'll always get the greatest overall made—but none! They must make good on us well.

Glacial Period Floods

When the ice began to melt in earnest toward the close of the glacial period, floods occurred and former rivers that would divert many of our largest ones today. So great were these torrents, says Nature Magazine, that enormous boulders were rolled along like pebbles, and thus transported miles beyond their original positions.

Saw Too Many Bats

Harry Hellman of the Detroit Tigers in telling of the old days of baseball when the players were so carefree as they are now, told of one instance in which a day, the "Babe" Ruth of his day, went off on a party that resulted in him being dazed when he went on the field. He confided in the manager, who had been with him, and said: "Bill I won't be able to play. I'm seeing everything in threes."

"That's all right," said Bill, "you just go out there and jump for the middle ball if it comes your way." When he came to bat, the slinger, still groggy, fanned in one-two-three order, and when he went back to the bench, he found Bill saying, "Why didn't you do what I told you and aim for the middle ball?" he asked. "I did," said the weary one, "but I saw three bats and I aimed with the left-handed one."—Detroit News.

New Vessel Propeller.

The Australian crawl principle that produces some of our fastest swimmers now has been applied to motorboats. A new propeller invented in Australia resembles a pair of double fins mounted on a horizontal shaft in the same position as a screw propeller. These do not rotate, however, but oscillate, suggestive of the kick stroke of the crawl. The new propellers are said to save fuel, conserve power and increase speed.—Popular Science Monthly.

J. Arthur Johnson Dies

John Arthur Johnson, son of John Johnson, former resident of Rockbury and who now resides at Thief River Falls, died Saturday night at the U. S. Hospital at Wiggles, Arizona, after a lingering illness of a tubercular nature which he contracted while serving with the A. E. F. in France in 1918.

Decedent, who was 35 years of age at time of death, was born at the Johnson farm in Rockbury and grew to manhood there. He joined the United States Army in February 1918, and after a short preliminary training, was sent overseas as a member of Co. H, 117th Infantry, 32nd Division. He was badly gassed when in France. He seemed to improve at one of the base hospitals in France and later in England. After his return in this country, he endeavored to take vocational training, but failing health necessitated removal to a warmer and drier climate, so he was sent to the government hospital at Wiggles. He seemed to improve under treatment until about ten days ago when he took a sudden turn and grew worse. His brother, Fred Johnson, left International Falls last week to be with him, but did not reach there before he passed away. Arthur, as he was generally known, was a young man of sterling character, well liked by everybody, and his passing will be a source of sincere regret to many friends in this community.

Heartfelt sympathy of numerous friends is extended to the bereaved relative.

A number of local poultry fanciers won substantial prizes with their birds at the Poultry Show at Thief River last week.

COST LESS

than "cheaper" overalls because they give more wear.

You're willing and glad to buy an overall that will give you longer wear. Yet it's hard to tell the difference between overalls, as they're all blue and look about alike. But here's a test that will settle the point of longer wear for you.

Turn the ordinary overall on the scales and read the weight. Then place the same size in an Oshkosh B'Gosh Overall on the same scale. Watch the indicator go past the previous mark, one—two—three—four—five—yes, sometimes six or seven ounces!

That's the story! Heavier denim has larger, stronger threads and more of them to the inch, hence it wears longer and gives you more for your money.

There is no other overall that will weigh as much as Oshkosh B'Gosh! There is no other overall that will wear as long or actually cost as little. These are not idle statements. We will gladly prove the former to you in our store. You can prove the latter by trying an Oshkosh B'Gosh in actual service. That's the final test. Remember, "they must make good or we will."

Weather Over World

A daily weather map of the entire world, similar to that now issued by the United States bureau for this country, is one of the projects that will doubtless be realized in the not far distant future, in the opinion of Roscoe Nunn, associate meteorologist at the weather bureau. In pointing out the need for such a map, Mr. Nunn said that it is now impossible to study the weather of the world as a whole, even though the weather in one part of the globe may be influenced by movements of the air at distant points. "Old King Weather travels ceaselessly over the face of the entire globe," said Mr. Nunn, "but has never yet been seen whole." "We feel a slap of his hand here, a kick there, while his face smiles peacefully for a spell upon a distant spot or land, but no one sees more than a small part of his great bulk at any time. The only way we can visualize him as a whole is by means of the whole weather map, based upon systematic, synchronous observations over the whole globe."

Nature's Unkindness

George Newton is wondering why he is picked on. A hailstorm at his farm near Defiance, Ohio, ruined his corn and cabbage, and cucumber in the garden were split by the hail, which was apparently confined to the 80-acre farm of Mr. Newton. Neighbors reported heavy rains, but no hail.

TAKING NO CHANCES

A woman went into a photographer's to have her picture taken. While the photographer was adjusting the camera the lady wrapped a cloth about around her skirt.

"I'll have to take that off, madam," said the photographer. "I can't take your picture that way." "You can't feel me, my dear man," she said. "I know you see the uptide down in the skirt—don't you?"

Hubert Sumpter Dies

(Hazel News)

Hubert, 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Sumpter, died at the Physicians Hospital at Thief River last Thursday after a two day illness of bronchitis pneumonia. He was taken to the hospital on Tuesday previous to his death.

Hubert, an ambitious boy, was of untold assistance to his parents with work on the farm. He was a likeable boy, and will be greatly missed by his relatives as well as many friends. He leaves his parents, four brothers and five sisters, all of whom were present at the funeral held from the Sumpter home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Cecilia of Grand Forks presided at the funeral service. A group of friends including of Martha and Bertha Smith, Maria Weratlen, Rita Roy and Miss Jean, also of Grand Forks rendered a number of appropriate solo selections. Many beautiful floral tributes covered the casket as tokens of respect and esteem from Hubert's many friends in the community. Alvin, Richard, Carl, Herman Peterson, Lemley Dobson and Herman Sandberg acted as pallbearers. A large number of friends and neighbors were present at the funeral to pay their last respects to the departed and to show their sympathy for the bereaved.

Interment was made in the Swedish Lutheran cemetery west of St. Hilaire. Out-of-town people present beside Mrs. Goolie and the singers, were: Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Schuler, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Salonen, Mrs. Ang. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. B. Smith and Mrs. Sumpter of Grand Forks, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sumpter and family of Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sumpter of St. Hilaire, and Floyd Sumpter who was called home from Illinois. Sympathy of numerous friends is extended to the bereaved family.

Twos being served by the electric high line north of Thief River are complaining of the quality of service being given them. Some claim there is not enough power which makes for poor light, while others say current is being cut out often for good service.

Regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the creamery was held at the creamery building yesterday.

A. J. Hied, who travels thru northwestern states, with headquarters at Minneapolis, spent last week end here with his family.

Back From Texas

N. E. Baebis returned home Monday morning after spending about three weeks loafing after his real estate interests near Mercedes, Texas. He states there has been a vast amount of improvements made to that vicinity since he was there, and that conditions in general are very good. At present most of the market gardens are planting potatoes, while others are digging new apudis. Mr. Baebis has learned the tract to a New York concern who will clear it this winter and crop it for next three seasons.

Win From Clearbrook

The hardest fought basketball game played on local floor this season was that of last Friday evening when the Clearbrook high school outfit defeated them, by a score of 12 to 8. The visitors, who were a husky bunch of lads, started things moving from first time-up, and continued fast to the final whistle. For a short time the visitors took the lead and it looked as tho' they might manage to hold it.

Leslie Hackatt played the stellar role for St. Hilaire, making all the points scored. He was ably assisted in both offensive and defensive by Tip Horst and Oscar Nelson as guards, Clarence Hallstrom at center, and Lloyd Billeda as forward.

The visitors played a fine, clean game, and a warm welcome awaits them should they appear here again.

"SECRETS OF THE NIGHT" with a strong all star cast, Midge Bellamy and James Kirkwood at the head. Here next Saturday and Sunday.

Telegrapher Found Star

As he walked home in the early morning a telegraph operator in South Africa had a habit of studying the starry sky. One morning he was startled by seeing a strange star in the constellation Pictor, and the idea struck him immediately that it must be a new one. He verified his discovery after breakfast, then telegraphed to the observatory at the Cape of Good Hope, which announced it to the world, one of the most noteworthy astronomical events in months, says Popular Science Monthly.

The new star, known as "Nova Pictoris," is especially interesting because it is the first one discovered long before it reached its maximum brightness. Before its outbreak this star was an insignificant looking specimen of the fourteenth or fifteenth magnitude.

Auto Thieves Busy

More automobiles are stolen in the United States in one year than are owned in all of Spain, Russia, China, Bulgaria and Turkey combined, says Capper's Weekly. The annual average of car thefts now is about 100,000. New York city leads with 10,000 a year, or about one-tenth of the number taken in the entire country. At present prices paid for used cars, letting them be stolen is an easy way to be rid of them, especially if there is a little insurance.

Sun His Timepiece

For 17 years Edward Miller, a farmer living near Tivoli, Pa., has done his work and kept all appointments without carrying a watch. He relies entirely upon the sun as his timepiece, and can tell the time of the day to within a few minutes when the sun is shining. As to times when the sun is hidden or cloudy, Mr. Miller said that this did not inconvenience him as he has no desire to go anywhere when it is cloudy or dreary.

COST LESS

You're willing and glad to buy an overall that will give you longer wear. Yet it's hard to tell the difference between overalls, as they're all blue and look about alike. But here's a test that will settle the point of longer wear for you.

Take the ordinary overall on the scales and read the weight. Then place the same size in an Oshkosh B'Gosh Overall on the same scale. Watch the indicator or pass the previous mark, one—two—three—four—five—yes, sometimes six or seven ounces!

That's the story! Heavier denim has larger, stronger threads and more of them to the inch, hence it wears longer and gives you more for your money.

There is no other overall that will weigh as much as Oshkosh B'Gosh! There is no other overall that will wear as long or actually cost as little. These are no idle statements. We will gladly prove the former to you in our store. You can prove the latter by trying an Oshkosh B'Gosh in actual service. That's the final test. Remember, they must make good or we will.

Win At Fisher

With a versatile attack that counted points from every portion of the floor, the St. Hilaire H. S. quint took its second game from Fisher H. S. by a 20 to 8 score. Posing smoothly throughout the fray, the St. Hilaire boys managed to find the hoop with considerable regularity, sinking the leather 9 times from the field against a meager two goals for the Fisher boys.

Hallmick, midget forward, was the scoring light of the game, sinking the sphere five times from the front and adding a free throw to total 11 points. He was closely followed by Hackett who sank 8 field markers for six points. Scougle Nelson played a smooth floor game, and contended himself with feeding the ball to his mates. He was the life of the team offensive and his defensive play was brilliant.

For Fisher H. S., Nelson at floor guard, looked the best, with his stellar floorwork helping advance the team to scoring position only to have the Fisher attack miss the counter or lose the ball through brilliant guarding by the locals. The game was rough in the extra, Captain Hackett being ejected on four personal fouls.

After the game the Fisher H. S. girls served a light lunch, that was enjoyed by all.

The lineups and summary:

St. Hilaire	Fisher
Hackett, C	F. Knutson
Hallmick, P	F. Lindsey
Hallstrom, C	E. Erickson
Nelson, G	G. Nelson
Sliden, O	M. Oop
Beebe, G	G. Kopang
Field goals: Hallmick 5, Hackett 3, Beebe 1, Lindsey, Nelson, Knutson.

Free throws: Hallmick 1, Nelson 2, Knutson 1 and Lindsey 1.

Giant Pumping Plant for American Vessel

A pumping plant equivalent to the municipal water works of a city of nearly 8,000,000 population will be part of the equipment of the steamship Malolo, which, when completed, will be the largest and fastest high-powered passenger steamer ever built in the United States. The Malolo is under construction for the Malolo Navigation company at Cramp's shipyard, Philadelphia. When put in service in the spring of 1927, between San Francisco and Honolulu, she is expected to make the round trip in eight days, cutting four days from the time by the fastest vessels now on the run. The pumps of the swiftest coast cruisers of the United States navy will set the standard for the huge pumps of the Malolo. In exact figures the Malolo's pumps will have a capacity of 38,616 gallons a minute, or 48,408,600 gallons a day—enough, on the basis of 25 gallons a person a day to supply every man, woman and child in a city of 1,932,000.

Japanese Women Take to European Styles

The Tokyo which has arisen from the ashes of the earthquake is quite different from the old Tokyo. Many picturesque features of the old city are missing and there is a noticeable introduction of up-to-date features of American and European cities.

The girls are going so far as to bob their hair and appear in their roles of teahouse entertainers in foreign dress. In the Marunouchi section of Tokyo, where the largest Japanese and foreign business firms are congregated, an office girl wearing a kimono is now a rare sight. The employees had been responsible for a recent change.

Many women found, in the dreadful days following the earthquake, that the European style garment sent so readily supplies allowed a freedom of movement which they will not now give up, even for traditional kimonos, no matter how they are improved.

"Gabbie Fest" A Success

The first "Gabbie Fest," an event which bids fair to become a regular feature, was held Sunday afternoon in basement of the local Norwegian Lutheran church. The program as well as preparation and serving of the lunch which followed, was done entirely by men members of the congregation. The program consisted of musical numbers, and a number of readings which were greatly appreciated. Gus Espeland's reading in "Horsemen as the apes" was worth the price of admission. In preparation of lunch, our esteemed fellow citizen, Arne Vik, acted as "sauce keeper" which he handled with credit to himself and "gabbie" comrades. Other members of the community performed their duties with promptness and dispatch with indifferent careful preparation for the event.

Rev. Grimsrud, in his inimitable manner, gave humorous introductions of each number on the program. At conclusion of the program proper, Miss Selma Hoff speaking in behalf of the Lutheran League, president of the congregation the new place which was recently installed at the basement. Then, Skatrud, representing the congregation, gave a neat little speech in acceptance of the gift.

Arrive At Pauls

A radio utalgut yesterday states the winning "Plan to Plan" tourists who passed their time in a short time ago, have arrived at New Orleans their southern destination. The entire trip was made without serious mishap, and with only minor repairs necessary on any of the cars. Success of the trip proves that winter motoring over the Jefferson Highway is entirely feasible, in feasible even during winter season.

Piano Tuner Coming

Mr. R. W. Brown, piano and pipe organ tuner of Grand Forks, will be in St. Hilaire for two days only, next week. Anyone wishing tuning done, kindly leave orders at St. A. Olson's music store. A large number of people from this community are planning to attend one or more days next week, and not a few exhibitors have already been sent down.

Groundhog Day

Tuesday, February 2nd, is the day when the groundhog is supposed to come out from his winter lair to forecast whether or not an early spring is in prospect. If the day is sunny so he sees his shadow, he goes back for another six weeks of winter. If the reverse occurs, an early spring is assured.

This year, so we are informed, the groundhog made no decision because Northern Minnesota has had such nice weather all winter that spring would be so special treat or event.

However, a number of bachelor citizens, who have stuck close to home during the winter, have begun to show up about town which indicates the ice will go out in the river about first week in April or shortly thereafter.

Gets State Prize

L. A. Weasphal, local poultry fancier, got second prize on a White Wyandotte cock, and second prize on a White Wyandotte hen at the annual show of the Minnesota Poultry Association held at Minneapolis last week. Considering the large number of entries on those classes from all parts of the state, and that Mr. Weasphal only four birds entered, his win alone shows he has exceptionally fine poultry.

Another heavy snowstorm visited central and northern Minnesota last week. But lines were compelled to discontinue service on many lines and railroad service was handicapped by the drifts. Hundreds of men found employment clearing snow from streets in the Twin Cities after the storm. During the same time, this section of the state experienced some cold weather, but no more fall, and auto traffic of all kinds continues here as usual. The "entire Northwest" mentioned by Twin City papers as being snowbound, does not include this part of the state.

St. Hilaire high school basketballers annexed another game when they met and defeated Goodridge high school team on local floor last Friday by a score of 38 to 4. There was some good material among the visitors, but they lacked the intensive training which Coach Rindquist has given the local team the season. On February 12th, the local team goes to Crookston for a return game. Clearbrook for a handy scrap here, and it is anticipated the local team will have their hands full when they play them on their home floor next week.

CREAMERY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Business During Past Year Shows Good Increase Over That Of 1924.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the St. Hilaire Co-op. Creamery Association was held at the village hall Monday afternoon.

In point of attendance, the meeting was the best held for many years past, the hall being filled to its utmost capacity.

Annual report as read by Secretary Fred Edmann shows the creamery has enjoyed an increase of nearly $15,000.00 over that of the previous year. Considering the extremely wet season during early part of the summer, and cold weather coming early in the fall, neither condition being favorable to the dairy industry, the showing made is remarkable.

In point of cream received and butter made, the local creamery now compares favorably with any other similar institution in this section of the state.

The business affairs of the creamery were being conducted to the satisfaction of bank and title of stockholders and patron was evidenced when all officers were re-elected by acclamation. The officers are Joe Nelson, Pres., Felix Grimsrud, v. pres., Emil Larsen, director, Fred Edmann, secretary, and W. F. Wilson, treasurer.

Matter of grading cream and paying the same in accordance with grade was discussed at the meeting. It was decided to pay for cream on sliding scale plan, Land O' Lakes to bring top price and other grades in proportion, according to price received for butter made from the different grades.

Boosts For Waldal

A goodly number of the newspapers throughout this 9th Congressional district have been encouraging the endorsement of Marian Waldal of Minneapolis our state representative, for Congressman from this district. We believe Mr. Waldal would be a valuable man for this important position as being a farmer, he is well versed along agricultural lines and is in position to carry out a program along the agricultural lines. His record of two terms in the state legislature is a splendid one, and if he should decide to become a candidate he shall have our support. —Clearbrook Leader

This competitive test proved Double Dyed Denim fast color.

If only every overall wearer might have seen this test model! The superiority of Double Dyed Denim was proven in a most startling manner.

Samples of denim woven at different mills were sewed together. One of these samples was the Double Dyed Denim. The entire strip was soiled with dirt and grease. Then it was sent to the laundry.

Powerful chemicals were used to take out the dirt and grease. Again and again this process was repeated. Illustrated at the left you see the result.

Some of the pieces were almost white; others a dirty gray; one showed a pale blue. Standing out in striking contrast was the Double Dyed Denim. It came through tough and strong as ever and a wonderful bright blue.

Double Dyed Denim is made only from Oshkosh Dyed Overalls. It was originated and is controlled by the Oshkosh Overall Company. Try this. That's all we ask. They must make good of our will.

PONTIAC SIX
CHIEF OF THE SIXES

His One and Only Supplication

WHEN Mrs. Barbara White knew for a certainty that Sir James White, the eminent English actor, had accepted her invitation to dinner, she was the happiest lady of the land. Fewer scolders that she was heard, she appreciated the breadth he had shown in his acceptance. She had not met Sir James since in a casual way at one of the receptions given in his honor and now she was drawing together a dozen or more of her intimate friends and wanted to provide a really interesting evening.

Barbara cast an approving eye over the table while awaiting the announcement of her guests. Then she drifted into her great drawing room as her guests alighted from luxurious cars at her doorway.

Sir James arrived and even Barbara's well drawing room seemed allied with the charm of his personality, his magnificent voice. He created the impression that he was the recipient of a great honor.

Then came the happy message from the greatest American dramatist, he could not possibly come—he had hoped until the last minute—but he had to order must not be disobeyed.

Barbara was disappointed.

"That leaves us just six," she announced laughingly to her guests. "I trust no one is disappointed."

"My dear Mrs. White," it was Sir James who spoke. "I dare not risk it. It is my one and only supplication. Twice I have paid the penalty—failure of play followed by laughter with the amused guests but Barbara knew she must supply the fourteenth chair with a famous being. Sir James himself came to the rescue. "Would it not be interesting to invite someone who is passing the door? We had a most amusing guest in London—made similar dramatic stance—one whom, as a matter of fact, we salvaged—by our windows."

There was no doubt the company approved the suggestion.

Consequently, five minutes later, Barbara was heard in slight controversy with someone in the hall—someone whose voice held a peculiar resonance, musical, compelling.

"I should very much prefer going in just as I am," that voice answered; "I put on clothes not my own. I should feel a stranger to myself and consequently unnatural. You do not mind?"

"Certainly not," Barbara's voice was heard.

Then, the girl stepped into the room behind Barbara. She was neither pretty nor in any way striking save that her carriage was supremely graceful. Her hair was a halo of copper and her frock was full gray. Her eyes were sparkling green and her mouth was crimson. She was tall, very pale.

That she was fighting down something that threatened to choke her, her soul was quite evident—to Sir James, great master that he was of human emotions.

"Extraordinarily magnetic," he told himself and more than confirmed his opinion when he felt her slim fingers within his hand.

"This thing tremendous 'hopes at one-sometimes,' she said.

Sir James looked very deep into the green eyes. "Tinted it does," was his reply, and the very faintest of smiles drifted across the white face.

Barbara had made no change in seating arrangements. The stranger in their midst was occupying the chair that the eminent dramatist went in to have enjoyed—next to the great of honor.

Perhaps all the guests at Barbara's dinner would admit that they had never had a more interesting evening.

Both Sir James and the little stranger were assailed in the way of interesting conversation. Old sketches of life, moments fraught with tragedy or joy—each a drama in itself—led that evening's feeling of electricity in the air kept the guests well amused.

"Even as your footman stepped me," said the stranger, "I was being followed by one I loathe—I was fearful in terror, until this haven of refuge opened."

She looked about at those who listened, and her eyes were stormy laden. "I could not sing another note if I left my soul—believe me."

Sir James' voice responded nobly. "Never leave your soul out of anything, child—it is God's gift, and you cannot do without it. You will sing for us?"

"It will be only too happy," she told him.

And in the great studio afterward she stood, a small gray figure, beside the piano.

The little stranger sang that simple song, "Dawn," and when the last sentence rang out like a great trumpet, "And love was born" her eyes were drawn toward those of Sir James.

The intensity of his face, the tremendous glory reflected in his entire attitude, drew his gaze over the little stranger's head. She smiled, with the power of the sunbeams, that had been.

She sprang swiftly forward and caught her to his arms. He held her as if he intended never again to let her go.

Great happiness, so suddenly engulfing her, had swept her beyond her doubts.

And Barbara White's guests never forgot the moments when they witnessed the birth of a new love.

Mail Your Reports

The State Game and Fish Department states a large proportion of Minnesota hunters who have issued small game licenses in 1925, have failed to report amount of game killed, as required by law. A card is attached to each license for the purpose of making reports. The Department says it will be compelled to refuse licenses in 1926 to such persons as do not report. The figures contained in reports are mighty important and furnish information not only to the Game and Fish Department but to the Bureau of Biological Survey at Washington, D. C. to whom they are eventually forwarded.

The department states it has dozens of inspectors every day about license for hunting rabbits. No license is required for hunting a variety of rabbits in this state, they being un-protected. Hunting rabbits on a game refuge is not encouraged, but a permit can be secured from the nearest game warden to do so.

Lunch was served at both ends until about 1:00, but dancing continued until a much later hour.

Tourists On Return Trip

Canadian tourists, who passed thru here in January on their "Pine Point Tour" are now enroute home. They will be in Fargo today and will return to Winnipeg tomorrow afternoon. The Canadian city is in gala attire, and is preparing to extend itself in honor of the tourists. The latter cannot find words to express their appreciation for many courtesies extended by their hosts in the States. They have seen back so many glowing accounts of fine receptions given them in towns along the route that their home city has become ecstatic, and is preparing to extend itself in welcome tomorrow. Fifteen hundred cars will be in a monster parade which will greet Winnipeg's returning tourists when they arrive at their home city limits tomorrow afternoon.

Loretta, turning to glance at a table at which a friend of hers was seated, noticed that the girl who had been called Hot's with that Ranger girl's father made so much money in the oil business that she had bought Clinton and the young lady were just rising from their table. She caught sight of the Lawder peep with his companion strolled over to the table and saw that the young man in that wayward manner he had and saying, "I am to present my wife, Loretta, to you." Just WHY is OAKLAND WINNING and HOLDING GOOD WILL?

Why are so many motorists everywhere so genuinely enthusiastic over this car? Why are they favoring it above all others?

Is it because the Oakland Six is more beautiful—because it possesses more advanced features, including Air Cleaner, Oil Filter, Full Pressure Oiling System, Four-Wheel Brakes and the Harmonic Balance? Or because it reveals greater speed, power, acceleration and smoothness of performance?

Each of these features plays its part; but there is an even stronger reason for Oakland Six popularity.

Oakland combines—not just one or two of these advantages but all them—at prices surprisingly low.

Poor, Dear Beatrice

WHEN Mrs. Gregory, the reception clerk, was out for lunch, Nancy King sat in the outer office and tended the switchboard. Nancy King was Laurence Westover's private secretary, and having come to work for him heart and fancy free and finding him the model of good manners and the pattern of good-looking-american manhood, of course Nancy fell in love with him. Sometimes Nancy "blasted" her conversation that Laurence had when she sat at the switchboard.

"Ten, I'd planned to play golf," she heard him telling a man friend of his one Friday. "Ten, I've got to go Saturday afternoon with Beatrice. Poor, dear Beatrice. I don't know what is the matter with her. She was in perfect condition just last week and then last Tuesday—I was hurrying home with her about midnight and suddenly she gasped and choked and it was all I could do to get home with her."

Then Nancy drew away from the receiver, filled with a feeling of mingled contempt and jealousy for this Beatrice creature.

An vacation time drew near and she claimed to hear this remark over the telephone one noon hour when Mrs. Gregory was out: "Ten, I'm planning to spend the summer in Canada. I've planned to take Beatrice with me. I'll let her go by boat—and I'll pick her up at Quebec. Of course I shan't mention it to the master, because he knows you know how she feels about it. She'd be worried to death and I'm very well so how I could spend a vacation without Beatrice."

Nancy King drew away smiling from the receiver. Only that morning Mr. Westover had put a little note into her hand asking her to have luncheon with him and Nancy had been too much surprised to accept.

"What's the matter, little girl?" Mr. Westover said to her as they went away from the lunch table. "You don't seem to be quite yourself." Just having Laurence talk that way to her made the tears almost overflow her moist eyes, but she told Laurence that she supposed she was just a little tired.

The next morning Laurence was very busy, too busy to give Nancy any dictation or to do any more than now to her as he passed her. At lunch hour Nancy again picked up the telephone switchboard. A feminine voice, which Nancy recognized as that of Laurence's married sister, Vivian, sounded over the wire and asked exactly for Mr. Westover.

"Larry," she was saying, "I've had news. Beatrice has been in the hospital. I don't know what can be done. It was out on the Silver boulevard. Davidson, the new chauffeur, had taken her out. Can you possibly come home at once?"

Laurence made some tragic comment and uttered a deep groan that seemed to come straight from his wounded heart and looking rather pale he soon passed Nancy in the outer office and hurried away, hardly speaking to her as he went.

It was not until almost five that Laurence Westover came back to the office, looking very dejected indeed. No sooner had he reached his office than he pressed the push button that summoned Nancy to him.

"Say, Nancy—have dinner with me tonight—please," he said. "I'm very behind on my correspondence. I hoped to do it this afternoon. So stick around until six and have dinner with me and after dinner we'll come back and work a couple of hours and get cleaned up."

"I can't very well refuse to stay to take your dictation, Mr. Westover," said Nancy. "But so far having dinner with you is overruled—I don't see why I should. You see I overheard what your sister said over the wire, and I know what has happened. I hope it wasn't the worst."

"Just about," said Laurence with a sigh. "And Beatrice wasn't even injured."

"Where you were you engaged?" said Nancy quite simply.

"Me! Who? To whom? What are you talking about?" said Laurence.

"Why to Beatrice?" said Nancy.

Laurence cut off her further remarks with a loud laugh, and, for the first time that afternoon, he looked really like himself. "I was very fond of Beatrice," he said. "I have spent a lot of money on her, but bless my stars, Beatrice is the same as my little rascal. The chauffeur took her out this morning on the moon and crashed her to bits. As for being engaged—good lord, girl, there's only one woman in the world I'll ever be engaged to. If she won't have me, I'll live and die a bachelor. Nancy, I'm in love with you."

The busting of the telephone interrupted Laurence at this interesting juncture.

"What?" he said in some surprise. "Well, I'm blessed. I'll say that was decent of you. It had quite slipped my mind. That makes a big difference. Thanks for letting me know."

"That," said Laurence, "means taking Nancy gently in his arms, 'that was the insurance agent to tell me the car was insured after that. We were or less leave much things to him, but I had never given him definite instructions—and he hadn't sent the bill. But Beatrice was insured all the same. You must go with me to pick out her successor. Nancy—tell me you love me."

Local Boy Loses Fingers In Horrible Accident

Earl, young son of Mr. A. S. Williams, suffered the loss of four fingers on his right hand Saturday afternoon as a result of an unfortunate accident at the local meat market. The boy was assisting his brother by operating the power meat grinder, and had finished work with exception of one long piece of string meat which had been laid aside. While holding this piece to prevent it falling too fast and clogging the machine, it is believed the attraction was diverted for a moment and his fingers were drawn into the grinder. The unfortunate lad was rushed to the office of Dr. Werner where examination disclosed the fingers were so badly mangled as to preclude any possibility of saving them. An operation was performed at once and all four fingers were amputated at the knuckle joints. A loss in the hand was also thaltered but it is believed this can be so the boy will have use of the palm.

Earl rallied well after the operation, and is now getting along as well as could be expected, considering the terrible experience he went thru.

A Fine Statement

The annual statement of the local cooperative creamery as read at the annual meeting of that organization a short time ago, reveals some interesting figures. In 1924 the creamery received 401,970 pounds of cream, while in 1925 this increased to 598,003.

In 1924 the butterfat content of cream received was 108,698 while in 1925 it was 157,345. Butter made in 1924 was 135,274 pounds. In 1925 this increased to 195,579 which is a 40 percent increase over previous years.

Meets Sudden Death

The despatched and mangled body of Dr. J. C. Carlson, Thief River Falls chiropractor, was found on the Great Northern tracks at Redland yards at Crookston last Thursday evening. Discovery of the body was made by a flagman of the freight train crew which passed there here that afternoon. Examination of both the railroad and Duluth passenger trains which passed there the yards showed the freight, derailed blood splattered on pilot of the Duluth train indicating it as the one which crushed and dragged the body.

Further information states Dr. Carlson was a passenger on the southbound train from Thief River to Crookston that afternoon, and that he had paid his fare in cash, receiving several dollars in change. It is reported no valuable or money was found in clothing on the body when it was picked up. Just how Dr. Carlson happened to be in Redland yards, and circumstances leading to his death are a mystery. Friends of the dead man are of opinion he met with foul play. An inquest was held at Crookston Tuesday to determine how he met death but the findings are unknown here as yet. Dr. Carlson was a single man. The only known relation in this locality is an uncle, Swan Wilberg, who resides near Hazel.

Dr. Carlson was well known locally as he maintained branch offices here for practice of his profession, the past two years. He was a kindly man who attended strictly to his own affairs, and so far as can be learned, did not have an enemy.

It is to be hoped some plausible explanation of the mystery surrounding his death, may be arrived at soon.

Win From Mentor

The local high school basketball team defeated Mentor Friday night when they met and defeated Mentor high school on local floor by a score of 24 to 8. The victors were a speedy bunch and put up a better game than the score would indicate. Coach Keisergard's hitting culled advantage in both weight and teamwork, however, and had no difficulty in holding Mentor at any stage of the game. Friday the team goes to Goodridge for the concluding game of the season with the tournament game of Mentor next week.

The local political pot is beginning to boil in anticipation of annual village election which will be held March 9.

WHEAT POOLS FORCES UNITED

Formation of Hugs Marketing
Unit Effected at St. Paul Cooperative Meeting.

St. Paul.—The plan of cooperative marketing leaders for a world-wide organization of wheat pool units, designed eventually to market the bulk of the world's wheat and to make the standardizing pooling operations become a reality at the first international conference of wheat pools, held at the St. Paul Athletic club, the most basic, scheduled for regular meetings, by unanimous vote of 18 resolutions for cooperative grain pools of the United States, Canada and Australia. Eight of the United States were represented by officials. These pools are operated in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Indiana, Nebraska, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. The Colorado pool was the only state not represented. Canada sent officials of her three large wheat marketing combines, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and the wheat pool, known as the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers. One of its important functions, according to W. H. Frederick, secretary and treasurer of the Minnesota Wheat Growers' Cooperative Marketing Association, will be to obtain complete and accurate information for the member pools, regarding crop and crop conditions, available grain supplies and trade demand from every wheat producing country in the world.

This competitive test proved Double Dyed Denim fast color.

If only every overall wearer might have seen this test made! The superiority of Double Dyed Denim was proven in a most startling manner.

Samples of denim worn at different mills were sewed together. One of these samples was the "Double Dyed Denim." The entire strip was soaked with dirt and grease. Then it was sent to the laundry.

Powerful chemicals were used to take out the dirt and grease. Again and again this process was repeated. Illustrated at the left you see the result.

Some of the pieces were almost white; others a dirty gray; one showed a pale blue. Standing out in striking contrast was the Double Dyed Denim. It came through rough and strong as ever and a wonderful bright blue.

Double Dyed Denim is made only at Oshkosh B'Gosh Overalls. It was originated and is controlled by the Oshkosh Overalls Company. Try a pair. Think all we ask. They must make good or we will.

SUCH IS LIFE

A villous doctor, summoned out of bed at an unseemable hour and not in the least of humor, was just entering the home of his patient, when a late passer by accosted him conversationally.

"Somebody sick in there, doc?"

"No, no, indeed," replied the physician. "I'm just going to visit him his music lesson."—Acquaintance (Lafayette Weekly).

Direction Makes a Difference

"Father," said Johnny, looking up from his book, "what is conversation?"

"Conversation," with him, my son, is a line of talk we hand out to others, which if others try it on is called fault finding."

Gone are the Old Penalties of Low Price

Until the new Pontiac Six was developed it was literally impossible to buy a low priced car without accepting certain admitted penalties—those of ordinary beauty, ordinary performance, ordinary comfort and ordinary stamina.

Now the new Pontiac Six changes all that. Developed by engineers who could draw on almost all the resources of General Motors, it provides not only that economy and an unexpectedly low price—but every characteristic of high quality.

It provides the striking beauty of a Oakland Six, combined in the Pontiac Six—$825 to $1295. All prices in January.

Which will be you?

three months from now

TODAY look overalls look just about alike to you. You see them on the counter—new, comfortable and ready to wear. It really hard to tell which one should cost more than the other.

But look ahead three months from now. You're going to give them some rough treatment during that time. They'll get dirty and they'll be washed.

How will they look then? Will you still be comfortably looking at them? Will they be too torn and ragged to wear? Think of these things when you buy the overalls, instead of regarding them merely as a piece of cloth.

The other reason is the famous Oshkosh B'Gosh guarantee—"The MOST made good or we will," which means exactly what it says. When next you buy INSIST on Oshkosh B'Gosh. Build the reputation to it.

Funeral Held Friday

Funeral services for the late Ruby Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hanson, were conducted from the family home near town by Rev. C. M. Grimstad last Friday afternoon. A large number of beautiful flowers, tributes from friends of the family, relatives, and schoolmates of the little girl, crowded the casket as it was borne to its last resting place. Interment was in the cemetery west of town beside remains of Louis Hanson, who died two weeks before his sister.

Mrs. Walter Berg Dies

Word was received here last Friday of the death of Mrs. Walter Berg, wife of a former resident of this village, which occurred Thursday at Minneapolis where they made their home. A child born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Berg died a few days before his mother passed away, making the bereavement doubly hard for Mr. Berg and surviving relatives. Mrs. Berg and husband visited here at home of his mother, Mrs. O. Sherry, shortly after their marriage and Mrs. Berg became known to a number of local people at that time. Heartfelt sympathy of numerous St. Hilaire friends is extended to the bereaved husband and other relatives in their loss, and sympathy so Mr. Berg in loss of his helpmate and breaking up of his new home so soon after its establishment.

Gives Fine Lecture

Rev. J. Dixon of Third River, gave a very fine lecture on "Law Enforcement" at a meeting of the W. C. T. U., held yesterday afternoon at the school building. Rev. Dixon, who is a versatile and fluent public speaker, gave a highly instructive lecture on his subject, especially as pertaining to enforcement of the law prohibiting manufacture and sale of intoxicants. He pointed out the evils arising from use of intoxicants of all kinds, and broke home the fact that violation of the prohibition law is almost dangerous for the Constitution of our country. Following his speech a fine program of musical numbers was rendered after which lunch was served in the domestic science room.

Going To The Game

Arrangements are being made so that all persons in St. Hilaire who desire to attend the basketball game between St. Hilaire and Ellsworth at Twin Valley tomorrow, can be assured of transportation. In addition to a number of car owners who have signified their intention of taking high school pupils, who otherwise would be unable to go, the Triangle Transportation Company will furnish one or more of their large passenger buses at nominal prices. If all parties, will sign up to go by bus, this will leave more room in the private cars for high school students. All who wish to go by bus can sign up with Myra Jackson.

Will Play At Twin Valley

This district is divided into two parts each of which conducts its own tournament. Friday the team goes to Twin Valley to meet the first Hittard team which won district honors for the south end of the district. Hittard is considered to be far this year, but Reverend's "lightning fire" plan to put a crimp in that record if fast, hard playing and good teamwork will do it.

Another Pioneer Gone

Kend H. Finstad, well known and highly respected pioneer resident of Rockbury township, died at his home last Wednesday afternoon, March 10, following a stroke of apoplexy sustained the previous Saturday. Mr. Finstad had been in bed of health for the past forty years, never having had any illness until about three months ago when he had a light stroke, the first mailing that he had been falling.

Mr. Finstad was born in Orono, Norway on August 29, 1856 and lived but a few months of being 70 years of age when death cut short his career. He came to this country in 1880 and worked about two years in Wisconsin. He came to this country in 1882 and homesteaded in Rockbury township the farm on which he resided until his death. In 1893 he was married to Mrs. E. Engstrom and to their union five children were born, they being Elmer Finstad of Hazel, Mrs. Albert Mattson of Ogish, Minn., Mrs. Carl Albert of Hazel, Carl of Ogish, and Martin who reside at home.

As one of the earliest settlers in Rockbury, Mr. Finstad saw a good deal of hardship incident to pioneer life. He saw his faithful bullocks as transformation of a wooded wilderness into what is now one of the best farming sections in this part of the state, and they had no small part in the hard work necessary to bring that into being. They literally bore a home out of the wilderness, and today have a stately white farm as a bequest to their children.

The old sturdy pioneer has passed to his reward, but he leaves a host of old friends who deeply mourn his passing.

At the funeral services, which were conducted by Rev. C. M. Osterlund of St. Pauli church Sunday afternoon, about sixty male leaders of people were in attendance, and many fine floral tributes from friends in the community, were in evidence. Interment was made in the cemetery near that church.

Sympathy of a large number of friends in this community is extended to the family.

For State Senator

Peter Engstrom, prominent Rockbury farmer and dairyman, has filed as a candidate for state senator from the 65th, legislative district which consists of Preston, Red Lake and Clearwater counties. Mr. Engstrom is the second filing for that position in the coming primary election.

Dedicate New Home

Enthusiastic dairy farmers from all parts of Minnesota participated in the annual meeting of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association in Minneapolis last week. The magnificent new $350,000 home of the association at the Northwest Terminal was dedicated Wednesday with impressive ceremonies, including addresses by state officials and other prominent leaders in the state.

An important step was taken when it was voted to change the name of the association to the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc. This action was prompted by the great popularity won by that trade mark, and to the fact that creameries in Wisconsin are joining the association and marketing their butter under the brand.

Amputates Thumb

While splitting wood at the Jackson place, Monday afternoon, William Rydell had the misfortune to amputate his left hand thumb between first and second joints when he miscalculated a stroke with the axe. He was rushed to office of Dr. O. R. Warner who found it necessary to amputate at the second joint. At present Bill is getting along nicely, but it will be a month or more before he will be able to use the hand.

Power Combine

Four large power pumps operating in this part of the state, the largest of which is the Red River Power Company, have formed an association which will provide for physical connection of their different lines. When put into operation, this will provide current if any plant should be out of commission, and will enable the combining concern to utilize water power to full capacity during spring and other high water periods.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hagen removed Saturday from the Lady house on Water street to the R. L. Hagen place along the river. Oscar found it also convenient for barn work as well as pasture at the home place. It is also more convenient to his work as patrolman on the state road.

In Praise of Duncing

Dancing the "foxtrot" of nation, formerly a type of religious exercise, the invention of which was ascribed to deity, was also highly esteemed as a gymnastic exercise, the practice of which was compulsory with the "pagan, old and young. Old Anacreon, most lighthearted of Greek poets, looked upon the dance as a religious act.

Why have OAKLAND Sales Doubled

All America has bestowed upon the Oakland Six the one sure mark of preference—ever-growing demand. State after state has favored the car so strongly that sales have doubled in the past six months.

The reasons for this unprecedented favor will be readily apparent to anyone who tests Oakland Six abilities.

The car has power for any hill you will encounter—more speed than you will care to use—acceleration that excites envy —smoothness of performance unmatched in its field—and,

better still, a rugged endurance that assures years of service.

Moreover, Oakland's amazing prices—$790 to $350 lower —single out the Oakland Six as an unequalled investment.

Oscar Arneson Stricken Suddenly

St. Paul—Oscar Arneson, 47 years old, clerk of the Minnesota house of representatives, for 15 years, fell dead a short distance from his home. He was accompanied by his wife and returning from a social gathering when stricken by an attack of heart disease and collapsed on the sidewalk.

Mr. Arneson was born at Bergen, Norway, April 16, 1871, and came to Minneapolis when 2 years old, with his parents. They settled in Great Falls, and he was active in newspaper work there, being for 11 years, publisher of the Great Northern Herald in Herman.

Chapman Loses Last Court Fight

Washington—Gerald Chapman, the mail handler under sentence to the April 6, was refused a review of his case by the Supreme Court. He contended, without success, for the lower federal court that the sentence would not be enforced against him, and insisted upon being set free to Atlanta. "Complete" federal sentence for mail robbery.

Death Results From Accident

Word was received by the Spectator a few days ago of the death of Mrs. Alfred Anderson, former resident of this village, which occurred March 17th at Ashland, Wisconsin.

While returning home from church, accompanied by a friend, on January 18, Mrs. Anderson was run-down by a motorcycle driven by a young student. The ladies were walking in the street because of icy condition of the walks, and the driver claimed the accident was a unavoidable because of rain in the road. Exploded! The Old Theory of Low-Cost Design

In developing and introducing the new Pontiac Six General Motors has completely shattered the theory that high quality could not be achieved in a low-cost Six.

From the day of its public presentation, the Pontiac Six has been making giant strides toward leadership in its field—because it is the living expression of quality in every aspect of motor car value.

With the Pontiac Six priced at $825, it is no longer necessary to accept the limitations of high-priced four new ones that have hitherto characterized low-priced Sixes.

In breath-taking performance, in striking beauty, in luxurious comfort, in staunch construction, the Pontiac Six is the vital embodiment of quality—yet it sells for a price so low that only General Motors could possibly achieve it.

P. W. Peterson Dies

P. W. Peterson, well known and highly respected pioneer resident of Wyndstone township, died at his home last Sunday morning at 4:15 after an illness of several months duration. He had not been in best of health for a number of years, but his condition did not become serious until this winter. Altho his suffering was almost unbearable at times, he bore it with patience and fortitude to the end. Mr. Peterson, who lacked but two days of being 67 years of age at time of death, was born in Finland, Sweden. He came to this country when about twenty five years of age and settled at Chicago.

In 1888 he was married to Saffra Matheson at Chicago, and in 1891 they moved to Minnesota. They are among the early pioneer settlers in Wyndstone township which has been the family home for 38 years. By industrious will, hard work and perseverance Mr. and Mrs. Peterson tamed the wilderness in which they settled, and that they met with worldly success is attested by their fine home and farm which is one of the best in that community. Not only did they carve out a home for themselves, but they reared a family of ten children, the Peterson farm home was always a gathering place for the people in that district, and the place left vacant by death of Mr. Peterson, is one that cannot be filled as he was always neighborly and generous.

Mr. Peterson is survived by his faithful helpmate and two children. The latter are: Frank, Anna, Milton, Violet, Richard and Alvin who reside at home, Walter and Mrs. Elmer Erickson at Gully, Mrs. Weyrauch and Fred at Chicago, all of whom were home for the funeral.

In addition to his immediate family Mr. Peterson is survived by a large number of relatives in Wyndstone and vicinity as well as at Chicago. A number of out-of-town people were present at the funeral.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from Clara Swedish Lutheran church of which the deceased was a member for many years. Rev. A. P. Nelson delivered a touching funeral oration in the Swedish language, and Rev. C. M. Gilmour of the village spoke in English, and the Swedish Lutheran choir of Clara and St. Hilaire rendered three appropriate selections. A profusion of beautiful flowers, tributes from many friends near and far, blanketed the altar at the church. The funeral procession as it left the home, was nearly a mile in length, and only about half of

Returns From Hospital

Mrs. M. Fricker, who went to St. Vincent hospital at Crookston for treatment a short time ago, was brought home yesterday morning. After a blood transfusion operation at the hospital, she shows some improvement, and will now take a complete rest for some weeks in hopes of regaining her health.

Snow Further South

Snowbound clings further south, such as St. Louis and nearby towns, were compelled to call on Minnesota for a supply of milk last week-end when heavy snow cut off their avenue of supply. Minnesota has enjoyed fine weather all past winter while states south, east and west have had to contend with snow and unseasonable weather.

A fine cash register was added to equipment of the Jackson store last week. The machine, which will be a great convenience at the store, was sold by M. G. Drake, district representative of the DeLton Company makers of registers and adding machines.

A meeting of stockholders and delegates of the Security State Bank at Middle River, which was closed a short time ago, was held recently with view of reopening the bank.

Miss Esther Horst and Elsie Bjorkquist, who had spent their Easter vacation at the Hume-Kolsted home, left Saturday to resume their school teaching work at Blackrock.

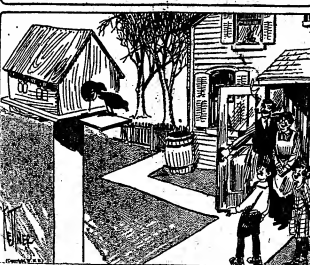

Miss Mabel Lohr, who teaches at Blasted, has returned there after spending Easter vacation with her parents.

Joe A. Dahl, who attends the State Teachers Training College at Moorhead, came home Tuesday to spend his Easter vacation. Andy was out on a tour with the school girls last week-end, which tour was completed Monday evening at Hendrum.

Those who came to pay their last respects to their departed friend and neighbor, were able to find seating room in the church. Interment was made in the family burial plot in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Since sympathy of a host of friends is extended to Mrs. Peterson and family in their loss of husband and father.

Reserve Power

An engine is designed so that under average working conditions only a small part of its power is used. The balance is held in reserve for times when additional power is needed. Work the engine under full load constantly and it will soon break down.

So it is with your business. If you fail to maintain a cash reserve fund for emergency use, you are employing all of your financial power all of the time; and so when you strike a snag in your business operations you haven't the reserve money to pull you through.

Plan to build up a cash reserve fund. Talk it over with us.

Only three or four lumber mills will operate in Minnesota during the coming summer. As short a period ago as twenty years, there were scores of mills in the state, and thousands of acres of the finest timber to be found anywhere on this continent. Lumber barons gave a free hand by state authority, have practically ruined the state of its valuable timber resources, and the state is now spending hundreds of thousands of dollars for-estaring areas from which it sold valuable timber for little or nothing a few years ago. A little foresight during those years, and regulations similar to those in use in European countries would have insured Minnesota a plentiful supply of timber for all time.

Train and Ship Disaster Kill Ninety, and Injure Scores

Rio de Janeiro—Ninety persons were killed and scores injured in two disasters in Brazil. Heavy passengers were reported killed and scores hurt when a train from Pedro Grande in the state of Minas Gerais plunged 800 feet down a mountain side. The train consisted of 10 cars and five of them burst into flames, after rolling down the mountain side. The train was en route to this city. From Bahia, it is reported that 80 persons were drowned when an enormous boat sank en route to Itaparica islands in the Bay of Bahia. The excursion was held for the celebration of a religious festival. Bahia is about 200 miles northeast of Rio.

Senators Act to Bar Jar Colony

Washington—With relations between the United States and Mexico already near the breaking point, announcement of a concession to a Japan syndicate on the west coast of Lower California, Mexico, threatened to lead to new complications. Reports that the Mexican government had granted a land grant of 2,000,000 acres on the Pacific near Magdalena Bay to a Japanese company are being investigated by Chairman W. B. Borah, other members of the Senate foreign relations committee. Senator Borah wishes to ascertain if the reports are true with a view to contemplated action by the senate which might thwart such a proposal.

Chinese Pirates Seize Steamer
London—Chinese pirates have captured another Chinese steamer on the high seas, stored it into the famous prize rendezvous in Hainan Bay in South China, robbed the passengers and dismantled, says a Hongkong dispatch.
The steamer was the China Merchants Company's Hainan. The pirates were disputed as passengers. During the voyage from Shanghai to Hongkong they seized the vessel, bound the passengers with ropes and robbed them of booty valued at about $40,000, chiefly money and jewelry.

judged that Valborg Grimsrud won ceiving first place follows:

"SPRINGTIME"

Spring and Easter hand in hand,
The bells ring out with cheer,
Easter's come, Easter's come,
Spreading the message far and near.
Bring bunnies, chicks and eggs,
Are now put on display,
It shows that spring is coming on,
Without a bit delay.
The snow all melts in Springtime,
The sun allows down so bright,
The flowers and trees all budding, Making our hearts both happy and light.

Local Men Buy Creamery

Mrs. A. J. Hied and Harvey Abol, formerly connected with the local creamery, have completed a deal whereby they become owners of a creamery plant at Cranston, Wis., and will engage in business there shortly after May 1st.

Cranston, the county seat of Row County, is a town of about 1000 inhabitants, and is located on the Fox River about 150 miles from Superior. The creamery plant has not been in operation this season, but the new owners expect to have it operational and ready for business in early May.

Mr. Hied, who has travelled for a St. Louis firm since last fall, has severed his connection with that firm and will arrive home late of this week. Next week he, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Abol, will leave by motor for Cranston to take over the plant.

Both Mr. Hied and Mrs. and Mrs. Abol have a circle of friends in St. Hilaire and vicinity who regret to see them leave, but who all join in wishing them successful success in their new home and venture.

To Creamery Patrons

Owing to belief that some have overlooked the previous announcement of the creamery station that cream is taken every day until 2 o'clock except on Saturdays when the time is 12 o'clock. This is done to furnish possibility of having cream over Sunday in the rate which would lower its quality.

To secure uniform delivery on all week days, the same plan as used in former years will be carried this season. Those in north half of the district will deliver Monday, Wednesday and Friday while those in south half will deliver alternate days.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson delivered last week-end to Mervin, N. D., for a visit with relatives. They returned Sunday.

Two inches of snow fell in places along the Canadian border north of here Tuesday.

Hot Gibbons left for "SADDLE HAWK" and a 2nd round here next Saturday and Sunday.

Reserve Power

An engine is designed so that under average working conditions only a small part of its power is used. The balance is held in reserve for times when additional power is needed. Work the engine under full load constantly and it will soon break down.

So it is with your business. If you fail to maintain a cash reserve fund for emergency use, you are employing all of your financial power all of the time; and so when you strike a snag in your business operations you haven't the reserve money to pull you through.

Plan to build up a cash reserve fund. Talk it over with us.

Christian Education Rally

The local Norwegian Lutheran church was filled to overflowing last Sunday for the "Christian Education Rally" sponsored by the church, headed by talent from Thief River Falls. Dr. Mally of Thief River Falls, Elmer Tandberg, superintendent of the school at Middle River, Miss Agnes Tandberg, member of the high school faculty at Thief River, Mr. Morris Bye, superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools and Mrs. T. Reep of that city, all graduates of the different Lutheran colleges, Luther, St. Olaf and Concordia, gave very interesting and informative talks on advantages gained from an education received at one of the three colleges maintained by the church. An increase this year from thirty to fifty percent in attendance noted last year at the college named, is an indication that the Norwegian people in the Northwest are taking more interest in their colleges than ever before, and hopes were expressed that rallies such as this would result in still further interest being shown. In addition to the various addresses, Mrs. Mally rendered a most appreciated vocal solo, and there were also numbers by a quartet of the visitors from Thief River Falls.

After the program a lunch was served in the basement by the Lars Loberg, K. O. Olgren, John MacLeod and S. M. Boff families.

As Often as Is Necessary

"I'll serve, never get over it. My whole life's ruined. Can't you help me? I can't bear the suffering." "You're getting it," Doctor Brunson stroked her soothingly. "It'll be better soon. Nature's kind and you'll learn to love again."

"Never! Never! There's never been anyone before. And she'll never be anyone after this."

She burst into sobs and hurried her head on the doctor's breast.

"Now, you're going to be my own true girl and know up and down it," he said after a while. "Here—"

He drew a fresh band-aid from his pocket and handed it to her.

She took the band-aid which he slipped into her hand and set down, a wilted, tearful little girl.

The doctor passed a hand through his hair wearily, shrugged his shoulders and sighed.

"Dorothy," he spoke with confidence, his old, tired personality coming to the top again. "If I tell you something you must promise you'll never repeat it to anyone."

"What is it?" "Wouldn't better listen now. This is about your father."

Dorothy looked up with awakening interest. The doctor hurried on.

"You know he and I were lifelong friends. We went through high school and later through college and medical school together. Well, it was our last year at Harvard. Jim had been working pretty hard, but somehow he'd managed to spend a good bit of time with a very pretty girl whom he met somewhere at a dance. She was charming and just before graduation he told me that he was engaged."

The slight case broke and he shook me out of a sound sleep to tell me all about it. Then one evening, two or three weeks later he came to my room and told me something had happened. I never got the straight of it, but he asked me to be a little, and for a while we were uneasy about him. That's how we came to go into partnership in the first place. I thought that the struggle would be too depressing for him alone."

We came here and settled—opened offices on the 10th of July and on the 15th your mother walked into the office with a signed writ. The next day you were born."

"But, doctor, and was always so crazy about mother, she did it in credulity."

"Surely he was. He raved over her just as he did over his little Boston friend. That's what I'm trying to show you—that."

"But you needn't think that I ever will," she interrupted hastily.

"Well, the point under discussion now is what we're going to do with you. We're awfully sort of nervous down at the hospital. If you'll come to register and help a fellow out—we need you. He really do. But this work would be hard, I'm warning you."

Dorothy thought in silence for a moment, then spoke without enthusiasm. "I suppose I'll have to do something with my life, and morning's as good as anything else."

The doctor quickly covered a multitude, then lowered his voice seriously. "It's better than anything else, child."

So it was arranged and Dorothy entered training immediately. The first few days she lived in a daze. Life seemed to consist of endless duties, aching knees and nights of restless sleep.

And in the morning when the lonely clanging raising bell called her to another day's work she struggled out of her sleep like one fighting for consciousness. But after a while order came out of the chaos, the work became more interesting and less of a strain.

And as the months passed Dorothy forgot her own suffering and buried her troubles in those of others. And there came into her face the old alert, intelligent interest in things and in her voice there was a new warmth and sympathy.

One day, watching his little friend with much satisfaction.

The summer flew by and autumn came.

It was late in the afternoon of a foggy day that Dorothy appeared in his office, her face glowing with happiness.

"I'll save you the embarrassment of admitting it," laughed the doctor. "Just tell me who it is."

"Doctor Wilson," she laughed happily. "Oh, he's wonderful. If you only knew him as I do. He's so good to those poor people in the wards and often sits by them for hours just to cheer them up."

This doctor tried to conceal his amusement, but it was not lost on Dorothy.

"That's all right," she said. "You may laugh all you want to. I'm too happy to care. But, doctor, do tell me one thing. How often can a girl fall in love again?"

"As often as is necessary," laughed the doctor.

CREAM COOLERS

With warm weather coming on, dairymen have to use more precaution in handling of their cream in order to score top place. One of the cooling tanks handled at the creamery will prove a very efficient method for keeping cream fresh and sweet. The cost is so low that anyone can pay for a tank in one season by the saving it makes. See sample at the creamery.

TWO FIRES THURSDAY

Fire coils in a nearby ash pile supposed to have been the origin of the blaze in the old shed in rear of the drug store last Thursday morning. When discovered the west end of the shed was ablaze. Quick work by the fire department saved the shed, but close to it was destroyed.

Shortly after noon an alarm was rung in from the Wilson street market where a bunch of hams, in the smokehouse attached to the shop, caught fire. For a time the occupants of this fire was dubious as a high wind was blowing at the time, but liberal application of chemical oil water soon subdued the blaze. About twenty hundred pounds of meat were rendered unfit for use, and the living rooms on second floor of the shop were badly smoked up.

Discovery of both fires before they had gained much headway, was fortunate. A high wind from south would have made it difficult to save any of the frames building in the end of the block and either fire seemed any magnitude.

A couple apt spots have developed in the highway south of town, one near the Nels beach place and one at foot of the Little hill south of there. The southbound bus was hung up in the first one yesterday afternoon. Gravel has been hauled in and it is believed traffic will pack the places hard again in a few days.

SENATE CONTEST
GIVES STECK SEAT

Roll Call After Long Fight Decides Issue by 45 to 41—Both Parties Split

Washington—Smith-Wilkinson fought his way through the Senate today to a seat on the United States Supreme Court. The Senate today decided that Mr. Steck, federalist, had been elected to the Senate for 10 years, had been elected.

The change in the composition of the Senate today was a surprise. The completion of the coming session campaign was another and perhaps even more important.

David H. Steck was sworn in as a senator immediately. Brockhart is a federalist, and is becoming a candidate to succeed one of the members of the Senate, Albert Baird, Communist.

The close vote in the Senate was a real surprise. The day it had been known that it would be narrow. At one time it looked as if Brockhart would win, despite the 10 to 1 vote against him in the Senate committee on privileges and elections.

Polar Digirigibles Leaves England

Fulham, England—The digirigible of the American-British polar expedition, started on her flight for Oslo, Norway. The weather was calm and the sky was cloudless when the craft rose, and, with searchlight beam on her, floated gracefully away toward the northeast. Before starting for Oslo, Lieutenant Hilsen, one of the commanding officers on the Norge, said it was intended to leave the English coast at Vauxmouth, make an air line to Norway and reach the Norwegian coast to Oslo.

Coolidge Approves Appropriation

Washington—A $100,000 additional appropriation for prohibition, authorized next year, to take care of the prohibition of the American-British polar expedition, has been approved by President Coolidge. This would amount to the $1,000,000 already voted by Congress for next year. In addition, $100,000 more has been appropriated for the coast guard, which is defending the borders from smugglers.

Senate Passes War Pension Bill

Washington—The Senate passed the bill granting $100,000,000 increase in pensions to veterans of the Spanish-American war. The bill now goes to the President for signature. Veterans will receive pensions of $5 to $20 a month, their widows $3 a month, and their dependent children, $1 a month. A veteran must be 62 to receive the pension.

WORK IS STARTED ON 8 MILE TUNNEL IN THE CASCADES

Famous Scenic Resort Turned Into "Gang Holes" For Workmen On Great Northern's $8,000,000 Project.

Scenic, Washington—Scenic Hot Springs, famous hotel health resort in the Cascade Mountains of Washington has been transformed into a camp for the army of working men now engaged in "cutting" an 8-mile tunnel through the mountains to shorten the Great Northern Railway's transcontinental line by 17 miles.

This will be the longest tunnel in North America and one of the longest in the world. It will cost $8,000,000 according to the estimates of Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railway, who is himself a contractor engineer of national repute. Mr. Budd says it will be comparable to the great Lötschberg tunnel through the Alps in Switzerland, Switzerland's $16, million tunnel which was opened in 1913 and which cost $10,000,000.

The tunnel will place the Cascade at Bama in Clatsop county and extend to near Seaside in King county. It will reduce the present stretch of track of 17 miles, which includes the road's present Cascade tunnel 5 1/2 miles in length. It will run on a straight track with a one and one-half per cent grade and will save one hour's running time and is expected to be completed within three years.

The tunnel-building program is a part of the project for developing 75,000 horsepower through a dam to be erected at the southern end of Lake Chelan. This hydro-electric development will provide current for operation of the Great Northern line through the new tunnel and also will make possible the irrigation of approximately 80,000 acres of land in the Chelan region.

The project is expected to save the railroad $600,000 a year, in comparison to the cost of hauling trains over the present steeper grades and maintaining snow protection.

PIONEER PASSES AWAY SATURDAY

Last Saturday morning at the Pay Clinic Hospital at Thief River Falls occurred the death of Mrs. Johanna Johnson, pioneer resident of Black River township. Mrs. Johnson suffered an attack of influenza about a month ago, and death was caused by complications arising after this illness.

Mrs. Johnson was born January 31st, 1861 at Oreston, Sweden, and 75 years of age at time of death. She grew to womanhood in Sweden and was married to Mr. Johnson in that country. They came to this country in 1880 and settled on a farm in Black River township where Mr. Johnson died in 1909.

Mrs. Johnson was a kindly soul, highly respected by all who knew her, and she will be sadly missed from the land through ranks of the old pioneer residents of Black River district.

She is survived by a family of seven children, three daughters and four sons who are: Mrs. Iver Johnson and Mrs. August Schell who reside in this community, Mr. O. Johnson of Minneapolis, Erik Johnson, of Kerman, Calif., August Johnson of Blackfield, Ore., C. J. and G. M. Erickson, who reside in town. These other children preceded their mother in death some years ago.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon by Rev. A. P. Nelson, from the Black River Swedish Lutheran church of which the deceased had long been a member. Interment will take place beside the remains of Mr. Johnson in the family burial plot on the cemetery adjoining that church.

Song Service Sunday

The North Star College Choir of Warren, will appear in song service at the local Swedish Lutheran church next Sunday afternoon at 2:30. The choir has no comparable representation in local circles, and music lovers will be assured a treat when the choir appears here Sunday.

No admission will be charged, but an offering will be taken to help defray expenses.

The new state road running from Thief River south to the Red Lake county line, which will run through center of Rockbury and River Falls townships, will be graded this summer and gravelled next fall. With completion of about two miles in Red Lake county, this will provide an excellent road from Red Lake Falls to Thief River on east side of the river.

E. LARSON FILES FOR RE-ELECTION

Earl Larson, county commissioner from the Third commissioner district which comprises the township in west end of this county, filed Friday for re-election. Mr. Larson as elected in the fall of 1922, and this is his first term on the board. That he is well qualified to handle affairs of the county is evidenced by the fact that he was chosen chairman of the board in January this year which position he now holds.

Mr. Larson is a pioneer resident of Ray township, has been closely identified with all civic progress in his community, and knows the needs of the district as well as any man living in it. He is an ardent advocate of good roads and is always ready to champion anything in that line that benefits the county as a whole. Mr. Larson is a conservative type of citizen who believes in doing all necessary improvements wisely, at the same time, holding out to taxpayers down to minimum. Thus far he has no opposition for re-election.

"FOREST ACRES" MAY 6th and 7th

"Forest Acres" is "What's the Matter with Dad?" is the title of the three-act comedy to be presented by the Senior Class of the local high school May 6th and 7th. This play promises something out of the ordinary—no one should miss it.

Lem Crockett (Lewis Hackett), muckers and hard-fisted, and Mrs. Crockett, his work-worn wife (Martha Swenson), are typical farmer folks. Elizabeth, the rebellious 19 year old daughter and Poppy, the impulsive 12 year old, acted by Ruth Seeland and Pearl Anderson, respectively, complete the interesting family. Mr. Arthur, the summer boarder, played by Lloyd Belden, introduces a pretty romance. Jeffrey Brisley, Mrs. Brisley and Constance Lorling, taken from Mr. Kercher, Maria (Grimard) and Fred Fricker, help in "the transformation" and solve the mystery of "the tinbox." Andy Hobbs (Oscar Nelson), a good natured "country bumpkin," Miss Ruggles (Selma Johnson), a school m'ama whose "hark, however, is worse than her bite," Evelyn (Lorothy) Bister and Nora (Agnes Van) portray the local side and are sure to bemith-provoking.

The local orchestra will furnish music and there will be other interesting features between acts. Admission—25 and 35 cents Thursday; and Friday 35 cents.

During those years, the Pontiac Six was not only designed, refined and developed, but also subjected

Baseball Team Organized; Schedule Many Games

A meeting was held, a few nights ago for the purpose of organizing a baseball team to represent St. Hilaire the coming season.

A majority of the players who made up the team the past three years, are still here and have signified their intention of playing. In addition to them, applications have been received from several others. The lineup will be the fastest to represent St. Hilaire for several years past, and should be able to hold most any team in this section of the state. Games are now being scheduled with a number of cities that have had fast teams, and who expect to put up strong organizations this season. Several games are still open, however, and it is hoped these can be filled with some of the strongest teams in the Valley. If present plans materialize, St. Hilaire ball fans will have opportunity to witness a number of games on home grounds with teams that have never appeared here before. Any town having a team of real ball players will be welcome to get on the schedule for this year.

Eradicate Sow Thistle

Sow thistle eradication demonstrations will be carried on in several sections of the Valley this season by farmers cooperating with the North-west Experiment Station, Crookston. The object of the campaign will be to encourage land owners to undertake eradication work, by demonstrating methods used by successful farmers, and by bringing directly to the farmer the results of investigations at the Crookston and other experiment stations.

Farmers are invited to write the Northwest Experiment Station regarding their experience in sow thistle eradication. The station especially desires to get in touch with those who will carry on eradication practices this season. Bulletin on "The Sow Thistle Problem" will be sent to any address upon application.

"Forest Acres"

Everything is in readiness for presentation of the Senior class play "Forest Acres" which will be given at the Imperial hall tonight and tomorrow evening. Members of the cast have practiced ardently for the past two weeks, and have their parts down to perfection. No one should miss seeing the play.

Seniors Present "Forest Acres": Many Attend

Playing at the Imperial Hall two nights—Thursday and Friday of last week—the seniors of the local high school presented their class play, "Forest Acres," to capacity house both nights.

The play was advertised as "something out of the ordinary," and it did prove to be. The characters could not have been better chosen for their respective parts.

Louise Blackett, as Laurel Crockett, was a "feminine" farmer—but she gave evidence of being a "dirt" farmer. Martha Swenson, his wife, gave evidence of having been worn down. Elmer, son of Laurel Crockett, was well taken by Oris Edmonds.

Elizabeth, the rebellious and romantic blonde of old daughter, was well characterized by Ruth Swenson. Elizabeth's sister, Hopsy, was an loquacious twain's year old. This character, which completed the Crockett family, was admirably impersonated by Duell Anderson.

Mr. Arthur, played by Lyle Elden, a summer boarder at the Crockett home, was romantically inclined and in the course of the play this romantic spirit came to the surface.

Irving McKeecher, Marie Grönroos, Hans Pricer, as Jeffrey Braxley, Mrs. Braxley and Coquette Long respectively, bore the burden of solving the mystery of the mysterious "the box." This they did in a most charming manner.

Usser Nelson was a good natured "good country lunkin'"; the good nature being always in evidence. Miss Rogers, a school m'am, whose bark was worse than her bite, was characterized by Edna Johnson.

Dorothy Bailey and Agnes Vuk, as Evelina and Nora, respectively, took their comic parts to perfection.

"Forest Acres" was a play worthy of the class of 1926.

Schedule Visits

A large number of communities are scheduling their dates for visitations at the Northwest School of Agriculture, according to Superintendent C. G. Selvig. During the rural school play day held at district 180 last Friday, five townships in western Finland accepted June 17 for a community visit. This will include the townships of Fry, Pott, Crockett, Black River and Sanders of Pennington, and Wylie township of Red Lake county. Twelve visits are already scheduled and it is expected that other community clubs will accept their dates soon.

Only One Giant in the Way

By CLARISSA MACKIE

"HE stood down by the gate to the corral. It was Jim Marshall's ranch, and Linda had always wanted to visit it. After she said Jim and she were to be married, she had always had in mind to visit it."

"If you are to make your home here, Linda, I want you to understand that ranch life will be very different from the life you are used to."

"The ranch," said Mrs. Marshall, "is a man can be happy with his good wife if he loves him, no matter how they live—so I think this is a splendid place."

"As if I needed a test, mother," reached Linda, but the girl understood, took, perhaps, the hidden reference to her own witlessness.

"It is a good life," said the girl, sitting, leaning her elbows on the corral gate.

"He added, 'It's perfect, desirable only one giant in the way of your being perfectly happy here.' She turned to look at him again. 'You are the only giant here, my Jim. You are not in the way,' she laughed.

"He smiled down at her. 'You are the giant, love,' he said.

"Jim?"

"He wagged his head. 'The giant within your own body, Linda! When I told you about the danger of the Zero—who is not well-known—your daughter told him over to On Creek.'

"The girl's eyes were flashing dangerously. 'I rode him, Jim,' she said with a quick triumph. 'He was like a lamb with me.'

"George Finch rode him last week before you came. You know what happened to George?"

Linda smiled. "We throve and broke a limb, I suppose—perhaps it landed in a hospital. Poor George."

"You—poor George. He is lying over there under the oak tree—Zero killed him viciously."

She grew very white and he caught her hand, but she snatched it away with a rebellious little frown.

"I wanted you to know, sweetheart," he said gently, and went away about his business for the day.

Linda tried to keep back the tears. The death of a horse and the loss of a man all her life in the East.

"I will ride Zero one more time, then I will give him to Jim's wife," she thought. She looked very lovely to be riding out.

Zero was standing in the corral, now, and then tossing his head with that fierce motion movement that stirred the girl's imagination. "An Arab steed," she murmured.

Zero would love to fly across the hills, free as the air he breathed. "Wait, wait, my Zero, they will send you home some day," she said softly. Then, too late, she saw that Zero turned his head and galloped up to her with a little cluck of greeting.

That was two months for Linda. She saw the saddle that someone had left on Zero's back the next day, and she knew. In a moment the fearless girl had climbed the fence, vaulted into the saddle, bent and untied the girth, passed through and latched it, and sailed over the hills.

Jim saw her from a distant hill, shouted and ran for the corral, his face white and set. Red Bill saw her from the door of the farmhouse where he lounged. He yelled to his sons, and in three minutes a dozen men were following Zero and his rider.

The ride was soon over. Linda found the jumping, bumping mass of steel and muscle beneath her difficult to cling to. Suddenly she realized that Zero meant to unseat her, to kill her if possible. She knew she had been selfishly wrong in not listening to Jim—how could he ever believe that she loved his tenderly? Her mother's heart would be broken, her father—she had lost her father's life—then—all these people would suffer more than she would. With her, it would be just a quick flashing moment, and then—death.

Suddenly Jim was riding beside her on White Star, his own best horse. He crowded close, trying to get the girl from the mad Zero. Then White Star stumbled and flung Jim over his head to the path of Zero.

Linda's face was like snow. Her hand pulled at the reins that she wore strapped about her waist. She felt the gun to that little place on her chest. Then she freed and flung it away.

When she opened her eyes she was taking her gun out of Zero's saddle. The mad horse was dead but not before one of his flying hoofs had scored Zero's arm forever. Linda's leg was broken.

That evening she and Jim sat side by side in the corral, Jim with his arm in a sling. Linda, her leg set in plaster cast, sitting up in bed.

"Linda," said the girl, "my giant is slain—killed when I saw you lying there in Zero's path. Will you forgive me, or do you want to break our engagement?"

"I'll never use my gun," said the girl, "and if you won't marry me, I shall never marry." He smiled brought the tears to her eyes.

"Oh, Linda, if you, other arm is all right, please put it to rest. I want to tell you about the giant that is no more."

Military Salute

One explanation of the origin of the military salute to the flag which goes back to the Middle Ages in the time of knights and tournaments, when a queen of beauty was chosen and enthroned. The knight about to take part in the contest walked past the throne and placed his hand in a horizontal position over the crown of the throne and bowed his head to the lady of the throne.

Place Mirrors Carefully

Early Europeans

The ancient men of France and Belgium were called the people of the Gauls, for which the English equivalents are Gauls. The Gauls were a Celtic people, who came originally from central Asia and at a very early time invaded Europe, settling finally in what are now France and Belgium. Their degraded population was known as Druidism.

On Cleaning Day

If you want to clean photographs never use a damp cloth. Take a soft cloth and rub on it a little vasoline and use this to wipe off the dust on either side. Be sure that it is well rubbed off. This cleans them without doing any possible harm, and is well to improve the tone of old records.

Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Nels K. Anderson, highly respected pioneer settlers in Souders township, who now make their home at Thief River Falls, fittingly observed their golden wedding anniversary at a family reunion and gathering of relatives which took place at the old home farm in Souders last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were married in Olmsted County, Minn., May 17th, 1876, and settled in Souders township in 1882, being among the first settlers in that section.

The Anderson family has long been identified with Souders, and they always took a prominent part in upbuilding of that community. Mr. Anderson was township clerk there for 30 years. He was also secretary of the St. Hilaire Co-op. Creamery, secretary of the Farmers Elevator Company, president of the Bray Meat Fire Insurance Company, and was affiliated with other public utilities until his retirement a few years ago, and subsequent removal to Thief River Falls where he and wife expect to spend their declining years. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were charter members of Leased Concession since it was organized Dec. 11, 1882, and Mr. Anderson has been an officer in that organization since.

At the reunion gathering Sunday which was arranged by the children, all the latter, with exception of the youngest, were present, as well as about 75 relatives. To further mark the memorable occasion, two people were present who attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson fifty years ago, they being Mrs. Anna Vignas of Grygla, a cousin of Mrs. Anderson, and Mrs. Alfred Olson, a sister of Mrs. Anderson.

Rev. C. M. Griesmond, of this village, was present and delivered an address appropriate to such a gathering and occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have a family of seven children who are: Aug. N. K. Anderson, Mrs. Ida Johnson, Gilly, N. D. Mrs. Emma Myron of Thief River Falls, Peter L. Anderson of Holt, Theodore, who resides on the home farm, Mrs. Alma Peterson of Argus, and Mrs. Esther Larson of Kennell, Wis. Another daughter, Miss Nora Anderson, a trained nurse, died while on duty with the American Expeditionary Force in France during the World War.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are frequent contributors to various activities of their church, and marked their golden wedding anniversary by making a substantial cash gift to the missionary work.

Mr. Edward came up yesterday and is now in charge here. Jennings Westphal has gone to Mahanomet to manage the place there until further arrangements are made. It is Mr. Decharme's intention to sell the Mahanomet shop after which he and family will remove to Bernsville to reside.

Barn Burned, Monday

A fire of unknown origin, destroyed the barn on the Martie West farm in Jordan township Saturday night. Three horses, 6 head of stock, a number of chickens and all harness were burned with the barn. The family had returned for the night and knew nothing was amiss until they were aroused by a neighbor who saw the fire, which by that time had gained such headway that hope of saving either barn or contents was out of the question. Insurance on the structure was carried by the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Sam Thompson Very Ill

Tim Emswold received a letter Saturday morning stating his stepfather, Sam Thompson, was seriously ill at his home at Jewett, Iowa. The old gentleman, who formerly resided here, has undergone two operations lately and the condition is such that no more hope is held out for recovery. While going from home to visit Mr. Thompson at a nearby hospital, Mr. Thompson suffered a broken collarbone when the steering apparatus on their car became locked and the car went into a ditch. Mr. Emswold left last Sunday evening over the Soo for an indefinite visit with his parents.

It is estimated that fully fifty auto loads of people from Wylie and vicinity came in to attend the play.

Junior-Senior Banquet

The annual Junior-Senior banquet given at the school auditorium last Saturday evening was one of the most enjoyable affairs ever held at the local school. The room was transformed into a fairy room by a green streamer ceiling from which a suspended netting interlarded.

A lettuce partition between the banquet hall and reception room presented a very pleasing appearance. Members of the junior and senior classes as well as all of the faculty partook at the banquet which started at 6:30 and continued until 9:30. The juniors are elected ones having put on one of the best appointed banquets ever given at the local school.

Win From Middle River

The high school baseball team connected with a 20 to 2 victory when they met and defeated the middle River high school aggregation on local ground Tuesday evening. A home run, a three bagger, two home hits and safe singles in quick succession at start of the game put the locals so far ahead that the outcome was set in doubt at any time.

Two hits from Bill Hellenbeck's delivery were all the visitors were able to garner. A fair wind across witnessed the game.

Nora G. Johnson Died Yesterday

This community was increasingly saddened when it became known that Miss Nora Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Carl Johnson, had died at 2 o'clock yesterday morning after a short illness, of pneumonia. Taken ill during the week-end, her condition took on a turn for the worse Tuesday. Her sister, Elmer, who teaches at St. Paul, was notified and arrived in time to see her before she passed away.

Nora Johnson was born in Waconda County on May 11, 1888 and came to this village with her parents in 1891. She grew to womanhood in this village and graduated from the local school. She attended the state normal school at St. Cloud and Moorhead with view of fitting herself for the teaching profession. After teaching for a few years, she attended the normal training school at the Swedish Hospital at Minneapolis from which institution she was graduated a trained nurse May 27, 1919. Her mother, however, gentle manner and willingness to serve, but her promotion and she became assistant superintendent of the hospital. Naturally of free constitution, the arduous duties of her profession and position added her strength to such extent that she was compelled to give up her position and return home two years ago. Since then, despite her impaired health, she has responded to calls of need in this community. With a constitution thus undermined, she was in no condition to withstand the ravages of the disease which claimed her yesterday, despite best of medical aid.

Capable and efficient, her mission of soothing and alleviating the pains of others was for her a warm spot in the hearts of the people in this community, and her memory will be revered by many who owe the existence of loved ones to her ministrations.

Surviving her are her mother and two sisters, Eva and Lily, and her father, the late Carl Johnson, preceded her by less than 27 months ago.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. C. M. Griesmond at the local Norwegian Lutheran church at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon and interment will be in the Swedish cemetery east of town.

Heartfelt sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family whose sorrow of loss is filled to overflowing.

A resting place and a box of all tears. See A. S. Wilson side in this issue. adv.

In the Spotlight!

Each year, some one appealing motor car creation emerges from the throng of commonplace cars and wins country-wide preference.

This year it is the dashing new Oakland Six sport roadster that occupies the spotlight. In every city and town in America, roadster enthusiasts are recording the car an unexampled welcome. They admire the beauty of its long, low, racy Fisher Body. They comment upon its distinctive color scheme to two-tone Duo-Mount Royal Blue and El Paso Tan. They speak enthusiastically of its speed, acceleration, power and the unmatchable smoothness imparted by the Harmonic Balancer. And they marvel that a roadster so fine can be offered at such a low price.

With the advent of Spring, the demand has become insistent. Ordinary wisdom suggests that you place your order now:

Owing to chilly weather, the outdoor picnic idea was abandoned and the supper was given at the church where a very enjoyable evening was spent.

To the voters of Pennington County:

The most important part of the county superintendent's work is supervision. There is among people a widespread notion that visiting the schools and supervising mean the same thing, that the quantity and quality of supervision is proportional to the number of miles traveled as to cents a mile. That understanding of supervision is absolutely erroneous.

Supervision means the improvement of instruction. It means the training of teachers while in service to do better teaching. This purpose is accomplished by means of activities that can be carried on successfully only by those who have been specially trained in the principles and techniques of supervision. It is no more possible to be a successful supervisor without special training than it is to be a physician without training in a medical college. It is possible to visit the schools if one is a false automobile driver, but it takes much more than that to supervise instruction.

During the time that I have been county superintendent, I have been continually confronted with the truth of what I have just said. Although quite well qualified as a teacher, I soon came to recognize my need of training for the work of supervision. It became perfectly clear to me that, if I could ever be able to give to the people of the county something in return for the money spent for transportation, it would be necessary to avail myself of every opportunity to obtain this training. Therefore, whenever it has been to me that my presence in the office has not been absolutely essential, I have been in attendance here at one of our Teachers Colleges or at the State University taking courses leading quite directly upon the work of supervision in rural schools.

—A.A. candidate. So equity superintendent I am offering you boys and girls the benefits of my training and experience in the field of supervision that will be for the better of the county. Are you going to let them have it?

—Slowly yours,
O. R. RUUD,
County Superintendent

"We Like Its Economy" Say Thousands Of Owners

The truth is that the operating cost of a Pontiac Six is lower than that of smaller and less powerful cars—or the difference is so slight as to not be worthy of consideration.

There are thousands of Pontiac Six owners who would gladly bear slightly higher operating costs to enjoy the satisfying performance of the car's six-cylinder engine and its countless other superiorities in beauty, roominess, and riding comfort.

But the fact that they enjoy all these qualities at no additional operating or maintenance cost, is simply another reason underlying the dramatic success the Pontiac Six is scoring the nation over.

Oakland Six, Comparable to the Pontiac Six—$1215 to $1295. All prices are factory. Easy to pay on the latest General Motors Five Payment Plan.

Most sincerely yours,

Halvorson Speaks

Mr. G. Halvorson, candidate for the nomination of State Senator, spoke to a fairly sized audience in the Imperial Hall last Monday evening.

He described graphically the agricultural situation and proposed remedial through such measures as the Hauge Agricultural Relief Bill and predicted that this question will not be dropped of except by a proper action through National laws.

He devoted some time to proposed banking laws to safeguard the interests of the depositors.

He then took up the matter of taxation, and upon that subject he said: "I realize that when it comes to a question of taxation, it is a matter in which you are deeply interested, and is of such a nature as to give anyone deep concern, for no-one that I know of are people so burdened with school taxation as right here."

Taxation has reached such a limit that it amounts to very nearly confiscation, and unless some relief is afforded, the time may come when the situation will be serious indeed and threaten the very existence of the community.

Referring to what I may have said before, that Government is organized for the security benefit and protection of the people, it then becomes the duty of the Government when taxation reaches the limit of confiscation to intervene on behalf of a helpless locality.

Naflin Improving

Attorney O. A. Naflin of Thief River Falls, who suffered a light stroke a couple weeks ago, has improved to such extent that he is able to be up. As a candidate for state senator from this district, he was scheduled to deliver a number of addresses prior to primary election. While he is improving rapidly and will soon be in his usual good health, it was deemed advisable for him not to exert himself by filing his speaking dates, so he will have to depend on his friends in the district to do the necessary campaign work for him.

A Farmer-Labor rally was held at the village hall here Tuesday evening. The meeting was held by Attorney H. Harvey of Thief River Falls, candidate for county attorney, was the principal speaker. He has long been identified with development of this section and feels he can serve this district to the best advantage by representing it in the legislature.

Election Monday

Primary election takes place next Monday. Announcements of different candidates found in this issue and respectively called to attention of all voters. In order that the true wish of the people be expressed at this election, it is necessary that all voters exercise their rights as American citizens and not fail to cast their ballots. A partial vote at primary election defeats the purpose of the law which took to the people this opportunity to select their candidates for the fall election. Regardless of your political views, do not fail to vote.

Married At Willmar

A week ago Saturday at Willmar occurred the marriage of Miss (Helen) de Cathulium, son of H. G. de Cathulium of this village, to Miss Flora Lindgren of that city. They will make their home at Willmar where the groom holds a good position with the state highway department. Numerous friends in this village join in extending congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. de Cathulium.

Crop Prospects Good

Prospects for a good crop were never better than this year in this section. All grains, with possible exception of corn, are coming along in fine shape. People coming thru from southern part of the state and from the Dakota state crops in these sections are not near as far advanced there as in northwestern Minnesota.

Mrs. C. M. Grimsrud attended a conference of the circuit officers of the Women's Missionary Federation at Thief River Falls on Monday. See Livestock Special

Several hundred farmers, many of them from this locality, are at dairy club boys and girls formed the major part of a crowd of 600 or more which witnessed the demonstration given Tuesday at Thief River Falls by staff men of the Better Beef Cattle special train which is sponsored by the G. N., N. P., and Soo lines. In explaining why some types of cattle sell high while others bring low prices, livestock experts from the train exhibited dressed loins of beef from three classes of steers, good, medium and common. This demonstration proved effective in convincing those present that it pays to raise the better class of beef stock if one is engaged with that line. Various types of cattle were shown, from the highest class to the lowest. This part of the state has wonderful resources for profitable beef production, and the demonstration drove home the fact that it costs no more to raise quality stock than the common average variety. The special train passed thru here Tuesday evening en route to Red Lake Falls where a demonstration was put on yesterday forenoon.

Celebrate Anniversaries

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Watson celebrated their wedding anniversary last Sunday, June 13th, at the home of Mrs. Nelson's mother, Mrs. A. A. Mortenson. The car, which was traveling at a terrific speed, crossed the deep ditch, crashed into a telephone pole, breaking it off squarely, and careened into the ditch again turning completely over. One of the occupants was thrown thru top of the car, but none suffered more than minor bruises. The machine itself was wrecked beyond repair.

The Story Growth Tells

Steady, substantial growth in a bank's deposits indicates two things.

—First, that the community has full confidence in the bank.

—Second, that the bank's depositors are well satisfied with the kind of service they receive.

It is significant that, after a century of service, this bank is still growing steadily and substantially.

To the voters of Pennington County:

In my previous announcement I have discussed very briefly the functions of the county superintendent as they pertain to the organization and management of the office and to the work of supervising the actual teaching in the school. Last week it was my purpose to bring out a few points in connection with the position that the superintendent holds in the relations between the people and school boards on one side and the State Department of Education on the other. Owing to the pressure of the work on account of the play day and county graduation I was unable to get the article out in time for publication in the Tribune and Spectator.

In the relations between the department and the people and school boards the county superintendent stands as the agent of the former and as the representative of the latter. When we bear in mind that in this connection are involved the certification of teachers and the matter of state aid amounting each year to from $75 to $150, and in a few instances to over $500, for each district in the county except two, we can readily see the importance of the county superintendent's office.

During my three years of service as your county superintendent we have not lost a cent of state aid to which we have been in any way entitled. If I am re-elected I assure you that I shall continue to give the school interests of the county the same diligent care that I have during the past three years. To the work of supervision will be added the advantage of training under competent instructors at our State University and two of our Teachers' Colleges as well as the growth that has come from three years of rich experience in that line of work.

Sincerely yours,
O. E. Sande,
County Superintendent.

I take this occasion to severely criticize our present Governor for vetoing the "deficiency bill." He evaded his act upon the basis of economy, but economy does not justify entirely of violating appropriations for when an appropriation is made, the veto thereof is just an evasion. The vetoing of this measure rendered a saving to them who were not in need of money and placed additional burden upon them in distressed circumstances.

I desire to say that if any community was ever in need of honest and untold help with reference to taxation, you are in that position, and if I am elected to the high office that I seek, it shall be my purpose to devote a considerable portion of my time toward deriving some act that will afford relief to you people. I have been giving this matter some attention during the campaign, but not to such an extent as to enable me to determine just what should be done, but I believe that an act can be passed, or at least I will propose such an act, that wherever a school district has had for one, two or three years a school tax of burdensome limits, then a general appropriation should be made to protect the people in the district against taxation over and above that limit and I shall also endeavor to have an appropriation bill passed that will cover the deficiency incurred by the Governor's last veto.

I realize that when the school district appropriated money for their school they relied upon securing money from the state through the appropriation act, and being disappointed in this, they are more depressed than ever before by this unexpected occurrence. There is no good reason why the state should not come to the rescue of these taxburdened communities. It has been the policy of the State Board of Education to foster and finance upon the people in connection with the schools, offering certain inducements for the establishment of new departments, and now and a positive method, and this has been going on through the influence and insistence of the Board of Education until we have come to the sufficing point.

The Board of Education diverges from the interest of the local taxpayers and in a pursuit of a policy of extravagance, have driven communities into erecting school buildings for beyond the ability of the district to pay so far out of proportion with the economic conditions existing in agricultural districts, and this board has induced people to incur indebtedness for buildings and other equipment with the assurance that the state would take care of them, knowing very well that the Board had nothing to do with the disposition of money, or the providing thereof.

Under these circumstances, it appears to me that the State Legislature, having once and emphatically been informed of the dire straits of local communities, it will be possible to induce the body of just men to pass such laws as will render you relief from burdensome taxation, and if I am elected to the office that I seek, it shall be my purpose to aver here our needs in mind upon this subject.

Land O'Lakes Creameries

The St. Hilaire Co-operative Creamery, O. Berglund operator, and the Hazel Co-operative Creamery, H. S. Wright operator, have been notified that those creameries have qualified and have been certified as Land O'Lakes creameries. To attain this standing a creamery must conform to certain rules and at least fifty percent of its output must score Land O'Lakes, that is, sweet cream butter testing 99 percent or over for six months or more. Co-operation on part of patrons by delivery of sweet, clean cream, and close attention to all details in manufacture of butter by the operator is essential for any creamery if they shall attain this standing. Certification of the St. Hilaire and Hazel creameries, and their operators as Land O'Lakes operators, are well merited honors as they have both striven hard for a high quality output. Continued co-operation on part of patrons will have to keep these creameries in that state. To date there are 250 such certified creameries in Minnesota.

The Story Growth Tells

Steady, substantial growth in a bank's deposits indicates two things.

—First, that the community has full confidence in the bank.

—Second, that the bank's depositions are well established with the kind of service they receive.

It is significant that, after a quarter century of service, this bank is still growing steadily and substantially.

Old Pioneer Dies

Last Thursday afternoon at his home in this village, occurred the death of L. A. Carlson, pioneer resident of this community, death being caused by illness incident to advanced age.

Mr. Carlson was born in Sweden, May 20, 1849 and grew to manhood in that country. He was married there and two of his children were born in Sweden. In 1880, he and family came to this country, settling in Minneapolis where they made their home until 1885 when they came to this community and settled on their farm in Black River township. He performed all the hardihood connected with pioneer days. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson managed, however, to make a success of their farming. They resided on the farm for 28 years, amassing a competence for their old age, then purchased residence property in town and retired to enjoy the fruits of many years of hard toil.

Mr. Carlson is survived by his widow and a family of nine grown children, the latter being—Charles at Charleston, Mich., Alfred and Owen at Iron River, Mich., Earl at Gilbert, Minn., Ed at Morganville, Kansas, Mrs. John Stockley at Duluth, Mrs. Ed Strom of Bluehill, Mrs. Lawrence Ludvik of Ely, Minn. and Mrs. E. J. Person of this village. There are also 24 grand children. Another son, Hjalmar, was killed by lightning at the home farm in 1910.

All the children, with exception of Charles who could not be here on account of illness, were here for the funeral which was conducted by Rev. A. F. Nelson from the local Swedish Lutheran church Monday morning. Old friends and neighbors of the deceased acted as pallbearers.

Interment was made in the family plot in the Swedish cemetery east of town. Sincere sympathy of a large circle of old friends is extended to Mrs. Carlson and family in their bereavement.

Here For Funeral

A group out of town people here for the funeral of the late L. A. Carlson held Monday were: Mr. and Mrs. Ludvik of Crookston, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ludvik of Ely, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strom of Bluehill, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. John Stockley of Duluth, Minn. and Mrs. Emil Carlson of Gilbert, Minn. and Mrs. A. Carlson of Iron River, Minn., Oscar Carlson of Iron River, Minn., and Ed Carlson of Morganville, Kansas.

Successful Picnic

The Norwegian Lutheran picnic held Sunday afternoon at the Askel grounds north of town was a very successful one from every view point. Hundreds of people from the village and surrounding country took advantage of the fine weather, good roads and excellent grounds and spent the day there with friends. In addition to a very good program of patriotic music, Judge Andrew Grimsrud of Warren gave an excellent address suitable for the occasion. Judge Grimsrud is an able and fluent speaker, and his address was well received. Lunch was served in that corner at the grounds, and the church received not a little income from that source.

Return From Motor Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hildner returned Tuesday from an auto trip thru western Minnesota, to points in Iowa and to their former home in South Dakota. They had a fine trip, but state the best road they found anywhere on the trip were those in the state. They state South Dakota has had but little rain this season and that crops are poor there as a result. In many places in South Dakota farmers are plowing under their small grain, which is so short and thin that expected return from harvesting it would not pay.

An Important Point

Most people regard a bank simply a place for depositing accumulated savings.

The service rendered by a bank, and the character of its business in the community is of more importance. If its business is conducted along safe conservative lines, and it bears a reputation for progressiveness, such a bank is generally a safe one to do business with.

The Old Reliable has been time tried and pampered in its quarter century of existence, and still has its reputation for: stability and soundness.

What Will The Harvest Be?

With every indication pointing to a good crop in this vicinity, the Home Bank rejoices with its friends over the prospect. Proceeds from a good crop—wisely employed—will mean much to this community.

This bank, with its reputation for fair and square dealing, is a good place to deposit your surplus cash in use for betterment of the community. No one has ever lost a cent deposited with this bank, while those who it has helped number hundreds. Put your money to work in a good bank. We will welcome your account.

An Impartial Witness

BROTHER MADISON was a young, very ardent, very unwise, and to my truth, very undisciplined. He was left hand to pump to averted his head, the best church in all of the state. Treasoning. Brother Lane had said: "Imprecator." "Remember, my young brother, the secret of growth is in the soil. It is not in all other things." So Madison realized only at the last confession, had thought on an appeal, very moving to himself, which might have been his chance. He was a man who did himself to his delivery. He had thought with all his soul that the congregation is pray with him. In his own earnest would they that where they stood, then knelt while Sister Hannah prayed.

The Amen corner had risen and knelt solemnly. The struggle of religion since the dawn had also knelt. But without faith. But a spirit still and immovable in the first row facing the altar. Wild figure of a man, away of hair, rope in spite of tan and freckles, and lips, with eyes the color of deep swamp pools in sunlight. Preaching Sister Hannah's prayer he knelt, crying in a high whistling voice: "We'll wait! We'll wait! We'll wait! Here in God's house there are no soul gently refusing help."

The congregation gasped and ached. A young preacher must have been left with the way to St. Hilaire. Her teeth all last appeared. Her mouth would she answer him? He knelt at the altar, his eyes gave her mouth composed. After the knelt, she went down the aisle, her face a smile, her eyes gave her mouth composed. After the knelt, she went down the aisle, her face a smile, her eyes gave her mouth composed.

"Only too glad to serve you any way," Doctor Caltrap said, having as he stepped to the floor. She all the way forward, waving him impatiently. "I have interested the minister," he said, "I have interested the minister."

Farmers Flock to College

TO GET PRACTICAL KNOWLEDGE

Diversified Farming is Given Impetus by One of the Northern Most Counties of North Dakota As Result of Annual Educational Tours Made by Farmers of Soil-Erathville Wheat Region is Being Transformed.

St. Paul, Minn., June 29.—Crawler County, North Dakota, farmers are marching on to diversified farming with an educational program that is making the entire Richland State Fair and the notice of their achievement.

Just recent years this northernmost county bordering on the Canadian line was exclusively a wheat raising region most of the meat and butter the people there was shipped in from the north.

This year from the town of Large alone more than $100,000 worth of dairy products were shipped out of the county. This remarkable transformation has been brought about by the farmers diversifying their efforts with live stock.

In 1924 the farmers of Crawler County established the practice of making an annual fair gathering knowledge to be applied in promoting diversification of their farming operations. Their first visit was to the Agricultural College at Fargo. Nearly 400 farmers made the trip on a special Great Northern train. They took their wives along with them so they could learn something of dairying and of livestock. Last year three area farmers with new additions to their ranks went to the Manhattan Agricultural College at Winnipeg. About five hundred went on this educational junket.

June 25, this year, 235 of those farmers arrived in St. Paul to attend the University of Minnesota Farm School. They took their wives along with them. They took their wives along with them. They took their wives along with them.

W. L. John, of Langdon, and B. E. Drugg, president of the Crawford Fair Association, have been instrumental in organizing these annual educational excursions.

The progress in diversified farming that now is taking place on a big scale throughout this northern county of North Dakota is the most extraordinary development that has come to public notice, in the opinion of B. C. Leedy, general superintendent of the Great Northern Railway, who has been instrumental in promoting diversified farming more than 20 years.

Landlord Cincinnati, the old negro for $200, payable to a Cincinnati bank. In 1924 the check was returned marked "Insufficient Funds." The Cincinnati bank had an inquiry to the Atlanta bank about the old negro account and the balance they showed on the pass book against which the checks had been issued. The following reply was received: "Cincinnati, we don't know who John Jones did get sufficient funds, but we mean that our funds are insufficient."—Farmers Magazine.

PONTIAC SIX

CHIEF OF THE SIXES

The Pontiac Six won instant acceptance—first as a quality car and then as a car at a price made possible by the gigantic resources and purchasing power at the disposal of a division of General Motors. Entirely disregarding price, the Pontiac Six would be an outstanding car by the grace of its Fisher body and the smartness of its Duco finish, by the size, power, and flexibility of its engine, by the exceptional ruggedness and "life" of every unit, from the dashing radiator cap to the tail light.

—but a price of $825 literally throws this high-quality Six into bold and impressive relief against the entire industry.

REPAIR WORK ON BRIDGE STARTED

East Approach To South
Steel Bridge Gives Way.
Structure Is Substantial.

Work was started this week on re-paving of the approaches to the big steel bridge spanning the river south of town. A small portion of the earth approach on east end of the bridge gave away a couple weeks ago, and traffic has since been diverted to the north bridge while repairs are being made which should be accomplished in a short time. The bridge itself, which is one of the most substantial steel structures spanning this river, is in best of condition and is capable of taking any load that may pass over it. No repairs are necessary on the bridge itself, but on the place approaches only.

A small amount of repair work is also contemplated on the north bridge. This structure which is of wood construction, was completely renewed a few years ago and is in good shape with exception of the east abutment which can be strengthened with concrete without a great deal of expense.

Miss Johanna Anderson

Miss Johanna Anderson, who has resided at the Andersons' farm home here for nearly forty years, died June 20th at the home of Mrs. Iversen, Nelson at St. Hilaire, Minnesota where she had stayed for three months.

She was born in Sweden, Nov. 28, 1834 and was 91 years of age. Her demise was caused by infirmities incident to old age.

Funeral services were held, and interment made at St. Hilaire. Those of her grandchildren present at the funeral were: Mrs. Elmer Blom, Oscar Bjorklund and Alfred Blom all of Superior, Wis.

Miss Anderson was an old resident of River Falls township and was well known to all people in that vicinity.

A large amount of gravel has been hauled on Trunk Highway No. 82 from the village limits north of here and north to near Thief River Falls. The large stock pile just in when the new road was built, are being re-hauled, and more gravel will be needed before and after the year. The road has developed a "washboard" condition in many places which is due, no doubt, to the gravel coating wearing through.

Miss Moen Married

Miss Ester Olympia Moen, former teacher in the high school, department of the town school, was married to Mr. Ralph Bam of Hester, Minn., on July 10th, announcement being received by friends here this week. The ceremony took place at the bride's home at Clarkfield, and they will make their home at Hester where the groom is manager of a cannery.

Many friends in this community join in extending congratulations and best wishes.

Make 94 Score Butter

A large portion of last week's shipment of butter made from the creamery attained a score of 94 when graded at the Lake O' Lakes here this week. It is understood this butter, which scored a point over Land O' Lakes grade, is being expanded for use of the U. S. Marine Corps. Excellent requirements, due to many different climatic conditions makes it imperative that all butter used by the Marine Corps be much higher than that used by the navy or army. Only a small portion of butter made in Minnesota is able to meet these requirements.

HEALTH ASSN WARNS AGAINST FAKE SOLICITORS

Agents Soliciting Magazine Subscriptions To "Aid" Tubercular Patients

Reports from various parts of the state have reached the Minnesota Public Health Association that agents representing the "Children's National Tuberculosis Society" are soliciting funds for the sale of a magazine "Our Future" this week of a national "Our Future" as connected with the Minnesota Public Health Association.

The Minnesota Public Health Association, a well known organization, was founded in 1915. It is not recognized by the National Tuberculosis Association which has investigated it and discovered it is raising funds for individual use. Agents for the "Children's National Tuberculosis Society" were refused license to solicit in St. Paul last week. They were refused in same manner on previous effort in 1915. The Minnesota Public Health Association has done good work in eradication of tuberculosis in this state for many years, so those who wish to contribute for that cause will get better results thru that organization.

Paul Peters returned Thursday from a two weeks visit at Hallowell and other points in Wisconsin. He believes the prosperous condition in that section is due to a large measure to the small sized farms there and intensive cultivation of them. Most farms in this locality contain less than 80 acres.

The Y. P. S. of Clara church will be entertained at the John E. Peterson home next Sunday evening at 8:00.

H. S. GRADS TO GATHER FRIDAY

Imperial Hall Will Be Scene Of Third Annual Reunion
Of High School Alumni

The committee in charge of arrangements, has everything in readiness for the third annual reunion of the St. Hilaire high school alumni association, at the Imperial Hall Friday evening. With a large number of graduates having signified their intention of attending, everything points toward a successful gathering. The first class to graduate from the local high school since the regular four-year course was instituted, numbered only three members. They were Mrs. Andrew Skoverson, formerly of Ellin Nelson, of this place; Mrs. Clayton LaCourse, formerly Elizabeth Johnson, of Bemidji; and Miss Esther Hovet of this village. Mr. S. L. Johnson was superintendent of the class. Since then, the number of graduates has gradually increased, until now they number about seventy-five. This year's class having sixteen members. St. Hilaire welcome the 1926 reunion.

Financial Statements Good

Statement of financial condition of the Farmers State Bank was published in last issue, and a similar statement for the Merchants State Bank is published this week. Careful perusal of the statements will show the banks are in very good condition—in fact better than the average country banks. It is a source of gratification to the people of this community to know that during the past few years when many banks failed through the state, that St. Hilaire is the only town on the Warroad line of the Great Northern which has no bank failure. When it is considered Crookston, Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls, Roseau and Warroad besides a number of smaller towns are on this line, the record is one which any town could feel proud.

The Farmers & Merchants State Bank at Roseau which was closed last fall, was reopened last week and consolidated with the Citizens State Bank of that village. The consolidation leaves Roseau with three good, dependable banks which will be ample number to take care of the banking business in that territory.

Among the speakers were Rev. and Mrs. Siverson, recently returned from Madagascar, who also had a fine collection of hand made articles from that country; Miss Nelson of Grand Fork, who has spent seven years in China; and Mrs. Fjeldhammer of Minneapolis, a social worker.

Officers elected were: President, Mrs. S. L. Tallackson of Thief River; Vice President, Mrs. Eldahl of Greenbush; Secretary, Miss Philipson of Middle River; Treasurer, Mrs. Martin Eremson of Thief River Falls.

1926 REUNION SCORES BIG

High School Alumni Visits Home Town And Has Gala Time

Great!
That was the unanimous sentiment of all present at the high school reunion banquet at the Imperial Hotel here last Friday night. Graduates of the local high school, accompanied by their guests, came with the intention of having a real enjoyable time, and they had it. The enthusiasm manifested earlier in the season, when plans were first made for the gathering, came to the surface that night, and everyone joined in a spirit of fellowship.

The decorators had gone to no little work in making the hall attractive. The stage was beautifully decorated with yellow streamers which gave a pleasing effect. Streamers had been put up from the corners and sides of the hall and met at the center, and all the lights gave a soft glow by the effect of orange paper hangings.

At eight-thirty o'clock, Miss Alice Fricker, as president, called the business session. She was followed by Melvin Sherry, who spoke a few words of welcome to the alumni and their guests. The election of officers was then in order, and resulted in the election of Dorothy Marx as President, Fred Hickey as vice president, and Hazel Linn as secretary-treasurer. The president named Dorothy Olm as head of the entertainment committee for next year. A motion was made that each member of the alumni association heretofore be charged a yearly fee, and was carried.

After the close of the business session, a program was presented which attracted by far that of any previous year. First in order was a roll call, in which a representative number of each graduation class was called upon to give reasons of their class, which each member was, and what was doing. Most of these reasons were in a humorous vein, and brought forth much applause. The classes and their representatives were as follows:

Class of '20—Ezra Horst
Class of '21—Dorothy Marx
Class of '22—Melvin Sherry
Class of '23—Irene Peterson
Class of '24—Fred Hickey
Class of '25—Lloyd Bidden

The representative of the class of 1925 failed to attend, and it was therefore omitted.

Linstad Pleads Guilty

Ole Linstad, well known locally, who was taken into custody recently on charge of selling intoxicating liquors, pleaded guilty in district court at Thief River Falls last Thursday and was sentenced by Judge Grönlund to serve not more than two years at hard labor in the state's prison at Stillwater. Severely of the sentence is due to a certain extent to Linstad having been charged before for a similar offense.

FIFTH ANNUAL TOUR TO RED LAKE, SUNDAY

Local People Invited To Take Part In Trip To State's Finest Lake

Enthusiastic about recent facilities at the Red Lake narrows, the Thief River Commercial Club and the Red Lake Summer Resort Association are sponsoring the fifth annual Red Lake Community Tour to take place on Sunday, July 25th. About forty cars made the trip last season, but it is hoped many more will participate this year. All who have visited the lake are fond in their praise of the fine fishing, boating and boating to be had there. Roads are in excellent condition now, and snow dragging will be done where necessary, before the tour starts.

This tour is not limited to Thief River Falls people, but invitations have been extended to all neighboring communities and farmers who might like to come. The tour starts from the First National Bank corner at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. A service car will accompany the tour in case anyone has trouble. Those making the trip are asked to bring their own drivers but will be furnished free. Coffee and cream will also be furnished. St. Hilaire people are especially welcome, and it is hoped a large delegation will go from here.

School Election Held

Annual meeting of the board of education and election of two directors to hold office for three years, was held at the village hall Thursday evening, K. O. Gligstad and V. G. Brink, whose terms expired now, were re-elected. It was voted to have nine months school as usual, and it was voted to pay $12,000 for school purposes this year same as last year.

A Good Provider

Pennington County Fair To Have Splendid Program

The Pennington County Agricultural Society is this year endeavoring to make the county fair one of the largest and best ever held in Northern Minnesota. The free acts and fireworks program far outdistance anything that has ever been staged in Thief River Falls.

The Northern Exposition Show has never been large tent shows feature: Cretaceous in Wax, Temple of Mystery, Circus Life Show, "A Little" —The Show Beautiful, Hawaiian Theatre, The Alligator Farm, and the Motorcade. This motorcade will show exciting, fascinating, driving rides in suitable attempts to scale the walls of the Mammoth Dome, awaiting a thrill very minute. In addition to the live shows, there will be four high class riding devices, manned by the clean, cheerful, courteous.

Horse racing will be held during the second and third days of the fair. A post race for horses from Pennington, Polk, Marshall, Red Lake, and Roman Counties will be staged on Tuesday, August 3th. $255.00 is reserved for spectators in addition to the regular harness races on August 6 and 7.

The fireworks program held in the evening of August 6 and 7 will show some scenes relating to the progress of the country from 1776 to 1926. The Theatrical-Difficult fireworks are the best in America and give a wonderful exhibit of high class fireworks.

W. C. T. U. Meeting

The local W. C. T. U. chapter was entertained by Miss Olive Nelson at her home last evening. At election of officers, all present ones were re-elected for the coming year. Mrs. T. Sketved is president, Mrs. O. S. Warner, vice president, Miss Selma Hoff, secretary, Miss Josephine Branson, treasurer, Mrs. Sketved and Miss Hoff were named delegates to attend the state convention which will be held at Thief River Falls, August 18-22.

This section of the colony seems to be favored with excellent growing weather and plenty of moisture for this season. Extremely hot weather both Sunday and Monday was followed by a heavy fall of rain early Tuesday morning which will be just what is needed for the crops. The wheat and rye are beginning to show signs of ripening and will likely be ready for the binder next week. Early and cold are the best they have been for many years and a heavy yield is anticipated from those crops.

Minneapolis Bargain has occupied front of the creamery building with a new sign, read: "This meat which is shown here is certified." L. O'Leary, Chairman.

District Court Closed

Summer term of district court held last week at Thief River Falls with Judge Andrew Grönlund presiding, closed Friday. There were only a small number of cases on the calendar this term and some of these were settled out of court and others continued which made the session short. Coming to a height of trying, season, the summer term of court is a decided convenience to many farmers serving on the jury.

SHEEP RAISING BOOSTED AS COMING INDUSTRY HERE

Prominent Banker Offers Inducement To Get Plan Started In This Community

J. W. Black, president of the Merchants State Bank here, the First National at Thief River Falls and the bank at Holt besides a number of other banks in central and northern part of the state, was here Monday from Minneapolis, accompanied by Mr. R. Funston, who is head of the agricultural department of the So. Lin. looking over this section. The gentleman were well pleased with crop prospects in this section which they say are as good as any in Minnesota. Mr. Black believes there is a very good opportunity for people here to engage in sheep raising as there is always an abundance of feed not used for other purposes. As evidence of his faith in this belief, he has instructed the officers of his bank to offer occasional financial assistance to those who may wish to engage in sheep raising on a small and safe scale. Mr. Black is also arranging to secure good foundation stock which will be shipped in to earliest lots if enough people become interested to warrant such purchase, and who would like to engage in this industry, will do well to investigate Mr. Black's offer which will be explained to all interested by calling at the Merchants State Bank.

Auto Accident

While enroute to Maple Lake, Tuesday evening, a car driven by Gustav Bergman and occupied by Mrs. Carl Nelson and Olive Nelson was ditched near Meeker when it "jacked" in loose gravel. Miss Nelson received some small cuts from her arms, and Mrs. Nelson was severely bruised. The winter top on the car was damaged beyond repair.

Alumni Reunion

Following the reunion of classes, was a musical program.

Albert Erickson played "Swamp" on the violin solo in which he was accompanied by Andy Dahl at the piano. Hans Fricker sang a beautiful solo, "Indian Days," accompanied by Dahl at the piano and Erik at the violin. Mr. LaCourse and Mr. Erik gave a couple fine violin duets in which they were accompanied at the piano by Milton Vollman. Miss Fricker and Mr. Dahl sang a pleasing duet, accompanied by Max Kinney at the piano, after which Mr. Dahl sang that favorite song, "Happy Days." Miss Kinney accompanied. Agnes and Marie Grinnard played a piano duet which received well merited applause.

At the conclusion of the musical program, partners were chosen for the grand march. After marching in the hall for some time, the couples left into the hall and marched around the block on Main Street, and then on to the I. O. O. F. Hall where tables had been laid for supper. Toasts were made by different members of the alumni, and after the establish had been done justice to, all those who so desired returned to the Imperial to enjoy dancing for the remainder of the evening. A four piece orchestra had been secured, and they gave those present very enjoyable music.

Regardless of the fact that not as many members of the alumni were present as had planned on, the attendance was, nevertheless, fine, for absentees consisted mainly of numbers who are away from home and were unable to be there. Congratulations to the retiring officers and committee for their efforts to make the gathering a success, the best wishes for the reunion of 1927.

A car bearing a Canadian license, coming from town from north, collided with Maurice Mogen's Oakland on intersection in front of the garage last Sunday afternoon. Both cars sustained some damage, but none of the occupants were injured. Excessive speed thru town by the foreign car was responsible for the accident. The same accounts for a number of accidents on the same corner the year.

Beloved French Secrets
Major Botterbury became notorious through his connection with the Dreyfus case. It was he who accused Dreyfus of being the writer of the famous "bordereaux," alleged to have been sent to certain German military officers, revealing French military secrets. In 1898 Colonel Picquet, head of the intelligence bureau of the war office, made disclosure of the "bordereaux" investigation was made and it was believed that Botterbury forged Dreyfus' handwriting and was the real traitor. He was then convicted, however, and he was found to have been innocent and he was found to have been innocent and he was found to have been innocent.

The Hennepin County Fair opened yesterday morning with the best line of exhibits, attractions and show. Livestock and grain exhibits are exceptionally good this year, and a steady procession of horses came in being given. With the fair coming in midst of harvest, attendance may be lighter than in some former years on that account, but the fair will go down in history as one of the best ever given in this county. A grand display of fireworks will be given this evening on eve of Homecoming Day.

Crookston Wins Ball Game

A good sized crowd witnessed the Crookston-Thief River Falls ball game played on local grounds last night which contest was won by Crookston by a score of 4 to 2. The Crookston team had some very good individual players and put up a spirited scrap. The Thief River Falls aggregation composed of five men from that city, two from here and two from Red Lake Falls was at a disadvantage owing to its members not having played together before. At one stage of the game Thief River had all bases filled with no one down but were unable to beat the pill hand enough to make it work in their advantage. The couple with a number of errors on part of Thief River players gave Crookston its lead where the game should have been a tie or nearly so.

Old Fellows Have Visitors

A delegation of about fifteen Old Fellows from Young Pines Lodge at Thief River Falls came down last Thursday evening for a fraternal visit with members of the St. Hilaire Lodge No. 147. After the regular luncheon routine was over, a social evening was spent after which light refreshments were served to all present. Members of Thief River Falls lodge are sponsoring an Old Fellow picnic to be given by lodges in this section. If the plan is approved, the affair will be held some time this summer at some place to be decided upon later.

Captures Suspicious Character

Ed Engb missed the license plates from his Buick car, a short time ago after it had been parked outside a couple of days. An enquiry received a few days ago from the law enforcement agency stated a suspicious looking party under surveillance by the police down there, was displaying the plates on another make of car.

On Tuesday, himself Ole this, accompanied by J. D. Porter of this place, motored to Merkle which is north of Grand Rapids, and brought back the car and license plates to Thief River Falls. Three articles of dynamite were found in the car which gives rise to suspicion that he may have been implicated in more serious work than professed license plates.

R. Th. Johnson, carrier on route number one of Hazel, is erecting a new garage at his farm home near that village.

Circus Coming Thursday

The Orin Brothers circus, which has enjoyed a very successful run thru North Dakota this summer and which has given good satisfaction wherever it has appeared, will be in St. Hilaire next Thursday, August, 12th. This circus is now circling thru northern Minnesota while enroute down the Duluth line. It has a very good line of acts, and carries a fine display of animals which will delight the children, not to mention the grownups. It being a one ring circus is an advantage as one may then view all the acts without interruption. The Orin Brothers show is by no means a new outfit—it has been on the road many years and is considered one of the best small circuses making much money. Being the kids, have the band concerts, see the animals and take in the show.

New Dentist Coming

Dr. H. Snyder, who has been located at Middle River the past four years, and who recently purchased the dental practice of Dr. Upstead at Thief River Falls, was here first of this week to arrange to open a branch office. He had a complete office equipment before leaving that at Thief River and this will be used here. He plans to spend two days each week in this village, and balance of the week attending to practice at Thief River. The arrangement will give people here opportunity to have dental work done without having to spend any time away from home. Dr. Snyder comes highly recommended as a first class dentist, and will undoubtedly secure a good practice in this territory.

Life of a Woman's Career
Shortly after John W. Gates, President of the Illinois Steel company, and was just coming into power, was investigated by the Chicago board of trade. Through Gates made no use of his position as secretary until many years later, he made no attempt to keep secret from his wife the details of his career. "Well, I guess they got me at last," Gates told Mrs. Gates that evening as he unfolded the story of his intricate speculation, according to O. A. Owen, who was getting married and the financial witness, writing in the Saturday Evening Post.
"You are not whipped," she exclaimed. "Your credit and reputation are intact. I am the only one who knows you are cleaned out. Tell no one else, strain your credit and you can raise enough money to keep you going until the time comes."
That appears to have been the true turning point in the career of "The Yes-You-Know" Gates. Never again after that time was he worth $50,000.00 of destruction, and at the time of his death in 1911 his personal fortune aggregated more than $100,000.00.

Saying That Cannot

Be Tamed Gallant
A Spanish drama runs—Where a woman as little as she is good, a peep pod would make her a queen and a hood.
An old English saying—If a man lose a woman and a fortune, he will be sorry he lost the fortune.
French adage—If a man is worth a woman of gold.
German—There are only two good women in the world—those who are the other can't be found.
Scottish—Honest men marry soon, wise men never.
In Fifth City—The next best thing to a wife is a good wife.
Armenian—Words are women; deeds are men.
A Persian sage says that a woman's wisdom is under her head.
The Persian asserts that men and dragons are best out of the world.
Cordoba—Just at a good and a bad horse both need the spur, a good and a bad woman both need the stick.

Great Opportunity Lost

Some things are worse than death, worse than death by Chinese torture, worse than being buried alive; a worse than seven times seven deaths and forty-nine funerals. For example, there is the Chicago man who held thirteen diamonds at bridge, then used a chance to play for his life. He was bid down because an opponent ultimately did seven spades and the fact was all his own; he took a pop, spoke too soon, and opportunity was gone forever.
The hand of a century did not take a very pit of scrambled bricks. Oh, the pity of it! Imagine the despair of his children, his children's children, his posterity to the doomsday generation. Parents, guards and parasites lost, the thrill that comes once in a lifetime, life's darkest moment thrice-darkened with gloom!—New York World.

Africa's Treasure Tree

The most important tree of Africa is the oil palm, being first in beauty, in utility and in fertility.
Its luxuriant foliage gives him shelter, while from its tree trunk pours forth a drought of fruiting vine. Its nut oil and palm cabbage provide a meal fit for a syrian prince. Among its leaves are the source of the West African wealth, the bunch of olives.
The bunch of the nut, its size and shape of an almond, gives a white oil, which forms the basis of much of the "pure Spanish olive oil" of commerce.
The kernel is included in a hard shell, which is in turn clothed with a mass of oleaginous fiber, the whole incased in a strong red-black skin. In this there are obtained lubricating oil, raw material for soap, candles and an ingredient for explosives.

Origin of Eskimos

Dr. H. H. Hink, who made a life study of Greenland, and its people and is the greatest authority on the subject, that most hideous weapons and implements are of Arctic origin.
He advanced the theory that even though the Eskimos originally may have come from Asia, they developed at a rapid rate in the interior of Alaska, whence they made their way northward and westward along the coast of the ice sea. He said that their blood is closely allied with the peoples of Alaska and America, while their language and customs resemble, or are identical, with those of the Indians.

Sisters Have Reunion

Mrs. J. F. Peterson and granddaughter, Miss Hilmar Peterson of Gibbon, Minn., her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Hillebrand and son, Lloyd, of Redwood City, Calif., her son, Alfred Peterson and wife of Sanger, N. D., arrived here yesterday for a visit at the Frank Satterberg and G. L. Fallman home.

Mrs. J. F. Peterson and Miss Frank Satterberg are sisters, and an interesting day in connection with this visit is that this is the first time they have met in fifty-seven years. For many years each thought the other was no longer in the land of the living. To meet after such a long period and find each other apparently enjoying good health, should make the occasion doubly enjoyable.

A little girl was drowned while wading with a companion in the Red Lake River last week. There are many dangerous spots in the river, and small children should not be allowed to wade or swim in it, except accompanied by older companions who are able to assist in case of emergency.

Ed Egan, Ed Vik and Hans Harker left Thursday for Edinburg, N. D., where they will take in harvest and threshing. Ed Egan will operate a steam threshing engine there during threshing season.

Circus Comes Today

Orion Brothers circus is held for two performances here today, one in afternoon and one in evening. The show, which is conceded to be one of the best small circuses in the section of the country, has just completed a successful tour thru North Dakota. Orion Brothers have the reputation of putting on a clean program, one which cannot be witnessed by anybody. Appearance of the circus here has been widely advertised, and it is anticipated a large crowd will attend.

Here From Illinois

Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller of Effingham, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Diel of Moline, Ill., arrived here Monday for a visit at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. John Englehart north of the village. They made the entire trip of 1150 miles in four days, both having driven Ford touring cars. They report a most enjoyable trip, and state Minnesota has the best roads of any other which they toured.

The Great Northern has adopted a reimbursement policy in connection with its maintenance of way workers. A number of sections have been lengthened to absorb existing ones while shifting the work formerly done on three sections onto two longer ones. The local mechanic, which has been one of the longest, under one foreman, has had an additional three miles added to it on the north.

After a short visit here with his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roy left Tuesday by motor for Winnipeg. They will spend some time touring in Canada after which they will return to Huron, S. D., where Mr. Roy has a fine position as superintendent of city schools.

This is the same party who was arrested a short time ago for purloining the license plates from Ed Egan's Buick touring car here, and was not back to stand trial. McDonald evidently feared further investigation by the authorities as he was found with a poison can in his possession and the car contained a quantity of high explosives. Circus Was Very Good

Orion Brothers circus gave two performances here last Thursday afternoon and evening. The afternoon show was not well attended, a good sized crowd came out for the evening performance.

Orion Brothers carry a large assemblage of canvas for a road show, their tents and outfitting being the largest of any similar show that has ever stopped here. They had a nice lot of animals in their menagerie among them being an educated elephant, two lions, a camel, an ostrich, a puma, monkeys as well as many others. Their trained ponies and dogs made a great hit with the children, and balance of the performance was equally good.

The Orion show being operated almost entirely by members of the Orion family, was a nice, clean performance from start to finish. Travelling with about ten auto trucks and nearly that number of horse drawn vehicles, the circus left here Friday for Pummerville and other points down on the St. Louis.

Bicycle Tourists

A woman and her young son, both riding bicycles, passed thru here Monday enroute to their home at Kansas City, Mo., after a trip to Winnipeg. They went thru here northbound some time ago and report riding excellent roads all along the route. They had no definite schedule, but simply pedaled as far as they wished each day.

Young Son Dies

The eleven months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hallstrom, mother of whose illness was made in last issue, died at the Physicians hospital at Thief River Falls. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. F. Nelson last Friday afternoon. Sympathy of many friends is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Hallstrom in their bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lindquist and daughter, Nora, motored to Crookston last Sunday to spend the day at the home of Mrs. Chas. Lindquist. Other guests were Ray and Mrs. Carl Zee and children of Hoffman, who are visiting with relatives and friends in Crookston.

Avoid the danger of failure. En play your time by taking a course in the MANKATO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE, Mankato, Minn. Send for catalogue.

Entertains For Guests

Mrs. Adolph Satterberg entertained at an early dinner last Thursday in honor of Mrs. J. L. Peterson and grandchildren. Billie Peterson of Gibson, Minn., Mrs. G. A. Blomquist and son, Lloyd, of Newdow City, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Peterson of Sanger, N. D., who were guests at their home. Among those present were: Mrs. and Mrs. Frank Satterberg, and Mrs. G. L. Fellman, Miss Mildred Fellman, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Satterberg, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Satterberg and daughter.

Returns to Iowa

G. D. Hooper and son, James, left yesterday for their home at Dallas City, Iowa, after visiting here at home of the former brother, Geo. Hooper. They were accompanied as far as Minneapolis by Mrs. Gertrude Hooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hooper, who was called home a short time ago by illness of her mother.

Crops Appear Good

Harvest is now well under way in all parts of this community, and threshing machines will be in the field in another week.

From all appearances, all grain will be good this year. In some places the wheat yield will be higher than at first anticipated, due to rain, but barley and oats will be good in most places. Flax, corn and potatoes are coming along in the shape and all indications point to a better than average crop.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Carpenter, who have made their home at Ish, Minn., the past few years, are expected here in a short time to spend the winter, they having sold their property at Ish.

Lee Becha, who has been employed by an electrical contracting firm near the Twin Cities the past year, returned home Friday to assist with operation of the home farm.

E. Nelson received a mail order the week from a party in Iowa for a set of dishes. The people who sent the order, motored thru here a couple weeks ago and noticed the window display of dishes which struck their fancy and they ordered them from arriving home. The above is proof that a merchant's trade territory is not confined to any certain radius these days of motor cars.

Great Writer's Ideas

On Child Training

Gay, light-hearted and humorous through Robert Louis Stevenson was during his life. He held views on the training of children that, coming from him, were startlingly new.

Mr. Lloyd Osborne, his son, son, writing in St. Hilaire's Magazine, described a conversation that occurred when he and Stevenson, then thirty-two years old and in poor health, were conversing at Dover in the Swiss Alps.

One conversation I heard him have with a visitor at the estate, says Mr. Osborne, impressed me deeply. The visitor was a fiery, efficient person, who after many professions ventured to criticize Stevenson for the way he was bringing up his son, R. L. Jr., who was attending at Dover in the Swiss Alps.

"Of course I will read everything you want," he said. "And if he has things to say, he should say them. I am not a child. I think that what the world is really like—the business, its treachery, its daily required treachery—should be shown to these people and should be shown to them in the best of the world. I have no patience with this fairy-tale training that makes Stevenson a victim. These men have been brought up, and so one will ever escape the shadow of the shadow. It cost me—Trent's, Compulsion."

"Where Your Dollar Has More Cents"

Visiting Past Bone

of Busy Office Man

The "just-a-minute" man is a product of modern times, and he is not way related to the Minute Men of Revolutionary days. He is the worst pest with whom Detroiters high in public office and business life have to deal. He always appears to be in a hurry. He dashes into the outer office of his victim, pulls out his watch, and breathlessly asks the secretary if he can see Mr. So-and-so for "just a minute." He is often successful in getting admittance, and he usually stays about 30 minutes, or until long after he has worn out his welcome. The "just-a-minute" man is legion. He visits sometimes late up several hours a day of one busy man's time. One business man admitted he could dispense with his secretary if it were not for the "just-a-minute" man. The secretary's chief duty is to intercept the pest and learn his business—Detroit News.

Monk That Made History

Robert the Hermit was a monk of Amiens, the famous preacher of the Crusades and primarily responsible for one of the most gigantic religious movements the world ever saw. Little is known of his life until 1098 when he was born in 1050, when he preached the necessity of a crusade to reach the Holy land from the island. He rode about France on a mule, exhorting the populace to follow him. In 1098 he set out toward Palestine with some thirty thousand followers, mostly of the poorer classes. The highly organized army struggled on through Europe, but after crossing the Bosphorus into Asia Minor it proved so weak and the report that it had joined the army of Godfrey de Bouillon. He had a part in the capture of Jerusalem, and in July, 1099, trampled on the Mount of Olives—Kansas City Star.

Rabbits as Swimmers

An investigation of naturalists reports that rabbits are good swimmers and have a very real fondness for the water and the report that they die in a good swim. It says he has been hidden in water and watched rabbits run on a high bank and dive flat out to the water, swimming about and making the water from their eyes. In a human fashion, then, making the water so shallow they could swim in, exactly as a dog does. Prior to that discovery he had known rabbits to take to the water when pursued by a dog, but he did not know they had a day out from play and relaxation—Ontario Journal.

Virtue That Attracts

Virtue is a manner contagious. It is a personality, the bright, virtuous known as patriotism, or love of country—Chicago Tribune.

Obvious Injustice

He was a thoughtful boy, "Johnny" he is called. The world is full of it even for a youth of twelve. "Give us that" asked an elderly companion. "Have you not observed," prompted the youthful philosopher, "how that a boy who has never sworn, to obey his mother's husband has never been able to do so, while that same mother, who has sworn to obey him, never does?"

The hundreds of thousands of persons in the Northwest who cannot visit the great Philadelphia Sesqui-centennial this year, will have a chance to see one of its greatest entertainment features at the Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Dairy Exposition, September 4 to 11—the mammoth fireworks spectacle, "1776." All of the stirring episodes in the trying struggle for national freedom 150 years ago will be presented, including the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the ride of Paul Revere, the raising of the first United States flag by Betsy Ross—the battle of Yorktown, the Boston Tea Party, and a score of other dramatic episodes of the American Revolution.

Women in U. S. Treasury

The assistant treasurer of the Duluth States National Bank in the spring of 1902 Mr. P. M. Splinter, treasurer of the United States, prevailed upon Secretary Chase to permit him to appoint a woman to act and train Duluth States currency. This work was then done with alacrity in the hands of Mrs. He. She appointed Miss Jennie Douglas, and, as he afterward expressed it, "her first day's work settled the matter in her and in woman's favor." On October 6, 1902, the following women were appointed: Miss Pauline E. Haisled, Miss Annie York, Miss Belle R. Tracy, Miss Elizabeth Houser and Miss Mary Burke. These women were the first for whom Congress really made an appropriation.

New Value to Alder

Alder, which is much used as a log in making furniture in those sections where it grows to a commercial size, may have another value far exceeding that for furniture. It is now believed that the little seedlings or "chumps" on the roads of railroads are a source of wealth. The "chumps" have been working on that theory and American inventors have been attempting to prove it with some degree of success. If it is true the alder having the ability to take nitrogen direct from the air would be a great help.

Warship Needed Macos

The bed lock that attended the United States battleship Texas was attributed by old men-of-war to the fact that she had no masts. Ocean macos here a bad reputation with sailors. And most sailors believe that if a cat falls overboard and is drowned the vessel is doomed.

Proper Ventilation
Vital for Kitchen

Ventilating the home is receiving an increasing amount of attention in connection with renewing the vitiated air in the kitchen, and in some instances, the entire house. The time has long passed since the popular conception of fresh air was fresh air, particularly night air, was injurious to the extremely impure and that the windows should by all means be hermetically sealed against the infiltration of fresh air. Electricity, available in every wired home, offers a very economical means of operating mechanical ventilators and can be utilized at a surprisingly low cost.

The kitchen, of course, is the room where proper ventilation of air is most essential in order to prevent the heavy cooking odors which otherwise permeate the entire house. Not only this, but the presence of steam and fumes from the house attaches itself to bladders, rubber-stained furniture, walls, ceilings, etc., and necessitates a very serious and expensive expenditure in order to remove it. Anyone who has entered a home where cauliflower, cabbage and other similar foods are being prepared knows that it is extremely impure and to smell the odors of mingled cooking for a long time after the repast.

What the Fairy Told

Three Married Women

Three women once went to the Marriage Fairy. The first woman said: "My husband is not very charming or interesting, but he is proud of my beauty, sends me around in fine cars and suits and jewels. How long will it last?" And the fairy answered: "He will last till the next time he goes to the laundry."

And the second woman said: "I do not care for wealth or luxury if I can be admired. And I am. I have been married fifteen years, and my husband still thinks me the loveliest woman on earth. How long will it last?" And the fairy answered: "You have already had it longer than nearly all the married women. It will last for fifteen months longer, and then come quite suddenly, you will never know why."

And the third woman said: "I don't seem to need what most women need. We are poor, and I never had a really beautiful dress in my life. But I don't care. My husband never pays me a great deal of attention. I don't remember that he ever complimented me in his life. I sit with him in the evening after my work is done. And he by chance he makes my eyes smile. I am perfectly happy. How long will it last?" And the fairy answered: "It will last till this day and night. After that day and night, you will really want to know why."

P. Johnson Farm Sold Last Week

Local Man Shows Faith In County By Purchasing
Fine River Farm

One of the largest real estate deals made in this section for some time was consummated last week when the Farmers State Bank of this village when William Yonks purchased from the Peter Johnson estate that portion of its real estate holdings known as the "home place" in River Falls township. The deal includes all remaining land owned by the estate with exception of an eighty acre the Aug. Svensen place, and the eighty acre along the new state road where Mr. and Mrs. Johnson resided after leaving over the big farm to members of the family.

The farm purchased by Mr. Yonks borders on the Red Lake River, has an elaborate set of buildings, a tan acre orchard the equal of which can not be found in this part of the state, and some of the best land to be found in this county. Otto Johnson has titled the place this year, but will give possession to Mr. Yonks in the near future and will move out his own farm a mile east where he erected a set of new buildings recently.

Mr. Yonks and family have engaged extensively in dairying and other raising for many years, and will continue to do so on the new farm which is admirably suited for that purpose.

Prospective Bear Hunt

Andrew Anderson reports seeing a full grown bear at his place Friday afternoon, and again at the O. U. Larson place the following day. Anderson states the animal was the largest bear he had ever seen, and that it seemed to have no fear when sighted by him. In a long time since any of the present residents of this community have had opportunity to indulge in a real bear hunt and a chance to do so is now presented almost at their doors. Residents in the district where the bear was seen, desire very much to have it killed as they fear it will prey on livestock when food becomes scarcer later in the season.

A good start in a race means that the race is half won. This is no less true of a year's school work. Some pupils can hardly afford to make a handicap on the first month, due to irregular attendance. You have only a few years to take advantage of what it has to offer and then it is time to become a tax payer. Then, if at any other time, will you realize that the schools are worth something.

It is the aim of the St. Hilaire school to be the best year that it has ever been. It is our aim to provide the physical, mental, and moral welfare of each pupil.

Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Sven Benson, highly respected residents of this community since 1900, fittingly observed their golden wedding anniversary by a family reunion and gathering of intimate old friends which was held at the farm home of their son, Alfred Benson, adjoining the village, last Sunday, September 4th.

Mr. Benson was born at Kjerfjord, Norway in 1846 and has had a few weeks of being 80 years of age. Mrs. Benson was born at the same place in 1857, is now 68 years of age. The former came to this country in 1872, and the latter in 1876. They were married September 4th, 1876 at La-Crosse, Wisconsin, and went from there to Pillmore County, this state, where they resided until 1900. That year, lured by stories of wonderful opportunities awaiting pioneers in the Red River Valley, they moved to what is now Norman County where they resided until 1900. That year they bought the farmstead adjoining this village and made their home until they moved into town to enjoy the fruit of many years of toil.

The married life of Mr. and Mrs. Benson was blessed by ten children, eight of whom are living, and 9 grandchildren. With exception of the children, and one grandchild, who found it impossible to be present, all were present at the memorable occasion last Sunday.

Rev. C. M. Gilman, pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church of which the honored couple have long been members, was present and delivered a pleasing address fitting to the occasion. Among his remarks, Rev. Gilman stated very few couples were privileged to journey down the pathway of life long enough to reach the fiftieth milestone, or golden wedding anniversary. During his easy years in the ministry, he has attended but four such anniversaries and, singularly, all have been close within the past three years in this community. To spend fifty years in each other's companionship, and to have the love esteem of their children as, indeed, golden memories.

Well Resumes Flow

About twelve years ago Leonard Holmes had a good flowing well at his residence in town. After another well had been drilled at what is now the Leo Carpenter place, the Holmes well ceased flowing, presumably because the same vein had been tapped. This week the Holmes well started flowing again for some unknown reason, and is now delivering water at about the same rate as it did years ago.

Visitors From Iowa

Mr. and Mrs. O. Dickerson, accompanied by Mett Balgout and A. A. Johnson, motored here last week from Webster City, Iowa, for a visit at home of their old friend Wm. Swing. After sightseeing thru this territory, they returned home Sunday.

Well Deserved Promotion

Miss Editha Gligstad left Friday for Moorhead where she will teach in the city schools again this year. In recognition of her years of service at Moorhead, she has been promoted to principal of one of the schools beginning this school year.

President of World Court Conference Sees League Constitution in Danger.

Geneva, Switzerland.—Whether the famous 5th reservation, made by the United States, as a condition of adherence to the World Court will be accepted was not determined when the international conference, consisting of representatives of 38 countries which are members, adjourned. "This reservation," said President Van Espen of the conference, "touches the very heart of the constitution of the league of nations." The fourth reservation, permitting withdrawal at any time by the United States, also was under review, while the first three reservations were accepted without opposition. Giving credit to the pioneer role played by the United States in furthering the cause of arbitration and international peace, the president of the conference predicted that the adoption of the United States' reservation to the World Court would greatly promote international peace, dominated the opening session.

The Scent of Sweet Alyssum

By JOSEPHINE S. BROOKS
(Copyright.)

"CLYDE!"
A flush mounted to both faces of this handsome couple, now planning to separate—a superb lady. The woman was speaking.
"I just wanted you to know, Clyde, to come over tomorrow evening. I thought we'd better settle in—just to choose the immediate next step. You may have first choice, except—"
"No, no, Alice." That man's breath caught sharply.
"Yes, come, Clyde."
"Oh, yes, eagerly."
"I'm on my way in—Gibbs here, but I will be back in time." She turned to go.
"Yes—what to it?"
"Alice—if you'd only—"
"Don't let me see you tomorrow evening." The wife put up a warning finger. "Don't let me see you tomorrow evening." This evening Clyde Paulkner, in his best appearance, stood looking at his wife's photograph.
"You are beautiful, and I worship you. But self-willed, unscrupulous by doing parades, I'm separating, yes, and for good."
He snatched off the lights, and was in the moon-lighted window. But the moon brought too vivid memories of previous days. He remembered the night and remembered far from the city. Indubitably the scent of sweet alyssum came to him. It was the perfume of this reminder of their engagement flower.

He covered his eyes a second, and passed on. The sweet memories grew too strong. He retraced his steps to the little florist's shop. He bought a large bunch of the sweetest alyssum. He entered the apartment and placed them in water. Then he opened his wallet and took out a yellowed package containing a yellowed slip of paper, a slip of paper.
"Nearly torn to shreds—like your voice," he sighed.
The next evening, after a most prolonged, nervous toilet, he set out for his wife's apartment.

She met him with the cordial greeting of a friend, smiling warmly. "We'd better get it over with quickly—the separation—"
"No, no, Alice. My voice faltered a little. My heart came heavily on as I saw his little child's picture."
"Clyde, mothers feel more heavily than fathers." The lady smiled. "So I thought I'd take the latest one. You can put another—some time. You may have the baby picture."
The man's face worked pitifully. "Yes, yes, Alice. Keep the picture. You must not sacrifice it."
She reached out to the infant photo. "Clyde, this is for you. I have the photo."
Clyde, unable to bear more, arose hastily. "I must go, Alice, unless—"
A warning gesture of warning stopped him. He left abruptly.

Alice Paulkner knelt to her father and waited up the broad path to the Outhouse here. Her heart beat for her lost little one. If she could find one who looked like her she must have her. No one could. She stood there fearfully disappointed, only half-hearing the mother's order for the maid to prepare the little girl for her new foster who was due at any time. Soon she met resolutely with the beautiful child.

Alice stood in rapture. The child was the image of her own little Doris. "Oh, can't I have her? She's so like my own. I must have her!" she begged.
"You are too late. She goes with her new father. There he is now." As he entered by started back as he glimpsed at the night of a beautiful woman closely clasping his newly adopted child. The woman's face he saw were falling on the child's golden hair. He heard her crying low talk to the baby, who patted the "pitty pitty" face—the face of his wife.
The woman looked around and looked straight into the eyes of her tall, handsome husband.
"Clyde—you are—the one—"
"Who?"

He nodded. Both were conscious of an impending crisis, all unmanifest of the woman's face he saw were falling on the child's golden hair. The baby arms clung close. "We've won," she cried.
"Clyde, I must have her. You can't take her from me."
The man, his eyes suddenly under and tender, drew nearer. The child, shuddering with joy, put her arms around his neck, the other around the wife's.

"There, you see the clings to me, Clyde." "What about me?" he asked. "Then, in a low voice, he whispered. "Alice, you may have her—the woman's face glowed—" "I'll take you, too. I can't let her go, Clyde. Don't you see I'm doubly lonely—"
"Why—why? Clyde, we can then have her face." The light glowed her face.

A little child had wrought far more than could any letter. "Well, call her Alice, dear." An excited note in her voice. "Alyssum! Clyde—Clyde—our alyssum engagement flower!—Add—yes—remember it!"
Right before his eyes, the wife Clyde saw with the face of his own sweet alyssum.
"And to think, Clyde, that I almost broke up—"
Clyde, almost broken up, Clyde.

Members of Table

Mountain Pay Toll

News of a mountain tragedy rings through Lapland like a funeral bell. It becomes almost a personal tragedy to everyone. Table mountain loses into the clouds so close to the city that every detail of its great rock face can be seen from the main street, and that makes the fact of a death on its slopes very close and vivid.

Table mountain has a dark history. From the earliest days climbers have met disaster, and there is one prospectus part known as Skeleton gorge where the bones of a number of long-dead men have been found.

The noted white cloth of clouds which settles over Table mountain has been responsible for many fatalities. Inexperted people lose their way and, finding darkness approaching, stumble madly downward toward the vast lights. Falls of hundreds of feet await them.

Whenever a person is reported missing parties composed of members of the Mountain club leave their work and set out to search the dangerous ledges and ravines. An appeal for a search party never fails. If the missing person is not found by the week-end, hundreds of people join in the quest.

Table mountain attracts scores of new climbers on every public holiday, and it is then that the most tragedies occur. Often the body of a lonely climber is not found for several weeks, so vast is the area to be searched. From the Centennial Edition of the London Daily Mail.

One of the curious fallacies that has come down to us from antiquity is the use of a forked twig in locating water. This method has no scientific or rational basis and guesses wrong as often as it is right.

Marcus's Human Body

The human body is, according to Duray, composed of the inconceivable number of about 250,000,000,000,000 cells. Each cell springs from the first single one. Hope to Find Treasure

The treasures of lost ships buried under the sands of the Yellowstone and Missouri rivers are being sought by Elmore B. Wenzon, a prospector, who has spent some 25 years gathering information as to their location and possible recovery. He believes that there are still large quantities of the cargoes of precious metals, gold, silver, etc. in the wrecks of these treasure ships, the value of which government reports indicate to amount to $20,000,000. His investigations have disclosed that altogether some 275 treasure ships were sunk in the Missouri and Yellowstone rivers between 1820 and 1860.—Pittsburgh Courier.

Likes This Section

John McPhillips of Minneapolis, owner of the former Drake farm in Black River and Sanders towns, came last week to look after matters in connection with his property, and possibly to arrange for considerable improvements thereon. He is greatly amused with possibilities of this section for dairying and stockraising, and believes it has a wonderful future. Considering what this section has in way of crops and other sources of income as compared to most agricultural districts in the Northwest this year, Mr. McPhillips believes a wholesale optimistic spirit should prevail. It is his opinion that the chronic slacker, whose number, unfortunately, is small in this community, should be firmly suppressed, and an unusual booster spirit substituted which would work for the ultimate betterment of the entire district.

Power is one reason for Pontiac Six popularity

Powered by the largest six-cylinder engine used in any car costing less than $1000, the Pontiac Six exhibits a performance range entirely new in its field. Power to soar up hills. Power to lug smoothly and steadily through mud and sand. More power than any other six at its price—and a permanent source of power too. Beauty, comfort, economy and roadability—in all these qualities the Pontiac Six represents a decisive departure among low-priced cars. Yet, on the basis of power in relation to wheelbase, weight and price, it ranks as the one outstanding engineering triumph of the day.

Geophysical Facts

The earth is largely just the same as meteorites, our only importations from outer space. In experiments at the geophysical laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Washington that simulate the conditions of extremely high temperature and pressure of the earth's interior, Dr. Leason H. Adams and Dr. Ralph B. Gibson have found that rocks have much more elasticity than was formerly supposed.

In a report to the National Academy of Sciences Doctor Adams said that they had found that the least silicious of the silicate rocks, known in geological parlance as Dunites, when subjected to very high pressures was three-fourths as rigid as steel. The calculations of the two experimenters have been found to tally with astronomical data which definitely establish that the main part of the earth consists of peridotite rock or the stuff that meteorites are made of.

Wind Withers Entire Crop

The Chisago is an excruciating wind, but there is another hot wind that is decidedly the reverse. Farmers in the West and Southwest have seen their crops withered in a few hours by the coming of the visitor, says an American Magazine writer. Several years ago he saw the wheat crop in the West at about 10:30 a. m., and in less than three hours the temperature had mounted to almost 120 degrees. In Kansas two men died while trying to force life to Humboldt, a distance of eight miles. Three others were out with their teams at Humboldt. The horses died and the men almost succumbed. Scarcely a chicken was left alive in that section. Hogs and cattle dropped in their tracks, suffocated by the rosh or hot blast.

He's a Good Digger

The atom's naked, fast, sales are writhed crookedways, says Nature Magazine. The blast that shows no days marks in the snow, but the forepaws have claws which make him one of the best diggers among all the wild folk, surpassed only by the badger and the woodchuck.

One's Best Is Demanded

We may not be able to do the best, but it is always possible to do our best, and that is all that is required of us. We are not gifted with another's talent, any more than we are called upon to bear that other's responsibility—Buckner.

Simple Remedy

Should the voice be lost from the effects of a cold, a simple pleasant remedy of my own, adding to it the juice of one lemon, and refreshing it with white sugar to taste, takes a spoonful from time to time.

Every Accepted as Fact

The hard observer says the correctness of the Copernican theory is not merely a fact of fact, scientific discovery ever made. It can be almost certain that the earth is not stationary, certainly, however.

Earth's Atmosphere

The atmosphere of the earth is about 1.5 by volume oxygen, 8 nitrogen, 1-200 carbon dioxide, and variable proportion aqueous vapor. Besides these there are traces of other common gases, as ammonia, ozone, helium, neon, krypton and xenon. The latter are present in minute quantities only, and are isolated by the employment of low temperatures.

Supreme in Size

The largest city in the world is London (Greater) with a population of 7,470,106. The Nile river, in Africa, is 4,000 miles in length; the Amazon, in South America, is 3,200 miles, and the Mississippi river, in the United States, connects with the Mississippi 20 miles above St. Louis, and its total length from source to the Gulf of Mexico is 4,202 miles.

Tragic Case

The strike was charged with the minds of herring pedestrians. Suddenly a very cry rose shrilly above the noise of the passing throng. "Give me air!" she shrieked. Sugar Mill Opens Oct. 6

Opening of the American Beet Sugar Co. plant at East Grand Forks on October 6th marks the beginning of the "sugar beet industry" that could be bent into this great agricultural Northwest in opinion of some prominent business men in this section.

This year farmers in the Red River Valley will receive more than $500,000 for their sugar beets and it will reach 18 times this number of beets to produce the sugar that is consumed yearly within the state of North Dakota and Minnesota. Therefore the industry seems destined to expand and will undoubtedly become one of the greatest industrial developments in the Northwest. State officials of North Dakota and Minnesota as well as prominent men in the beet sugar beet industry, will be present at the formal opening of the plant to deliver addresses. The plant will be thrown open for inspection by the public at 9:30 a. m. on October 6th, and will be open all day for that purpose. A program of amusements has been arranged, and the large sugar warehouse will be placed for dancing.

The management will be pleased to have a representative delegation of farmers and business men and their families and friends, from every corner in the Red River Valley present on the opening day.

Form Agricultural Unit

A unit of the Minnesota Council of Agriculture was organized recently at a meeting held at Bagley, Clearwater County in response to a call issued by G. P. Jones, O. B. Sorvick and E. H. Best, first to draw committee appointments for the state organization.

G. P. Jones, assistant county attorney of Clearwater County, and candidate for representative from the 65th legislative district at the coming fall election, addressed the assembly, giving a very able and instructive address on the discussion of the problems of agriculture with reference to the returns from sale of grain on the world market. Mr. Jones pointed out the benefits of farm legislation along the lines proposed in the Federal Farm Board measure and cited the need for continued effort to bring agriculture wholly within the tariff protection system, as a proposal by the council. Until similar to that at Bagley, are being organized throughout the state, and the results will be watched with considerable interest.

Mr. Jones, who participated in the organization meeting of the Minnesota Council of Agriculture at St. Paul, as a representative from Clearwater County, will soon tour this county in interest of his candidacy for representative, and will endeavor to address meetings of farmers whenever possible, and explain to them the aims and ambitions of the Council in which he is greatly interested as he is actively engaged in farming himself.

Order Extras Now!

The busiest season of the year is with us again. A day or two wasted now waiting for extra parts for machinery, cannot be made up later.

If you need binder parts, new canvases, or twine, the time to get it is right now.

Perhaps your corn binder, potato machinery, or plowing equipment needs repairs or replacement? If so, I have what you need, or can get it in short order.

I handle various kinds of threshing machine supplies, but it is impossible to stock everything one needs. Anticipate your needs and order now so you will have the machine in tip-top shape for work.

Flow early and plow deep. If your equipment is old or badly worn, come in and see the new ones I have on display. New machinery is not classed as expense—it's a time and money saver.

AUTO ACCIDENT FATAL TO WOMAN

One Dead As Result Of Auto Collision Saturday South Of This Village

Miss Estelle Kolberg, young school teacher whose home is a few miles northwest of Thief River Falls, died Saturday from injuries, and Mrs. J. Bourrette of Kent, Minn., suffered a broken arm and several bruises, and is now in a serious condition from shock, as a result of a distressing auto accident a mile south of this village last Saturday noon.

Miss and Mrs. Bourrette, their nine year old daughter, and Miss Kolberg, travelling in a Ford touring car, were enroute from Kent to spend Sunday at the Kolberg home. As they entered the curve beyond the county ditch bridge, a large Nash sedan belonging to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bloomquist of Duluth, Minn., and driven by the latter, attempted to make the same curve.

None of the occupants of either car were able to give a full account of the accident, but those who arrived on the scene shortly thereafter state that Bloomquist evidently became confused upon noting the approaching Ford, which was well down on the inclined curve, and fearing a collision, reversed her machine sharply to the left. In attempting to regain her side of the road the sedan plowed into right hand side of the Ford, ripping off fenders, running behind and over wheel. Appearance of the wreck would indicate the smaller machine turned completely over and landed upside in the ditch.

A passing policeman, picked up Mr. and Mrs. Bloomquist and daughter, who were all more or less injured, and rushed them to the hospital at Thief River where they died that evening at 6:00 p. m. as result of her injuries.

Aide from a few cuts from flying glass, and about incident to the collision, none of the occupants of the Bloomquist car were injured.

As an inquest held at Thief River by Judge Monahan was conducted that the accident was unavoidable, and no blame was attached to driver of either car.

The unfortunate occurrence took place on a road constructed as a curve from either direction, and in a view that has state warning signs posted at both ends.

PUBLIC PRIDE IN THE ALLEY

While taking a short cut through the alley one day I made a casual observation of it. Like most other alleys it was littered with old pipes, the cans, and other varieties of rubbish. I didn't have very much pride in our alley, but I am sure every one of us would be proud of it if we took care of it in a sanitary way.

I would suggest that each house have a garbage can. If one was not available an old barrel or box with a cover on would serve the purpose almost as well. In the alley the rubbish should be kept. When the cans are full they can easily be hauled to the city dumps. In the summer the alleys should be especially cared for because of the millions of flies that gather there every day for food. Some of these flies might get into the house and light on the food, and often cause sickness.

Each month in summer the alleys should be cleaned. It is for the people's own welfare as well as for the town's that the alleys should be cleaned.

I am sure if they were we would have almost as great a pride in keeping them clean as that of our front yards. So when we move the grass lets also think of the alleys.

FOR SALE—Six hole kitchen range, bed complete with spring and mattress, 6 chairs, Copenhagen rug, combination heater, and a wood heater. Hestland, the country, and will sell any of the above cheaply at once. Call on Mr. Hestland.

Were Good Growers

We have often noticed that the less a person has the matter with him the more he complains about it, and we often wonder if old John, as he is called, is the day he was born and reared that he was nothing more or less than a brother to dragons and a companion to evils, really had anything worse than the dream of a century.

"Line" on Future Husband

In certain parts of England girls have a test that is supposed to indicate the tenacity of their future husband. The test consists of selecting an onion to represent each of the eleven men. They are then placed in a box, well fertilized, and forced to grow. The first to show signs of sprouting is supposed to represent the lucky man.

Pointer for Salesmen

Recent tests are said to prove that salesmen are able to obtain the best results while wearing dark, plain-tinted, and that the worst results came while wearing polka-dot tie. It would appear from this that such dotted ties have a tendency to distract the buyer's attention from the importance of the dotted line.

Community Safeguards

How would you like to live in a city that had no churches and none of the restraining influences that go hand in hand with the church?

What would property be worth in such a city? How safe would life be?

But there is no such city in any enlightened country. In America, no group promoting a new community, would overlook the establishment of a Church. They must have a Church and school in order to attract the kind of people who will make a city permanent.

It is fair to presume that if the church is of benefit to the community, it might be of great benefit to the individual?

The Church is something we need for its inspiration and the instruction.

Select your Church and help keep it a live factor in the community by your attendance and financial assistance.

A great many people imagine that law enforcement and economical administration of public affairs are like Tony in Uncle Tom's Cabin in that they "just happen."

The interest shown in such efforts by the public, the better they will be administered. The proper time to show interest is at election time. By your votes you are doing your public duty. It is to be attended to each week for you, therefore it falls on the public to make selections if you shall have the service you reasonably expect. Not only do you select officials in your vote, but you are looked to for their salaries this taxation.

LUNCH AT JACK'S

S. H. H. S. N-O-T-E-S

Like a Letter from Our School.

There is to be a carnival in town. When? October 29th.

At the St. Hilaire High School. The Students have now ordered their things so it will not be long before they will be sporting some high class jewelry.

A baseball has been sent for them to be used by the whole school as a play ground ball. It is getting so cold to be outside kicking the football on this new brand of exercise will be carried on in the gym.

The American and Modern History classes have received "The Literary Digest" as an aid in that course of study.

Don't forget the carnival on Friday night.

From now on we are going to try and have an article a week written by a "High School student. This will be the same as a student's opinion about different facts of school and school life. This week's article is written by Wadsworth Wilson a High School sophomore.

Plans are in making for the first community Club meeting to be held at the school house on Friday November 6. The Students plan on serving at this meeting.

The "Sea-Dogs" gave the "High School" party October 22. The party was splendid with the social hour. Stunts and games were played and a Grand March was played after which lunch was served by the "Sea-Dogs."

THE SCHOOL

Our school is as all other schools ought to be. The pupils come to school with the spirit to win. The school does not want a pupil to come while the doors without the school spirit and school fellowship, to fight for the right, and co-operate with the fellow classmates.

When John came in the door he said, "Good morning everybody. Gosh, but I feel fine to shake hands with everybody and get out of that old debating class again."

This is the way all people should take part in the school work, without attitude. Know by the old proverb, "Work while you work; play while you play." The school of St. Hilaire does not want a pupil to come to school if he does not want to. If they take school as a drag they are better to stay at home and take up some other line of work that they like. Anybody that comes to school and shows a good attitude toward the work will undoubtedly reach some unknown height.

GRADE SCHOOL NOTES.

The seventh and eighth grade pupils made plans for the Halloween carnival which is to be held on Oct. 29.

Oliver Burstad started school yesterday in the fourth grade.

A roll down was held between the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils. The two upper grades won. Shirley Hall was the best runner from the fifth and sixth grade room.

The Charlie Sumpston children have discontinued going to this school as they have moved, and are attending a country school closer to their home.

The "A" group in spelling in the seventh and eighth grade room has surpassed from eight pupils to sixteen pupils leaving only four who are not in this group. This is a very good record for the group.

NOTICE: Connecting November 1st a supply of milk will be put out at all times at the hotel market at 10 cents per quart.

Know Nothing of Farming

The following article which appeared in a recent issue of THE FARMER OF ST. Paul tells of success by a Washington County farmer who came to this section and engaged to farming without previous experience. His story should be an inspiration to others in this land of opportunity.

Inexpensive in that it always a hard-ship when one takes up a new task, even in middle life. In fact, in the case of John East, Washington County farmer, it was a blessing, to use his own words.

"I had nothing to remember about farming when I quit my trade as a boiler-maker and went to farming," he said. "I didn't know anything about farming. I didn't have any idea and I guess the fact that I started to follow the suggestion of those who here in the county that I am still a farmer and not a boiler-maker."

Mr. East was the first settler in the Goodhue district, 12 years ago. He arrived there on a rainy night, all his earthly possessions in a boxcar, and with his wife set out in the darkness through a 14 miles of woods to the vacant farm house built there. Many of the others gave up the task and departed.

He brought three milk cows and two calves with him when I came here," he continued. "They were all that saved us in the first few years when floods and frosts took our crops."

"During the first three years I was on the fence about staying or going back to my trade. In 1917 a neighbor who was selling out came over to sell me his cattle. I wanted to buy, but all the money that I had was a little which I was saving for railroad fare in case that things didn't go right. After careful consideration, however, I bought the cattle. I think that that was the turning point for me. Two years later I sold 17 head of surplus cattle for $1,500, which helped greatly to cut down the indebtedness on my farm.

In 1920, I put up a silo. I also improved the house and built a garage, well house, workshop, feed boxes to the barn and machine shed. Homemade stanchions were another convenience which I added. This year I am having a 400 hen poultry house built and Mrs. East is planning to go more extensively into poultry raising. We market all of our eggs and poultry through the Third River Valley Egg and Poultry Association.

"Farming isn't like working a trade, with an eight hour day, but his have built up a home, and are making a good living, and our farm and live stock are increasing in value. I believe that I am further ahead now as a farmer than I would have been as a boiler-maker."—Don P. Shannon.

Leaders of All Parties in Wash- ington Express Grief Over News

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, leader in many a hot political battle, died last night at his home in Washington, D. C., after a long illness. He was 70 years old. He was a member of the House of Representatives for 24 years and was one of the most powerful men in the nation. He was a member of the House of Representatives for 24 years and was one of the most powerful men in the nation. He was a member of the House of Representatives for 24 years and was one of the most powerful men in the nation.

Intimate memories that span a full half-century made the passing of "Uncle Joe" Cannon an occasion of universal sorrow in Washington. No other public man of the time was as so strongly hated politically and so ardently loved personally. The friends of the House of all parties were bowed when they heard of his death. The capital had not seen him for many months, but he was one whose image lingered dimly in the memories of the great and the lowly. For a generation his slight figure was a familiar part of the political panorama of national politics and government. And in that period he was such a force as truly a landmark of the capital city itself.

On Tuesday afternoon (Nov. 29) Joseph delivered an interesting talk on "Petroleum" the appropriate for that day of the American Education program.
Particulars taken from the shortest and best definition is "Petroleum to your Country." This is not understood to be devoted to the oil business and industry, which are in themselves very important, but the definition is shown to the government and fellow citizens. Our forefathers, who founded the principles of our democratic government—the government and democracy of all nations, provided for testing qualities for our personal property such as the establishment of justice, the insurance of domestic tranquility, and the promotion of the general welfare. In order that our government may remain energetic depends on the devotion of efforts that we, as good citizens, display.
—S. H. H. S.—

On Wednesday morning Rev. Dixon of Thief River Falls favored us with an interesting speech on "Equal Opportunity" which was immensely enjoyed by the student body. He brought out the advantages we Americans have as regards the equality of opportunity in comparison with the people of some other countries. "Class distinction" is more marked where equal opportunity is unknown and it is important that we, as Americans, should take the advantage of our opportunity for education, so that we may make better and more intelligent citizens.

The Greater OAKLAND SIX ENGINE

Rides on Rubber Drives thru Rubber

Chassis and engine of any other make can be used with this rubber drive system. See your dealer for details.

"Smoother and quieter than any car I have ever driven!"

—such is the verdict of owners of the Greater Oakland Six, with Rubber-Silenced Chassis.

A vital reason for its velvety performance is a new and exclusive engineering principle—the Oakland Six engine rides on rubber and drives through rubber.

Rubber engine supports absorb any vibration in the frame due to torque reaction of the engine, while a rubber-silenced drive erases all body rumbles and vibrations from the rear wheels, drive shaft and transmission.

Drives the Greater Oakland Six and experience a smoothness and quietness of operation never before achieved.

An excellent program of vocal and instrumental music was rendered, and Rev. H. Tallackson gave a very interesting talk on "New Star Religion." He stressed the importance of people in this giving county respectful hearing to appeals for relief as help is certainly needed in the River State where children are crying for want of food, and deaths from starvation are common occurrences.

Mrs. A. Steinhilber and family left Wednesday evening to spend Thanksgiving at the A. Steinhilber home at Elk.

Excellent Concert

Mrs. T. J. Sumpter

Second appearance here of the Swedish Lutheran Church combined chorus at the Imperial ball last Sunday evening was greeted by a well filled house. This occasion was not followed with much good weather conditions as occurred last season. Drifted slide roads made it impossible for many to attend, who would have liked to be present.

While the chorus this year does not contain so many voices as previously, rendition of the different numbers was, perhaps, better than last year. Under efficient direction of Mrs. O. S. Wetter, the chorus has developed wonderfully, and is now considered one of the best choruses organizations in this section.

The program Sunday evening was well chosen, containing many old favorites, and to say it was well received by the audience is putting it mildly. The chorus, as well as the director, is to be congratulated on this concert which, in opinion of those present, was a big success.

MRS. HALL IS FREED BY JURYTrip Found Not Guilty of Slaying
Pastor and Mrs. Mills, Choir Singer.

St. Hilaire, Minn., Nov. 29.—As calmly as the last Sunday of July, Mrs. Frances Hester Hall heard a St. Hilaire jury find her not guilty of the slaying of her husband, William Hester, and Mrs. William Hester, choir singer, on July 27, 1934. Five hours and ten minutes after they left the courtroom, the jury returned with the verdict of acquittal. The names of the defendants were called out by one Mrs. Hester being the last. Her face brightened when "not guilty" was the verdict of the jury on the question of the slaying of William Hester, the clerk of the court. There was an added relief when the same announcement followed the name of William Hester, for "not guilty," although older, has long been his sister's favorite.

Four minutes after the verdict was announced the court was adjourned and the three defendants, escorted by their relatives, who had been crowded forward, left the courtroom. The brothers returned to jail pending a motion for bail on a second indictment charging the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall, and Mrs. Hall to her New Brunswick home.

Humming Bird's Beauty

To catch a humming bird put on the brakes at a turn, and police mountains in the air, as it dips its long beak into an opened glass of nectar in a slight never to be forgotten by either adult or child. The bird's own wings beat the air with such rapidity that they are almost invisible, leaving but a slight blur in the air.

Volcanic Disturbance

The fore-coming effects of a volcano were witnessed in 1881 in the straits of Sicily, between the islands of Stromboli and Java. The explosion when the volcano burst out on the island of Krakatoa was heard in Ceylon, 2,000 miles away, and the ocean was set on by the violent current French men of war whom at Madagascar.

Like a Letter from Our School

School closes next Thursday Dec 23 for the Xmas recess. School will commence again Jan. 10.

er last Friday. Friday morning the High School students had a routing and partying.

—G. H. H. S.—
A GOOD GYMNASIUM PAYS
Many small towns are convinced athletic will not prove self supporting. This depends, of course, upon how the job is undertaken. Sport Standards of Pioneer, Iowa, showed how this problem can be worked out. In a town of not over four hundred popular the school treated over $3,000.00 to erect it from activities held in its new gymnasium during one year. People, of course, came from several miles around to see its completion.

The point is that the poorer a town the more it needs a real gym. The only place basketball won't pay is where it is forced into some small illlighted, foul aired dungeon. There, you will hear some "glum board regenerators" announce that people will not just turn out. A good court, well-lighted, adequately ventilated, and with plenty of seats to hold to more than pay for itself quickly.
Nowadays the country side is overrun of driving five or fifteen miles to see a good game. It is interested to the home boys and basketball holds the excitement it craves.

QUADE NOTES

A new subject namely hygiene has been introduced into the eighth grade.

Question—What is the difference between the North and the South? Polit Bright Student—All the difference is in the world.

The eighth grade grammar class gave very interesting and instructive tales during their grammar period on Thursday. The students were allowed to choose their own topics. Idaho Peterson spoke on the harmful use of cigarettes especially by boys. Valerie Olson spoke on a topic which she heard over the radio given by Mr. Kolman.
He brought out some of the Bozons curious beliefs. Herbert Valand spoke on the Indians and Alfie Skolman gave an interesting discussion on Longfellow.

FINAL FIRST

"They had interpreted these signs" is the appeal of Minnesota sanitation physicians, who emphasize that only a small percentage of patients need treatment when the disease is in its early and good curable stage, in suggesting more generous contributions to the Christmas tree sale.

How the subscription program is attempting to meet this need is shown in the picture, which was taken at the St. Hilaire school, where the Christmas tree free clinic held during the past year. More than 4,000 men, women, and children were examined at the Minnesota Red-Cross building, in suggesting more generous contributions to the Christmas tree sale.

"Virtually every case of tuberculosis
if discovered early and treated properly and long enough will recover," says Dr. H. Longstreet Taylor of the Minnesota Public Health Association.
"Free Clinics seem to be the most effective way of discovering the early cases and teaching people the value of periodic medical examinations."

Former School Head Died Last Sunday

Last Sunday occurred the death of Herman F. Anderson at his home in Sanders township, a few miles northwest of this village. Death was caused by diabetes, with which disease he had suffered for several years.

Mr. Anderson was one of the well known school men of this part of the state. Always a student, anxious to learn in order to improve, he was educated by dint of arduous effort, to positions his studies beyond the arena of high school and he was graduated from the University of Minnesota.

His experience in the teaching profession includes two terms as County Superintendent of Schools of Red Lake County from which position he resigned to continue his education. He was superintendent of the Kirkwood school system four years and also of the school in this village for four years, until ill health forced his resignation.

A gentleman in every sense of the word, and a scholar of high rank, Mr. Anderson will be truly missed by this community. He leaves to mourn his passing, a brother, Eric A. Anderson, with whom he lived, and a sister who resides in Canada, to whom are extended the heartfelt sympathy of all their acquaintances.

Mr. Anderson was a member of the Masonic and I. O. O. F. orders.

According to information received here, funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the Lelanda church near the Anderson home, and interment will be at the cemetery there where his parents and a brother are buried.

During his four years as head of the local school, Mr. Anderson made every man personal friends who join in extending condolences to the bereaved relatives.

Loss At Warren

The high school basketball team journeyed over to Warren Tuesday, played the high school aggregation there that evening and lost a hotly contested game, by a score of 20 to 18. Home Talent Play A Great Success

The play given at the Imperial Hall last Friday and Saturday evening proved to be one of the best given here for a long time. A good sized audience greeted the production each evening.

It would be difficult to mention any part in a play as particularly well given as was "All A Munko." From the rise of the curtain to the finale the play ran its interesting course with not a false note for fun, as any farce comedy must, to please. Frequent ripples of delightful humor never failed to arouse hispings.

The made drama intermission was well rendered and heartily applauded. This was furnished by the High School orchestra, assisted by others, under direction of Prof. E. Rasmussen. R. Peterson sang three tenor solos which won hearty approval of the audience.

Those who received above $40 and were not quite able to make the list, number almost as many as all those listed here.

Writes from Washington

The Spectator is in receipt of a welcome letter from Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Anderson, who moved from here a year ago last summer to make their home at Gate, Wash. After living there for over a year, they like the climate and are very satisfied with the country. Summers are fine, but rather dry. Winters are good, in fact, they like the season best of all. The section where they live is sandy and rather hilly. Under favorable weather conditions, they can see Mt. Rainier, Mt. Reine and Mt. Hood from their home. Conditions in general are somewhat different around Gate than that Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and family experienced in the section, but all in all, they like it and are glad to be there. They send greetings to their friends in St. Hilaire and vicinity.

After spending Christmas here with his mother, Melvin Shere left Tuesday for Washington, N. D. where he is employed by the Globe-Gazette, a job printing company.
